

Engines Rush to a False Alarm While Flames Kill 11 in Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Nine children and two adults died early today when fire flashed through a frame-and-stucco private home occupied by three families in St. Albans, Queens.

Another child jumped from a second floor window into a neighbor's arms and was saved. Police said five persons were treated at Mary Immaculate Hospital and released.

John T. O'Hagan, chief of the fire department, said that if it had not been for a false alarm sounded moments earlier

"many if not all of these fatalities may have been avoided."

As it was the first alarm was sounded by a neighbor, Audrey Stewart, who lives in the adjacent building on Mexico Street near 180th Street.

"I heard some crackling in the back of the house next door and looked out the window," she said. "I could see the flames shooting up from the kitchen. She ran to a nearby fire box."

The time was 1:17 a.m. The local fire equipment was out responding to the false alarm at nearby Linden Boulevard and 180th Street.

A hook-and-ladder truck returning from that alarm saw the flames and called for more equipment. By 1:43 a.m. the blaze was declared under control and firemen went inside. Then they discovered the bodies.

Police identified the dead as: Mrs. Bessie Perry, 29, and her four children, Charlene, 2, Dennis, 4, Reginald, 6, and Janice, 8; Bobbie Janie Gibson, 10 months; and her sisters, Sheila, 4, and Bertha, 7; Darlene Black, 2, and her sister, Sheila, 9, and Charles Holst, 24.

The toll was the highest in the city since a blaze last Jan. 10 took the lives of nine children and four adults in a Brooklyn tenement.

Police picked up a 19-year-old medical corpsman attached to the St. Albans Naval Hospital for questioning in connection with the false alarm.

As firemen removed the bodies from the badly burned building, many residents of the area stood silently and watched.

Four of the children were found in the attic. The other seven victims were found on the second floor.

Charles Short, 21, a neighbor, was watching television when he heard the flames, he said.

Short and a friend ran to the burning house and kicked in the front door but were pushed back by the smoke and heat.

Short helped Norris Thompson, 32, down from the second floor. "The heat was so bad I couldn't see a thing," he said. "I was afraid of being burned myself."

One fireman carried out the body of 10-month-old Bobbie Jeanie Gibson and placed it in a police emergency truck, then walked away and began to sob.

"If it hadn't been for the false alarm, they wouldn't be dead," he told other firemen who tried to console him.

Sickler Surrenders

By WALTER S. CLARK

Although branded as dangerous by authorities, 27-year-old Gary Sickler, a paroled rapist and accused slayer of a 20-year-old Wappingers Falls woman, who escaped from custody in front of the Dutchess County courthouse, was captured without resistance Wednesday night in a wooded area a few miles south of Poughkeepsie.

The unshaven, hungry and tired ex-convict was bitten on most of his body by insects that he encountered as he sneaked through heavy underbrush during his 35 hours of freedom in an attempt to make a getaway from the area that was surrounded by police.

Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan had received a tip from an employee of the Pennsylvania-Central Railroad earlier in the day that he had seen a man answering Sickler's description acting suspiciously in underbrush alongside the railroad tracks near the Hudson River just outside the Town of Wappingers hamlet of Chelsea.

Surrounded Waterfront
Deputy sheriffs and other police swarmed into the area and under the direction of Quinlan surrounded a large section of waterfront along the river.

The heavily armed searchers were aided by a helicopter pilot and bloodhounds as they groped their way through brush looking for the prisoner, who slipped out of handcuffs after 11 a.m. Tuesday as he and other inmates of the Dutchess County jail were being led to a van in front of the courthouse in Poughkeepsie.

Using powerful lights and taking every precaution against possible harm, the searchers got instructions from Quinlan after 10 p.m. to close in and flush out Sickler if he was in the wooded area. At 10:15 a.m. the posse moved in and Deputy Sheriff Donald Cassavant saw an object crouching on the ground. The object was Sickler who was collared without incident.

Sickler was wearing dark slacks and shoes. When he escaped from Deputy Sheriff George Metzger he wore a white shirt, but during his flight through the underbrush he discarded the shirt apparently to avoid detection.

The fugitive was immediately handcuffed and whisked away in custody of armed guards and returned to the county jail on North Hamilton Street, from which he had escaped last May 12 after lifting a loose steel plate on top of his cell and lowering himself to the ground by means of bed sheets that he fashioned into a rope.

Solitary Confinement
The accused slayer of Miss Kathleen Taylor of Wappingers Falls was placed in solitary confinement in the jail after being examined by a physician and treated for the insect bites and scratches.

Quinlan said Sickler could give no reason why he bolted from the deputy sheriffs Tuesday morning, nor could he say where he intended to go. At the time of his capture he was heading toward the City of Beacon where he was accused of raping a 9-year-old girl several years ago. He was convicted of that crime and served eight years of a sentence in Green Haven Prison before he was paroled more than a year ago.

The escape of Sickler earlier this week brought criticism from some sources. Dutchess County Democratic Chairman George Whalen yesterday called for creation of a special fact-finding committee by the Board of Supervisors to prove the circumstances surrounding Sickler's escape.

Whalen said he had reports of incidents at the jail such as "burnings," "brandings" and "assaults" by prisoners on other inmates. He did not elaborate.

Commenting on criticism of his department, Quinlan said, "I know people will be angry at my department. I don't blame them for being disturbed. All I can say is that I had no control over the situation at the time. I didn't supervise the handcuffing of Sickler to make sure he was secure."

Quinlan noted that Metzger, a veteran retired patrolman, said that he apparently had not tightened Sickler's handcuffs sufficiently before taking him from the courthouse after a pretrial hearing.

Czechs Say They'll Fight Russian Force

By JAMES O. JACKSON

PRAGUE (UPI)—Czech Communist leaders today rejected Soviet demands they drop their drive for more democracy. They told the Kremlin that Czechs would battle a return to Stalinism.

This nation's new Communist reform leadership said in an open letter to Moscow that bringing back the old system would "imperil the party's leading role and would create a situation in which a power conflict would really arise."

The Czech defiance of Moscow came amid diplomatic reports from London and the Soviet capital that the Kremlin leaders might use force on Czechoslovakia.

Party sources here said President Tito of Yugoslavia has volunteered to fly to Prague to aid the Czech Communists in their struggle with Moscow. They said the Yugoslav Communist leader would fly here Friday or Saturday if his offer is accepted.

The Czech Communist reformers led by Alexander Dubcek gave no indication of backing down in one of the East bloc's greatest crisis since Russian troops smashed the Hungarian uprising in 1956.

In their letter to Moscow, published in special newspaper editions that sold out in 15 minutes to Prague crowds, Dubcek's regime said his countrymen would not stand for halting their push toward "democratizing" the country.

"Any indication of a return to these (Stalinist) methods would evoke the resistance of the overwhelming majority of party members, the resistance of the working class, the workers, cooperative farmers and the intelligentsia," the Czech message said.

At the same time, the Czechs pledged themselves loyal to Communism and to the Soviet-led bloc. But they denied the charges—contained in a Soviet-East German-Bulgarian-Hungarian-Polish joint letter Wednesday—that their program was the product of imperialism and counter-revolutionaries and threatened the security of the East bloc.

The Czechs put the blame for interbloc war to some extent on the Russians. They cited the ominous lingering in this country of Soviet forces that came for bloc maneuvers last month and still have not left—18 days after the war games ended.

Alexander Dubcek, the Czech Communist leader under fire from the Russians for his program for more democracy in this country, is engaged in a long distance duel with Soviet party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, the sources said.

The sources said Brezhnev demanded Dubcek go to the Soviet Union for a face to face meeting. Dubcek refused and suggested Brezhnev come to the Czechoslovak city of Kosice for the meeting, the sources said.

According to the sources, Brezhnev rejected Kosice and proposed Dubcek meet him either in the Soviet cities of Kiev or in Lvov.

the Kremlin to the Czech's latest message.

The party said Dubcek was having trouble at home. They said the Czech Communist party presidium—its ruling body—is closely divided on the issue of whether this former satellite should have a showdown with its former master.

They said an automobile accident involving a presidium member and an American citizen could well decide the issue in favor of the Stalinists who oppose Dubcek.

Presidium member Josef Spacek suffered head injuries in a head-on collision Wednesday, the newspaper Svobodne Slovo said.

The newspaper said the American, not identified, also suffered injuries. The sources said Spacek was in a hospital and would be unable to reach Prague and the critical presidium sessions here for at least three days.

That, the sources said, could well make the difference in whether Dubcek's liberals win or lose the power struggle.

The division among the Czech Communists flared anew following a letter from the Soviets and their "hard line" East Bloc allies, East Germany, Poland, Hungary and Bulgaria. The letter accused "imperialism" of aiding the reform movement for democracy in Czechoslovakia.

"We shall never agree to imperialism making peacefully or non-peacefully, from the inside or outside, a breach in the socialist system and changing the balance of forces in Europe in its favor," the letter said, according to the Soviet news agency Tass.

Fortas Details Puerto Rican Role

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas testified today he was proud to have had a part in what he called the "practically complete elimination" of a violent revolutionary movement in Puerto Rico.

His testimony about this was in response to questions by Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., about his representation of Puerto Rico after he had served as undersecretary of the interior.

Fortas testified that before he went on the bench he and other members of his law firm were initially retained as counsel by the Puerto Rican government at what he called a "nominal retainer of $12,000 a year."

He testified that this was not immediately following his service as undersecretary of the interior but took place after a period of time.

He did not give the exact date.

Puerto Rico was a U.S. territory while Fortas was an Interior Department official but was granted commonwealth status in 1952.

The propriety of contacts between presidents and Supreme Court members has emerged as a key question in the Fortas hearings and Fortas himself said "It could be a problem."

"I do not know what the right answer to it is," he told the committee Wednesday.

But, he added, "historically, there is a great deal of precedent."

Doubts on the matter also were raised by one of Fortas' staunchest backers on the committee, as well as by avowed opponents who hammered away at it.

Lengthy questioning of Fortas, with several more hours in store at today's session, has delayed the appearance of Homer Thornberry.

Thornberry, now on the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, was named by President Johnson to fill the vacancy that would be created by Fortas' elevation from associate justice to chief justice.

Responded to Call

Fortas, friend and adviser of President Johnson for a quarter of a century, acknowledged that since becoming a justice in 1965 he has responded to White House calls for help on critical problems.

He also admitted under questioning that while on the bench he had called a businessman-friend to protest a speech placing Vietnam war costs far in excess of administration estimates. He declined to say if he made the call at Johnson's urging.

"I think it is my duty to observe certain limits, and one of those limits is any conversation, either affirmative or denial, that I may have had with the President of the United States," Fortas said.

Sen. Phillip A. Hart, D-Mich., leader of the committee's liberal bloc and supporter of the appointments, said "when you get this adviser to the President business in sort of historic perspective, I think most of us would agree that Justice Fortas is restrained."

"But I confess I think all of us, as citizens, had the notion that contact between Presidents and justices of the court would be social only," Hart added.

Fortas, expressing his own concern, said "I think it has to be carefully looked at."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., opposed to Senate confirmation of Fortas, said "association between Supreme Court justices and presidents, giving advice even when solicited, gives me much pause."

Ervin said this is because in recent years "a large part of the cases which reach the Supreme Court are cases in effect which involve the policies of the administration."

To Analyze

Another committee member, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, later told reporters that Fortas' testimony was that he had attended White House conferences just to analyze the pros and cons of problems and "not to intrude his opinion."

"Do you believe that?" Dirksen was asked.

"Mr. Fortas is a man of honor," replied Dirksen, who is supporting Johnson's nomination in the face of strong opposition among GOP colleagues led by Michigan's Robert P. Griffin. Dirksen said, as Fortas had testified, that other presidents have made much greater use of Supreme Court justices. He recoiled off several, beginning with George Washington.

Proposal for New Plant Hits Snag in Rosendale

By LYNN MULVANEY

A plan to locate a ladies garment manufacturing plant in a residentially-designated area of Tillson ran into a snag Tuesday night.

Douglas Saar, member of the Rosendale Planning Board, voiced strong objections, terming the proposal "unethical."

The plan was brought to light by town councilman and real estate agent Harold Snyder at a joint meeting of the planning and zoning boards. He said he planned to negotiate the sale of the property on Bedford Street.

Snyder apparently had the sanction of the Planning Board Chairman Kenneth Clark who stated he wished to purchase the property himself, erect the factory building and lease it to Dominick Spada Jr., owner of the Rosendale Dress Company, Main Street, Rosendale.

It was reported that Clark left the meeting room while the proposal was revealed to the boards as an established fact, rather than a request for a change in land-use designation. The six-lot property is located near Springtown Road.

Saar expressed surprise that the town supervisor and other members of the town council were aware of the Snyder-Clark plan.

He also pointed out that the town's professional planning firm of Brown and Anthony has already mapped the town into agricultural, residential business and industrial areas and that the property in question is designated as residential-agricultural. He said other sites were available for industry.

Lively discussion and argument, which at times was described as "hot" ended with Clark reportedly saying he would not pursue the matter further, according to Saar.

Those favoring the locating of a factory in the town stated that the present facility operated by Spada on Rosendale's Main Street, has outgrown its requirements.

Proponents favored keeping Spada's company in the community in order that the about 50 women employed in the business would be able to retain their jobs.

Supervisor De Felice, reached by phone this morning told the Freeman he didn't know very much about the plan because he did not attend all of the Tuesday night meeting.

Ray Ready for Extradition

By PETER J. SHAW
LONDON (UPI)—Britain today dropped its charges against James Earl Ray, removing the last barriers to his extradition to stand trial for the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. His Alabama attorney accused the United States of turning the case into a Yankee Stadium-P. T. Barnum affair.

Ray was charged in Britain with illegal possession of a loaded weapon and possession of a fraudulent passport when he was arrested June 8 at London airport. London's Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Frank Milton took just 60 seconds today to dismiss those charges. Ray's attorney, Arthur J. Hanes, called a news conference two hours later to make his P. T. Barnum charges.

Asked when he expected Ray to be shipped back to the United States he said, "Your guess is as good as mine." But it was considered likely Ray would leave in a day or two.

"The government people are being very polite—they just don't give you the time of day—they don't tell you anything," the dapper former mayor of Birmingham said.

His face hardened. "But if they want to play hard ball we'll play hard ball. . . if they want to play soft ball we'll play soft ball."

Hanes said he still failed to understand the U.S. Justice Department's refusal of his request to accompany Ray on the flight home.

The U.S. government has thus far refused Hanes permission either to travel with his client or to speak to him once Ray is handed over to U.S. authorities.

A newsman asked Hanes why he was so anxious not to leave Ray alone for six or seven hours on the plane with U.S. agents.

"I don't want this man grilled, cross-examined, and interrogated in the plane when I'm not there," he said.

Nixon, Rockefeller Both Talk Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says he would run well in the cities and "considerably stronger" than rival Nelson A. Rockefeller on the fringes of the South as the Republicans' presidential candidate.

New York Gov. Rockefeller, at a separate news conference Wednesday, claimed Nixon's delegate lead is suffering "slow leakage" and said he expects to get the GOP nomination on the fourth or fifth convention ballot.

Nixon's assessment of his vote-drawing strength came at a news conference in Baltimore, Md. He had been asked about Rockefeller's claim to greater strength in the cities and the populous Northeast.

"I expect to do well in the cities," Nixon replied, "and naturally I will run considerably stronger on the perimeter of the South."

"So the question," he said, "is which game plan do you want to buy."

Expects Close Race
Nixon then said he expects a very close race against the Democratic candidate in November but that the Republican nominee, "whoever he is," can win the election.

"It will be a different fallout of votes if Gov. Rockefeller is the nominee than if I am," he said.

Rockefeller said in Chicago that Nixon had lost 42 delegate votes in the past 10 days—but would not say where—and that some had gone to him and some to California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

He maintained that Nixon would fall far short of the 667 delegate votes needed for the nomination, not only on the first ballot but the second as well.

Rockefeller has said before that he expects delegates to favor Nixon on the first ballot, but not by a winning margin, then shift to Reagan and himself and finally nominate him on a late ballot.

On the Democratic side, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy took his campaign for the presidential nomination into the South and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey canceled a Midwest swing on what his camp said were doctor's orders.

It was learned a third of McCarthy's youthful campaign workers—some 75—are about to get the ax and some of them feel one reason is to erase the image of a McCarthy "children's crusade."

One source said top advisers made the decision to "furlough" the campaigners to trim a campaign deficit and McCarthy acquiesced but "just wanted to be left out of this sort of thing."

Humphrey's aides said Dr. Edgar Berman ordered him to cancel the Midwest trip that was to begin today and put off campaigning until next week when appearances in New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco are planned.

Recovering From Flu
Humphrey is recovering from what is described as a case of flu. It was understood he had passed a battery of tests to determine the illness was nothing worse.

In other political developments: Third party candidate George Wallace's aides announced he will begin a swing today into seven states including Missouri, Iowa, Rhode Island, Florida, Montana, California and New Mexico.

Aid to Students

Grants for UCCC

Ulster County Community College has received $68,697 from the Federal Government for its student financial aids program for the next six months, George B. Erbstein, president, said today.

Included was a grant of $47,637 for the college's work-study program and a grant of $21,060 for Educational Opportunity Grants. Of the latter grant, $5,100 will go for renewal awards for students who received EOG grants previously, and $15,960 will go for initial EOG grants.

The grant for the work-study program covers the period July 1 to Dec. 31, 1968, and EOG from July 1, 1968 to June 30, 1969.

The basic objective of the Educational Opportunity Grants is to enable students with the ability but without the financial means to attend college. The amounts of the grants vary from $200 to $800 per year and are automatically renewed for the second year of study at UCCC.

During the last academic year, 26 UCCC students received EOG grants, and it is estimated that 45 students will receive these grants for the academic year beginning in September.

UCCC participates in this program under Title IV, Part A of the Federal Higher Education Act of 1965.

To qualify for these grants an individual must be a full-time student, must show evidence of academic or creative promise, have the capability of maintaining good standing in his or her course of study, have an exceptional financial need, or be unable financially to attend.

Esopus Purchases Some Amber Lenses

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

The purchase of a half dozen amber lenses for the flashing emergency lights on constable's cars solved the entire problem at Wednesday night's Esopus Town Board meeting held at Port Ewen.

Supervisor George H. Freer said the township would stay within the limits of the law and after a thorough discussion and study by the attorney for the town Charles Gaffney, it was decided that the amber lights would be used.

Also discussed was the use of sirens on the privately-owned constable's cars. The Town Board ruled that the constables use their sirens only in extreme emergencies.

Supervisor Freer said some of these rulings are antiquated and should be changed. A flashing light on a constable's car proceeding to an emergency call provides protection for both the public and the constable.

Since the July 10 Town Board meeting when the matter was revealed in a letter from William S. LeFever, fire commissioner of Esopus Fire Department, the town has been seeking rulings governing the situation.

Hijacker's Hand Grenade! Bottle of After Shave Lotion

By CHARLES E. TAYLOR

MIAMI (UPI) — The big American jetliner taxied to a stop at the Havana Airport and Cuban soldiers quickly rushed aboard. A grin spread across the face of a dark-skinned youth clapping a package.

With a flourish, he unwrapped the package and held up its contents for the other 63 passengers and crew members to see. The "hand grenade" which the youth had used to hijack the Los Angeles-to-Miami flight was a bottle of after shave lotion.

Now smiling broadly, the youth in a polo-shirt and tight pants stuck a .38 caliber pistol into his pocket and walked off the plane in a show of comradeship with the soldiers. This was completed Wednesday the 13th hijacking this year of a plane to Cuba. Even the Cubans appeared to be wearying of the incidents.

"They told me they don't want the people of America sending just anybody down here," said the pilot of the National Airlines plane, Capt. Sidney L. Oliver. "They said they want to know who these people are before they come here."

The passengers, who returned aboard a Cuban refugee flight several hours after the jetliner came back with only its crew, indicated they were not given the red-carpet treatment usually accorded hijacked flights.

One passenger recovering from a spinal surgery collapsed aboard the plane and was taken off at Havana in a stretcher. John Morgan, 42, of San Francisco, returned with the other passengers to Miami, walking with the aid of a cane. He said "My nerves just went to pieces for a minute."

Oliver said on his return that he had no answer to the problem of air piracy. "I don't think there's anything that can be done, except searching everybody getting on a plane, and that's impossible," said Oliver, a veteran of 23 years with the airline.

The hijacker was a young Cuban who told Spanish-speaking stewardess Kathleen Dickinson he was 23, had a family in Cuba, he was anxious to see again, and that "Fidel Castro ordered me back to Havana dead or alive." He didn't explain that.

Ten minutes after the takeoff from Houston, Oliver said, the man showed Miss Dickinson the gun and waved the handkerchief-wrapped "hand grenade" in his left hand.

Using Miss Dickinson as an interpreter, the hijacker ordered the plane to Havana and then allowed a refueling stop at New Orleans. He made it clear he wouldn't be tricked. "The hand grenade was in his left hand and a pistol in his right hand, and he was waving them both around," Oliver said. "He gave us 30 minutes to get the plane fueled. We were on the ground 28 minutes."

Selecting Judges

Nearly two-thirds of those consulted in a recent Gallup poll favored selection of future members of the Supreme Court by the President from a list of candidates drawn by the American Bar Association. That proceeding would broaden the list of nominees considerably. This poll was taken before President Johnson nominated Justice Fortas to be Chief Justice and Federal Appellate Judge Homer Thornberry to succeed him.

Interesting, if not startling, figures would be gleaned from a similar poll on the method of selecting judgeships for New York State. The Legislature at its recent session created 125 new judgeships. These munificent political plums will be dished out to the party warhorse with no consideration given to qualifications or merit.

The Legislature could have required a screening committee to pass on qualifications of prospective judges in order to insure a competent judiciary of the highest caliber.

We need additional judges, but only candidates should be presented who are eminently qualified to represent the people. Some sort of screening process should be put in effect on either county or statewide basis to safeguard the choice of the judiciary and the execution of justice.

War Leads to Schooling

Education is by all odds the biggest undertaking in American life. By this fall, 61 million Americans, nearly one-third the population, will either be studying or teaching in the nation's schools and colleges. Education is becoming the most pervasive, if not the most powerful, influence in the country.

It seems fitting, therefore that a broad road is being built for veterans of the war in Vietnam to higher education at home. Veterans Administration Director William Driver, estimates that 800,000 men who served in the armed forces during the war in Vietnam will be going back to school this fall under the GI bill of rights.

Servicemen are turning to civilian life at the rate of 70,000 a month under the prevalent system of rotating after a year's service in the war zone. Half of the returnees are enrolling for educational training, the same ratio as veterans of the Korean war, but more than those of World War II, when only 30 per cent opted for more education.

To our way of thinking, the chance to attend college after serving in Vietnam is perhaps the biggest bonus offered the veterans. They come back with greater determination to make a career for themselves and they get the opportunity to do so.

Those veterans who do not choose schooling are helped to train for other pursuits or to find jobs. They have earned special treatment and they get it, including counseling at military bases in the actual war zones, besides counseling at hospitals and one-stop assistance centers in 21 major cities across the country.

Self-Help for Ghetto

Legislation will be sponsored by Reps. Charles E. Goodell of New York, Robert A. Taft Jr., of Ohio, Thomas B. Curtis of Missouri and William B. Wood-nall of New Jersey as a move away from government paternalism toward private local initiative. To the CORE militants, the proposal means a form of black power they desire.

Community development corporations would be chartered by people in urban and rural areas of low income and high unemployment. The poor could either buy shares or earn "sweet equity" stock. Community development banks would provide the capital which would come from operations, churches and the sale of debentures guaranteed by a U.S. Development Bank. There would also be special tax breaks and credits to help encourage private enterprise assistance.

Goodell estimated the Federal cost would be about $1 billion a year for fiscal years 1969 and 1970 but that the investment would be recovered over the years through increased taxes from the new economic development. The plan parallels the "black capitalism" program outlined by Presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon. It is a businesslike approach to self-help in the ghetto at a minimum of cost to the taxpayer.

While their employees are getting longer and longer vacations, executives often find their own vacations getting shorter or non-existent. The reason is that back-up replacements may be available for employees, but not for executives. They must be satisfied with long weekends.

Fortas' Role as Adviser To LBJ Will Be Debated

WASHINGTON — A grave constitutional question has been raised before the Senate Judiciary Committee involving the propriety of a Supreme Court Justice serving as an unofficial adviser to the President. Up to now it has always been assumed that the doctrine of "Separation of Powers" meant that the executive and judicial branches of the government were to be kept independent of each other.

Associate Justice Abe Fortas, who has been nominated by President Johnson to be Chief Justice, acknowledged to the committee that he has participated in White House policy meetings while serving as a member of the Supreme Court. There have been a few occasions in the past where a justice of the Supreme Court has been useful in international negotiations, but there is no known precedent in which a Justice has been asked to advise the President on matters of domestic policy.

In testifying before the Senate Committee, Justice Fortas said: "It is well known that the President and I have been associated, mostly as lawyer and client, for many years. The President has confidence in my ability to analyze the situation and state the pros and cons. . . . The President of the United States, since I have been a justice, has done me the honor of indicating in a few instances that I could be of help and I have been asked to come to the White House to participate at times."

Justice Fortas admitted that he took part in the meetings held by the President during last summer's rioting in Detroit. Mr. Fortas said he did not write the President's statement ordering federal troops to the Michigan city but that he did see it in advance.

When Senator James Eastland, Democrat of Mississippi, specifically asked Justice Fortas whether he had approved the President's message beforehand, Mr. Fortas said that he wasn't asked for any approval. But the impression was given that he acquiesced in the contents of the message. He referred to the incident as occurring at a "time of national crisis."

It will be recalled, however, that Governor George Romney of Michigan tangled with the White House when the riots broke out. He tried to get federal troops sent promptly, but the President delayed his reply for several hours. There is still a controversy as to how much damage was done in Detroit during the period between the time Governor Romney telephoned the White House and the President's response later stipulating that the governor must put his request in writing.

Senator Sam J. Ervin Jr., Democrat of North Carolina, asked Justice Fortas if he might have to disqualify himself from consideration of certain legal cases which could develop in the future as a consequence of the President's decision to send troops to Detroit. Mr. Fortas declared it was "difficult" for him to imagine such a thing occurring, but that if the problem arose he would consider whether he should disqualify himself from acting in such a case.

Unquestionably there will be debate in the Senate as to the role that Justice Fortas has played as an informal or unofficial adviser to the President while sitting on the bench.

Disputes have occurred when justices have made public speeches commenting on governmental problems. Many of the justices have felt that they have a right to voice their views outside the court on public questions. Some justices have been intimate friends of presidents. The late Chief Justice Fred Vinson was a close friend of President Truman, and joined him on vacation trips.

A number of justices over the years have visited with and talked with presidents in an informal manner, but there has rarely been any revelation that their advice has been sought on questions of domestic policy.

Certainly the discussion in the Senate Judiciary Committee and the debate that will ensue in the Senate, the proper role of a Supreme Court Justice in his relations with a president of the United States is likely to be fully explored. Present and future justices of the Supreme Court may be warned that they cannot serve on the bench and act as personal advisers to a chief executive without running into difficulties with Congress over the principle of the "Separation of Powers" embodied in the Constitution.

I could have slapped the friendly face. It would have proved nothing, except that he had me boxed. "I mean," he said in that superior high school manner, "assuming that I can get away with it."

"How about church?" I said. "Doesn't your church teach you that good is preferable to evil? That evil will be punished?" The smile faded. He seemed sorry for me. "Mr. Bishop," he said, "I don't believe in Santa anymore. My people don't go to church. They belong, but they don't go."

He told me that, though he wasn't old enough to drive, he saw nothing wrong with stealing a car, provided a fellow "used his head." He would seduce any date, if she would listen to his eloquence. ## LBJ Embarks on World Peace Drive; Makes Overture to Castro

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, instead of sitting out his last six months in office, has embarked on one of the most comprehensive programs to patch up world problems ever undertaken by a President of the United States.

The program includes not only improving relations with Russia and pouring oil on some of the trouble spots in Latin America, both already known, but overtures in two hitherto unpublishable and very difficult areas. They are:

1. Resumption of diplomatic relations with Cuba.

2. Establishing peace between Israel and the Arab states.

Diplomatic feelers have already gone to Fidel Castro through third parties that the United States would be willing to resume normal relations provided Castro would cut military ties with Russia and stop trying to overthrow neighboring Latin governments.

The first condition is easy, since the Russians have already withdrawn all troops and have made it clear to the United States that they would like to get rid of their obligations to Cuba, now costing about $1 million a day.

The second condition is considered more important inasmuch as Castro has been following the Chinese brand of communism which calls for militant subversion of capitalist governments.

Fidel and USA. However, Fidel Castro has already made it clear that he would like to resume relations with the United States. Speaking in Moscow in May, 1965, his last visit, he stated publicly that Cuba and the United States had enjoyed relations for so long a time and were so close geographically that they would have to go back to their old relationship.

President DORTICOS of Cuba went further. He stated in Havana, about the same time, that Cuba would be willing to repay Americans for the property seized by the Castro regime if and when relations were resumed.

Castro has replied to President Johnson's first overture that he is interested. The discussions haven't gone beyond this point.

The question of settling the Near East crisis has been discussed by President Johnson and Premier Kosygin in their recent exchange of correspondence, so far unpublished.

President Johnson has felt that if there was to be peace between Israel and the Arab states it would have to come as a result of pressure from the two countries which have been shipping them arms — the USA and the USSR.

Premier Kosygin appears to take a similar view. In his letters to Johnson he has expressed interest in getting Israel to sign the non-proliferation pact. She abstained. Kosygin pointed out to Johnson that, in contrast, Egypt had signed. Kosygin wants nuclear weapons banned from the entire Middle East. So does the United States, and State Department officials are suspicious of the Israeli nuclear plant built in the Negev desert south of Beersheba which no Westerner has ever been permitted to enter.

Kosygin has offered to control the flow of arms to Egypt, Syria, and other Arab states, and also has tried to persuade Nasser to recognize Israel. It's reported that he has exacted a promise from Nasser to permit Israeli shipping to pass through the Suez Canal.

Reports from Moscow last week indicated that coolness had developed between Nasser and the Kremlin during Nasser's visit. Apparently the Russians pushed Nasser further than he wanted to go.

Kosygin now has asked President Johnson to pressure Israel into relinquishing the territory it seized from Egypt and Syria.

He has also asked ex-Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, now head of the World Bank, to call on Nasser while in Cairo; while McGeorge Bundy, former White House adviser, now head of the Ford Foundation, has also called on Nasser to sound him out about U.S. —

Egyptian relations. These have not been resumed since the June 1967 war. Both men reported Nasser in a more friendly mood.

Johnson is studying this problem. His advisers suggest that Israel would probably be glad to get out of the Suez Canal area, the Gaza strip and the west bank of Jordan, since they contain so many Arabs that in time they could make Israel a Moslem rather than a Jewish state.

Key City of Jerusalem.

However, the White House contemplates great difficulty regarding the ancient city of Jerusalem, and the strategic uplands of Syria. The latter are considered essential by the Israeli military to prevent Syrian raids on the Sea of Galilee.

And the ancient city of Jerusalem has great religious meaning for the Jewish world. Israeli leaders state frankly they will never give it back. But it also has great significance to Moslems and Christians.

Jerusalem, therefore, will be one of the greatest stumbling blocks in the path of peace.

However, the essential fact is that the two great powers with the greatest influence for peace — the USA and USSR — have started talking to each other regarding peace.

Ex - Premier Ben - Gurion, asked by this column, in 1966, when there would be peace between Israel and the Arab states, replied: "When the United States and Russia decide there shall be peace."

President Johnson has also gone further in Latin America than most people realize by probing, very delicately, the chief trouble spot in Latin America — rivalry among Bolivia, Chile, and Peru. He also helped improve relations between Honduras and Salvador after the troops of the two countries engaged in border clashes.

"There is so much to be done and so little time to do it," the President told his Cabinet after returning from Central America. However, he plans to devote the next six months to improving the peace of the world.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Soviet's Anti-Israel Pivot

President Johnson, attempting to show that the administration has achieved better relations with the Kremlin, prefers to keep the mounting Middle East crisis largely under wraps. But the question is: Will the Soviet let Mr. Johnson keep the lid on this until after the November elections?

The Joint Chiefs of Staff know that the Soviet makes its moves like the player in a chess game, seeing the moves ahead all the while. The Kremlin takes one pivotal position to dominate the next pivotal position.

Moreover, in manipulating the pressures against the free world, the Kremlin rule is: "Never let the steam out of one sequence without getting another one going."

Well established in Cuba, the Soviet shifted its aggressions from Cuba to far-distant Vietnam. And now the Kremlin has gone greatly beyond anything we are told in lining up its chess board in the Middle East.

President Johnson and former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara contrived until late 1966 to keep from general knowledge the fact that the Vietnam war costs had grown to about $20 billion a year. One reason, privately admitted by administration officials, was that they knew Congress would cut drastically Great Society outpourings if the full truth about the war cost were revealed.

Accordingly, playing this political game to the hilt, Mr. McNamara did not budget a single nickel for the Vietnam War until fiscal 1968!

His proclaimed cost-pairing was achieved chiefly in two ways: (1) by stretching out procurement programs and (2) by stripping equipment and inventories from our combat forces elsewhere to supply the needs in Vietnam, all of which the Kremlin well knows.

The result directly and enormously complicates the Mideast crisis. This column reported some unrevealed facts from the U.S. 6th Fleet headquarters in Naples. That great fleet has been cannibalized. There are dangerous shortages throughout the fleet while the Soviet builds up its chess-like counterforce.

Senior officers of our 6th Fleet privately confirmed to me that these shortages are in personnel, modern arms and equipment, aircraft, spare parts, reserve stock and an absolutely frightening list of bottleneck items.

They are profoundly concerned about the state of the U.S. 7th Army in Germany where we have 250,000 troops, the capabilities of their own Mediterranean fleet, the support possible by the cannibalized Atlantic Fleet and the present status of strategic reserves.

Naples - based Admiral C.D. Griffin, the Commander of Allied Forces for Southern Europe, was always convinced that the Soviet Mediterranean naval build-up that began after the Israel-Arab War would expand and expand and be permanent.

World," of course, and the lake's southern rim is a land-bridge that makes the Mideast the true crossroads of the world. Through there passes all the air and sea routes between Europe and India, East Africa, the oil-rich Arabian peninsula, Southeast Asia, the Far East, New Zealand and Australia.

Except for Turkey, Israel, Tunisia and Morocco, the entire southern rim of the Mediterranean is hostile to the United States. Egyptian, Syrian and Algerian harbors are available to the expanding Soviet Mediterranean fleet.

To the southeast, if the Soviet can also attract on an anti-Israel basis the regimes in Jordan, Yemen and Saudi Arabia, Moscow can acquire air and naval lodgements that have been used by Britain and the United States that dominate the entire Indian Ocean area.

Africa flanks this region. And, below it, the Soviet lodgement on the island of Zanzibar opens all of East Africa to Soviet support by sea. Whatever type of defense the Africans employ (if any) it has been made clear to President Johnson that the nations of Africa, like those in the Middle East, cannot escape the Soviet strategic pressures that now flare behind the scenes.

This is a tremendous Soviet strategic accomplishment. For step by step, the Soviet has overextended American power around the globe until in this Middle East problem the United States finds itself like Superman trapped in a milk bottle.

Dissension in North Vietnam

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There are small but persistent signs of increasing dissension in North Vietnam, in Ho Chi Minh's southern invasion forces and in the Viet Cong.

In North Vietnam, "public security letter boxes" have been set up in Haiphong for those wishing to report sabotage, counterrevolutionary propaganda or defeatist or antigovernment talk to the public security men.

Hanoi is pushing a campaign of educating children in the concepts of "counter-revolutionary resistance and the protection of security for the fatherland."

Party officials publicly praise the success of children in uncovering "reactionaries and agents."

There has been an increase in officer defection among Ho's North Vietnamese invasion armies in the south.

Some village party secretaries in Viet Cong-ruled areas complain that many of the young men they recruit desert back to their hamlets.

Enough time has now passed since the Tet offensives for analysts to get a clearer picture of who among the enemy died in these suicide raids and in the series of clashes which followed.

It is now clear that the heavy sacrifices were mainly among the Viet Cong. That is, for the most part, the suicide raids cut into the lower leadership of the VC. Except at some important strategic objectives, as Hue, the North Vietnamese southern invasion army losses were comparatively light.

Men who know Ho's methods say this was no accident. In visits to Thailand and Laos some time after the Tet raids, this reporter talked at length with experienced Thai and Lao guerrilla officers, some of whom had been with Ho in the war against the French, and therefore know his methods well. These men insisted that one purpose of the Tet raids was to wipe out key men in the Viet Cong junior leadership who might stand out against the dominance of the North Vietnamese generals. This "thinning out" of the Viet Cong activist leadership, in theory, would put Ho and the other Hanoi leaders in stronger control of the southern underground.

But there are signs that this North - South cleavage is growing, not declining, despite the deaths at Tet.

THE LAST AMERICAN

Black troops help crush the flower of the Confederacy.

"Slaves... shall be then, thenceforward and forever free..."

by Don Oakley and John Lane

12 Blue, Gray—and Black

My paramount object in this struggle is to save the Union, and is not whether to save or destroy slavery. If I could save the Union without freeing any slave, I would do it; if I could save the Union by freeing some and leaving others alone, I would also do that.

—Abraham Lincoln

Lest Americans forget, if, indeed, the history books ever told them:

Before the guns fell silent in America's bloodiest war, some 200,000 Negro soldiers and sailors fought in the Union cause—100,000 from the North and border states, another 100,000 from the South. One in every four seamen in the Union Navy was a Negro. Others served as scouts and spies and laborers.

Nearly 40,000 blue-clad blacks died in some 450 battles in which they participated; 21 Negroes won the Medal of Honor, 12 in one battle alone.

Unlike their white comrades, Negro soldiers had to contend not only with death but with lower pay (until near the end of the war) and with no chance for officership. Neither, until near the end, did the South accord them the rights of prisoners of war.

Thousands were enslaved or re-enslaved or executed as rebels or simply murdered. In the worst such incident, the capture of Fort Pillow, Tenn., in April 1864, Confederate troops cut down the Negro garrison to the last man.

As in the Revolutionary War, the Negro had to fight for the right to fight. For more than a year after Fort Sumter, Abraham Lincoln, fearful of losing the slave-holding border states to the Confederacy, resisted appeals that Negroes be allowed to enlist. Later, he was to say that without them, the cause would have been lost.

Abolitionists also brought tremendous pressure on Lincoln to hit the South where it hurt most, by freeing the slaves. When it became clear that the war was not to end except with complete victory over the South, Lincoln moved. He signed the Emancipation Proclamation on Jan. 1, 1863.

Although it freed no slaves in the loyal states, so many of those were freeing themselves that this question was academic. And although only advancing armies could give the proclamation effect in the South, this too was only a matter of time.

Eventually, the 13th Amendment remedied the defect in the Constitution which had once moved abolitionist Wendell Phillips to curse the document and William Lloyd Garrison to burn it in public. After more than 300 years, Negro slavery in America was ended.

But had Negro freedom begun?

Hurley, N. Y.
The Sales Tax

A letter to the Kingston Uptown Businessmen's Association.

I'm not sure where or when a member of the Kingston Uptown Businessmen's Association became an authority on the county residents' feelings on a sales tax. I appreciate the fact that the Kingston men's business have 2% overhead more than the outlying businesses because of the City Tax, but why can't they spend more time questioning why Kingston needs the sales tax and less in getting county residents to subsidize Kingston services? Services, by the way, that I won't receive out of the county. An example is that the county residents can still remember when they were incorporated into the Kingston school system. Where is the other high school and the lower school taxes they were promised before they were so high-handedly consolidated?

The Association is quoted on lower taxes in the same sentence as a sales tax. That's being ambidextrous with your tongue. Nowhere — repeat, nowhere — have I read or heard anyone suggest that any other taxes be lowered when the sales tax starts.

How would the sales tax revenue be distributed? Kingston is bemoaning low city income at 2%, yet Garrahan says that they will remove that tax if the county puts on a 2% sales tax. Sounds to me like taxing all the county residents to support Kingston programs. I feel I'm subsidizing Kingston enough under the State Aid Program to Cities.

I purposely bought outside Kingston. I detest the traffic. New streets and more money won't solve the problem of trucks and cars double — and triple-parking on the busiest streets at all hours, and the police ignoring it. Taxes won't keep people from parking on Albany Avenue at the offices by the bypass, right under the "No Parking/No Standing" signs. Only enforcement of traffic laws can improve Kingston's biggest bottleneck. I'm supporting a Sheriff's Department and a State Police. Shall I be taxed for a City Police Department that doesn't do its job? When I find a parking space, there's a 50-50 chance that the meter isn't in proper working order.

Maybe the loss of business because of higher prices, as a result of high taxes, is the reason, but courtesy is hard to find in Kingston's stores. The buildings are old, thus uneconomical to air condition. Maintenance costs are high. The store business hours don't match the working hours of most county residents. Where can you show me that you have actually tried to woo the county purchasers? Don't tell me about the parking lot behind the jail. The Court-house people keep it pretty full. The bridge over the Esopus had to collapse before access was improved.

How long has it been since the businessmen looked at Kingston and its operations as a business? The last several mayors have taken great pains to destroy existing buildings, removing them from the tax rolls. Now they are building (at a loss to the taxpayers) fewer buildings. The "renewal" program has cut up the city (try to drive to Miron the old short way). Where are the people in these areas going to shop? Get an aerial photo and take a good look at the access. The new arterial highway to go east of town seems to be another high cost error. Why not go from 209 to 9W south of Kingston and utilize some existing roads?

Is there a city 1, 5, 10, or 20 year plan? If there is why isn't it publicized? Are you going to let Kingston grow like Topsy into the same old trap?

I, and many like me (names furnished on request), believe that the County Legislature's vote against a sales tax truly represented the will of the people. My congratulations to a sensitive and sensible group of legislators.

Editor, The Freeman:
Among the myths that die

hard in this country is that newspaper columnists are possessed of a detached and objective view. They dish out as much slanted news as the newspapers that hire them. When David Lawrence tries to conjure up Pres. Johnson as a great architect of peace in Vietnam the exercise is most laughable. Perhaps the well documented book, "The U.S. in Vietnam," would help clarify for him who was the architect-in-chief of the war and who blanketed this country with false propaganda to blindfold the American people into giving up war time powers to the power hungry men in Washington who felt the clarion call to arrange circumstances so as to unleash the pent up forces in the Pentagon. The Pentagon, you know, is the place where many five star generals and up first serve an apprenticeship before taking $100,000-per year jobs with the munition makers as liaison workers in, you guessed it, the Pentagon.

Last night's news releases over the air contained a little item from the Pentagon—an advance notice to the public — not to expect any cut in spending even if the war ends! Perhaps we have now reached the point where the majority is involved in this 86 billion dollar slush fund, more likely, the public is being duped by the propaganda such a fund can generate.

You hear the question what has happened to old time American patriotism? The professional politicians have tried to use it as a commodity in the open market for corporate and personal gain.

Old time American patriotism still breathes in this country. All it needs is some fresh air outside of those smoke-filled rooms.

Yours truly,
GEORGE S. WILDER

It was generally conceded by a great many present who had read the book, in part, or in favor of appointment of Henry whole, that the fictional work "Moose" Karn, Town of Poughkeepsie Republican chairman, should be a sellout in the 28th District if only for the reason No such thing, says Rolison, that the main characters jump who is adamant on remaining his political philosophies are out at the reader immediately in the Senate. # Significance Speculated Over Rocket Attack Lull

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

PARIS (AP) — U.S. officials are interested but not convinced by a hint from North Vietnam's chief representative at the Paris talks that suspension of the shelling of Saigon constitutes a Communist move to scale down the war.

Hanoi's Ambassador Xuan Thuy said in an interview made public Wednesday: "Although there have been no rocket attacks on Saigon for several weeks, the Americans maintain their offensives and send out their bombers on ever more devastating missions in the Saigon area."

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman had been speculating recently that there might be significance in the lull in rocket attacks on the South Vietnamese capital. He had protested against such attacks in mid-June, saying they threatened the negotiations.

U.S. officials had been trying to find out whether the North heeded the protest, whether allied military operations foiled further attacks, or whether the Communist leadership suspended the attacks for a political purpose.

No Word Received
So far as could be learned, they had no word from the North Vietnamese to help their assessment until TV newsmen David Schoenbrun made his report of his interview with Thuy available.

The Americans were more than ordinarily interested because they consider that North Vietnam will not yield on the issue of "reciprocity" and make a deal to scale down the war in exchange for an end to all U.S. bombing of the North. President Johnson limited the bombing on March 31.

The Americans were skeptical of the implication in Thuy's statement because it leaves North Vietnam in a position either to claim later that it had de-escalated—or to resume attacks on Saigon and blame the United States for not responding to cessation of the rocket attacks.

Thuy not only accused the United States of making "ever more devastating missions in the Saigon region" but also charged it with having "greatly increased" the tonnage and number of bombing raids over the southern part of North Vietnam.

"One can therefore say that not only have we not made progress at the Paris talks but that the situation has worsened in the light of these and other recent developments," he declared.

U.S. officials believe the enemy forces are planning a new offensive against Saigon, and allied troops have been attacking their concentrations. The officials here, however, have been impressed with the low level of enemy military activity in recent weeks.

Thuy also said in the interview that North Vietnam "will never negotiate with" the Saigon government headed by President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky because "they are puppets only."

He also said, "There can be no solutions" for the future of South Vietnam without the participation of the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong.

"They must be at any talks on the South," said Thuy.

He added that if the United States ended all bombing of the North unconditionally, North Vietnam would be willing to explore the problems of all Southeast Asia, including those relating to Laos and Cambodia. He said, however, if Laos was discussed, "the Laotian people must participate."

Harriman said Wednesday, before disclosure of the interview with Thuy, that the rocket attacks on Saigon started after President Johnson curtailed the bombing of North Vietnam, and their suspension could not be considered reciprocity.

He added, however, that the development "may have some significance."

HIDING THEIR TIME — Military policemen wait for conclusion of communion service at St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Martin City, Calif., before arresting nine GI's who "resigned" from the service and began a 48-hour "service of liberation" in protest against the war in Vietnam. The servicemen, all reportedly AWOL from their commands, were chained to clogmen during the vigil. Drinking from chalice is Marine John Robinson, 18, Westport, Conn. The servicemen began the protest in San Francisco, but moved to the church in Martin City, claiming to have received a threat that the San Francisco church would be bombed. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Ike Ready To Announce Nixon Support

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower called a news conference today, apparently to announce his support of Richard M. Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination.

Eisenhower arranged to meet with a selected number of reporters at his suite in Walter Reed Army Hospital late this afternoon. A spokesman said the general, recuperating from his fifth heart attack, was "planning a personal statement on the current political situation."

The spokesman, Brig. Gen. Robert Shulz, declined to elaborate but there has been widespread speculation for some time that Eisenhower, 77, would shortly endorse his former vice president.

Eisenhower's only son, John, recently accepted the chairmanship of the Pennsylvania Nixon-for-President Committee.

The general's 19-year-old grandson, Dwight David Eisenhower II has been campaigning extensively for Nixon.

David is engaged to marry Nixon's daughter, Julie.

See Separate Society

WASHINGTON (AP) — America will become increasingly segregated by race over the next 17 years, says a study released recently by President Johnson's National Commission on Urban Problems.

The study finds that between 1960 and 1985, nonwhites will become more concentrated in cities and whites will continue moving into suburban areas.

"The projections vividly portray the geographic fulfillment of the fears expressed by the President's Commission on Civil Disorders—that the American society is becoming an apartheid society," said the study's authors.

Nonwhite population within cities of 50,000 or more are projected to increase from 50 to 58 per cent; white population will decline from 30 to 21 per cent.

Former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, chairman of the commission, said in a forward to the report that the findings are projections—not predictions. But he said they underscore the "alarming prospect" that "our people may be increasingly segregated. This should be read not as prophecy but as warning."

The report says the shifting of population undoubtedly will mean more cities will have nonwhite majorities by 1985. Of the largest cities the only ones with nonwhite majorities now are Washington, D.C., and Newark, N.J.

Authors of the report are Patricia Leavy Hodge, research associate at the University of Chicago's Population Research Center and Philip M. Houser, director of the center.

Senate Studies Bill To License A-Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to require the commercial licensing of nuclear power plants and make them subject to anti-trust review was introduced in the Senate on Wednesday by Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt.

The measure, cosponsored by Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N.M., also would require the Atomic Energy Commission to issue regulations to protect public waters from any thermal pollution caused by hot water discharges from nuclear power plants.

"I view this as an extremely important step in the right direction," Aiken said. "Above all else this bill would protect our rural electric cooperatives and municipal power plants."

Four nuclear power plants now are under construction or in operation in the New England states of Maine, Vermont and Massachusetts.

Aiken explained that presently all nuclear plants are licensed under a "medical therapy and research" section of the atomic energy law.

He said this is done because the AEC never has found nuclear power plants to be commercially feasible, "even though nuclear plants are held by the Securities and Exchange Commission to be commercially feasible, profit-making enterprises and are licensed by the SEC to sell stock."

The bill would require the AEC to issue commercial licenses for nuclear plants unless it is proved that the main purpose of the plant is the "performance of substantial research and development activities," Aiken said.

He said the bill also would require the AEC, after receiving a nuclear plant construction application, to submit the application to the attorney general for anti-trust review.

The attorney general then has 180 days in which to review the application and if he finds that it violates antitrust laws he must advise the AEC of the fact, Aiken said.

Report Bloody Fighting In South Part of China

By FORREST EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China's army is reported finally trying to stop the bloody fighting in South China after six weeks of standing aside from the clashes between supporters and opponents of Mao Tse-tung and between rival Maoist factions.

Travelers arriving from Canton, South China's largest city and the capital of Kwangtung province, told of troops patrolling the main streets and manning barricades at highway intersections and railway yards.

The official Canton newspaper Nan Fang said Peking had ordered troop commanders in Kwangtung to crush the wave of violence, but the report broadcast by Canton Radio gave no details.

A number of travelers from Kwangsi province, west of Kwangtung, said army units at Liuchow took sides once, in a major factional fight that broke out July 10 and raged for 36 hours. They said rockets used by the soldiers set off fires which devastated 17 city blocks.

But their reports said that within the last three days the army had taken major steps to control the situation in the city, which is on the main rail route for Chinese war supplies to North Vietnam.

One traveler from Kwangsi said supply trains were under heavy guard after backers and foes of Mao Tse-tung had raided the trains to steal weapons consigned to the North Vietnamese.

There is no way to confirm the travelers' reports, but their multiplicity and the way they dovetail indicates they may be true.

Professional Western analysts believe the army, after first trying to stop the battles, was ordered six weeks ago, to stand aside, but there was no indication whether the orders came from Peking or provincial military leaders.

Some China watchers think there is "a good possibility and perhaps a probability" that army leaders in South China deliberately allowed the factional war to reach crisis proportions before moving in under the banner of restoring order and saving the nation.

More than 2,000 persons have been reported killed in virtual civil war since May around Wuchow, an industrial town and transportation center in Kwangsi. Many reports say half the city has been laid waste by fire. Hundreds have been reported killed in battles around Canton, and fighting also has been reported around Nanning, capital of Kwangsi.

There is a belief in Hong Kong that the army leadership has split, with the two factions backing rival Red Guard groups. This could explain reports that both Red Guard groups had army weapons—grenades, rifles, automatic rifles and machine guns. Premier Chou En-lai was quoted as saying in May that chaos in Kwangsi had paralyzed the shipment of arms to Hanoi.

The Hong Kong Star said today Mao had sent Foreign Minister Chen Yi to Nanking to try to prevent a threatened revolt by troop commanders in the eastern seaboard region.

READY FOR ACTION — A federal government soldier, wearing camouflaged helmet and with ammunition belt draped around his torso, stands with other soldiers at a base in Agwu, Nigeria. The base is the point through which Nigerian authorities say they will open a "mercy corridor" to permit the entry of food and medicine to the stricken rebel state. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Many Blind Citizens Still Seeking Jobs

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — While job programs are devised almost daily to correct economic inequities, a poor but eager group that seeks only an opportunity sometimes must feel out of tune with the times.

These are the nation's 425,000 legally blind citizens, only 11,000 of whom have regular jobs, many of them paying close to the minimum wage. Although many blind people cannot work, thousands can work but can't find jobs.

Those that are employed often work in factories especially designed for the blind. And though blind workers have proved their skills in exacting factory jobs, their livelihood often is based in dustcloths and brooms and such.

The NIB, a nonprofit affiliation of 78 factories for the blind in 75 cities, attempts to upgrade the nature of blue collar work for the blind, research new products the blind might make, and coordinate buying and marketing of products.

If Goodpasture sounds a bit annoyed it might be because of the size of the job. "We need work," he said. "We have 5,000 jobs but we need 16,000 in five years." Eventually, he adds, "at least 25,000 should have blue collar employment."

Unfortunately, in most instances it must be the blind themselves who will provide the jobs, mainly through organization and expansion of their own factories, or through use of their professional skills or ownership of newsstands.

As a result, almost all blind blue collar workers are employed in NIB factories, even though their skills are equal in many ways to sighted workers and their job safety records far exceed that of most other groups.

Output of these factories will perhaps surprise most people. In 1967 sales totaled $54 million, and the 5,000 workers earned $8,776,000 on an expenditure of six million manhours of labor. Seldom, however, do blind blue collar workers graduate from their own special industries.

tries into jobs where they compete with sighted workers. An obvious disadvantage is that many of them are multiple handicapped, maybe deaf or emotionally disturbed, and so cannot compete.

However, a good many could obtain competitive jobs if given the chance. "It's not that our workers are not good enough; it is industry's lack of acceptance," Goodpasture claims. This may or may not be industry's fault.

For many years the NIB did not try to educate industry in the values of employing blind workers, leaving that instead to state directors of vocational rehabilitation, or DVRs, as they sometimes are acronymed.

"Historically, our shops have not trained people with placeable skills," Goodpasture conceded. "We accept some of the responsibility for this, and now we are training them in operations that are usable in other industries."

Nab Army Deserter, Sleeping in Car

A 22-year-old burglary suspect, arrested on June 28 in the New Paltz State University College parking lot for possession of stolen goods, has been turned over to U.S. Air Policemen after it was learned the suspect was wanted for desertion from the Army.

Originally stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., the man, E.J. Halub, alias E.J. Hall, had been on the FBI wanted lists for several years.

In the car was found three radios, allegedly stolen from the Western Auto outlet store on Main Street, on June 25.

Halub was then taken before Town of New Paltz Peace Justice Rexford Schneider and remanded to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $550 bail on two counts, one of being in possession of stolen goods, and the other, criminal trespassing, both in the third degree.

Halub, who had given his name as Hall, was vague as to his residence, claiming that he originally came from South Carolina.

Fingerprints were taken by State Police Sgt. Stanley Kowalik and BCI investigator Roger Gardner and sent to the FBI in Washington D.C. for further investigation to determine if the man was using an alias and if he had any previous record.

The FBI wired back that Hall was Halub and that he was a U.S. Army deserter.

Brought back from the Ulster County Jail, Halub pleaded guilty to criminal trespassing before Justice Schneider who then sentenced the alleged deserter to 14 days in the county's jail.

On Friday, July 12, Halub was again brought before Justice Schneider and, upon the advice of assistant District Attorney Philip W. Schunk, the charge of possession of stolen goods was dismissed so that Halub could be turned over to Air Policemen from Stewart Air Force Base.

According to an Air Police spokesman stationed at Stewart in Newburgh, Halub was picked up by Armed Forces Police officers on Saturday.

Halub was then taken before Town of New Paltz Peace Justice Rexford Schneider and remanded to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $550 bail on two counts, one of being in possession of stolen goods, and the other, criminal trespassing, both in the third degree.

Halub, who had given his name as Hall, was vague as to his residence, claiming that he originally came from South Carolina.

Fingerprints were taken by State Police Sgt. Stanley Kowalik and BCI investigator Roger Gardner and sent to the FBI in Washington D.C. for further investigation to determine if the man was using an alias and if he had any previous record.

The FBI wired back that Hall was Halub and that he was a U.S. Army deserter.

Brought back from the Ulster County Jail, Halub pleaded guilty to criminal trespassing before Justice Schneider who then sentenced the alleged deserter to 14 days in the county's jail.

On Friday, July 12, Halub was again brought before Justice Schneider and, upon the advice of assistant District Attorney Philip W. Schunk, the charge of possession of stolen goods was dismissed so that Halub could be turned over to Air Policemen from Stewart Air Force Base.

Panthers Picket; Leave Guns Home

By HAROLD V. STREETER

Associated Press Writer

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) —

"Time to get your gun."

"And USE it."

Inside the Alameda County courthouse, on trial on a charge of murdering a white policeman is Huey Newton, the handsome 26-year-old who organized the Black Panther party in 1966.

Around the heavily guarded block-long courthouse past doors locked on all but one side, their supporters march. And as they pass helmeted officers they calmly hiss in words clear enough to reach police ears:

"Figs go home."

Black leather jackets and black cloth berets distinguish the elite guard. They move in a precise military column only when squad leaders quietly pass the word. Some speak into walkie-talkies—to where, none will say.

On each "Free Huey" button worn is a back-arched black panther.

"The panther doesn't attack anyone," Newton has explained the symbol choice, "but when he's forced into a corner he will strike out and he will not stop until the aggressor is wiped out."

Charging police brutality and disrespect for blacks, Newton's panthers began cruising the ghetto areas with guns in cars on watch for police patrol cars. They said their aim was, when arrests were attempted, to step up and advise the black suspects of their rights.

Panther leaders contended Oakland authorities denied that this activity prompted police to "get" Newton. In October 1967, they got him—on a charge of shooting and killing a policeman who stopped his car.

Last April in a West Oakland gun battle, Black Panther Bobby Hutton, 18, was killed and two policemen wounded in another incident.

How many Black Panthers are there?

Always the answer from Black Panther sources is the same:

"Those who know don't say; those who say don't know."

Police intelligence puts the number at around 200. They come largely from the West Oakland ghetto where 40,000 Negroes are crowded together. There are more than 121,000 Negroes in all Oakland.

It has grown rapidly in recent years but now appears to be stabilizing.

Rioters Ravish Downtown Akron

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Roving gangs of Negroes smashed windows, looted and stoned automobiles late Wednesday night and early today in a predominantly Negro section near the downtown area of this northeast Ohio industrial city.

Police used tear gas to disperse the gangs.

Police said one looter was shot and wounded and another person was dragged from his car and beaten. One firebombing was reported. Police blocked off a five-block area of Wooster Avenue in the district.

Gov. James A. Rhodes immediately ordered about 700 National Guardsmen on standby alert at the High Street Armory near here. They were not deployed from the armory.

Police, some wearing steel helmets and armed with three-foot long riot sticks, said they believed the situation was under control at sunrise.

Seventeen adults and about 20 juveniles were arrested on a variety of charges.

A 16-year-old Negro boy was shot and wounded by police while looting, a police spokesman said. The unidentified youth was taken to Akron General Hospital where his condition was no immediately known.

Another Negro, an adult, was dragged from his car by a gang and beaten. He was treated for minor injuries at Akron Hospital and then released.

The disturbance first broke out late Wednesday night but order was quickly restored by police. Shortly after 2 a.m. EDT, it erupted again and Mayor John Ballard requested Rhodes to activate the guard.

The cause of the disturbance was not known. Police said 80-degree temperatures and high humidity forced large crowds into the streets.

State Approves Benedictine Building Plan

Mid-Hudson area hospital and nursing home construction projects have been approved by the New York State Health Department, according to an announcement made by Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, state health commissioner.

Among those approved is a five-bed intensive care unit and four-bed coronary care unit for Benedictine Hospital.

Construction of a 120 bed, non profit nursing home in Hyde Park, sponsored by the Northeastern Conference Corporation of the Seventh Day Adventists gained state health department approval subject to social welfare board approval. The sponsors have requested a $1,440,000 mortgage loan under the state's Nursing Home Companies Law. The nursing home will operate under the name of the Northeastern Conference Nursing Home Co., Inc.

Cool 12 Months Economists' Goal

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — You don't hear much today about the New Economics, for in baseball, politics or economics you don't praise the coaches when they aren't winning. And there have been no real big winning streaks this year.

Still, some of the same spirit and confidence and sense of balance that made the New Economists appear to be such winners during the balanced boom of a few years ago will be needed during the next 12 months.

Sensitive Thermostats
During this time our economic leaders will be trying to cool things, but not to the degree of provoking a freeze. Their thermostats, so to speak, must be very sensitive as were those of the New Economists.

The New Economists in their heyday advocated "fine tuning" to keep the economy constantly at a near maximum pitch, through use of short-term restraints such as temporary taxes, and spurs, such as lower taxes or more spending.

In a way, they viewed the economy as a pretty balloon to be kept firm and fat. If the balloon looked a bit tired they blew in enough air to make the wrinkles disappear. If needed, they could leak a little air from time to time.

For a while the New Economists seemed to keep the balloon firm, neither too taut nor too slack. And to this day you will not find a dyed-in-the-wool New Economist who will admit that failure was in their methods. They are more inclined to blame the politicians.

These politicians, it seems, became fascinated with the big bright balloon, saw in it a symbol of perfection and sought to make it more nearly perfect. They pumped in so much air that it appeared swollen and quite vulnerable to a pin.

So now, just as it was important to inflate to the proper pressure, it is necessary to let the air out at the correct speed and for the right length of time. It is a delicate job.

In most ways the present assignment is more ticklish than was that of the New Economists. The dollar must be protected for the sake of international monetary stability; joblessness must not be permitted to rise so high as to ignite domestic unrest; mortgage money must not be permitted to dry up.

Above all, the economic coaches must be able to detect well in advance when recession threatens. This will be difficult, for this huge economy of ours reacts to the coaches' signals only months later. It yaws.

These signals that can be fed to the economy generally are of two types: Fiscal and monetary. Fiscal matters relate to government spending and taxing; monetary matters to the availability and cost of credit and money.

No Change for a Year
Most of the fiscal signals have now been given and cannot be changed for another year. That is, Congress has approved the rate of taxation and the amount of government spending for the present fiscal year.

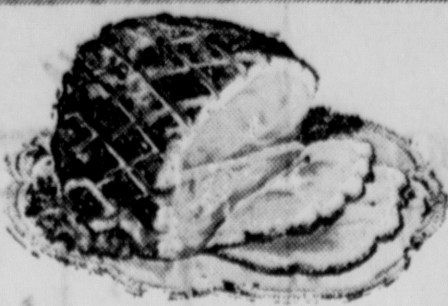

The main responsibility, therefore, rests with the monetary manager, which is the Federal Reserve Board, made up of seven men appointed by the president and confirmed by the Senate for 14-year terms.

The board governs the Federal Reserve System, which consists of 12 regional banks and 24 branches whose purpose is not to make money in the manner of commercial banks but to supply enough credit and money for orderly economic growth.

There are many advisers to the board, all of whom are supposed to have their ears open to noise from the business community and be able to inform and offer ideas to the board.

The New Economists were balloon blowers. The present monetary managers must be tightrope walkers.

WARSAW (UPI)—Kazimierz Dejmech has been fired as director of the National Theater, government sources said Wednesday. His production of the Polish classic "Diady" was criticized for anti-Russian lines such as: "The Russians have been sending here (to Poland) for 100 years fools, spies and jackasses."

NEW PRESIDENT — Maj. Gen. Ahmed Hassan El Bakr, who has held both the vice presidency and premiership of Iraq in the past, was named president of Iraq by the "revolution command council" which seized power in a pre-dawn coup. El Bakr's election was said to be unanimous but the names of the other council members remained unknown. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

2 Men Have Key To Gun Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters of a gun control bill featuring registration and licensing of firearms claim strong backing on the House floor. But two congressmen with near life-and-death power over the measure say they still oppose such provisions.

President Johnson's proposal to ban mail-order sales of rifles, shotguns and ammunition survived its initial test in the House Wednesday when members agreed by voice vote to consider the bill.

A bipartisan group announced it would offer an amendment to the bill to include registration and licensing when it comes up for a vote Friday and a spokesman said he thought chances for passage were good.

Rep. Richard McCarthy, D-N.Y., said his group had contacted 200 colleagues and obtained a promising response.

"We are now in the process of contacting the other 200 uncommitted members to get them on our side," he told a news conference.

McCarthy expressed confidence a majority would be picked up favoring registration and licensing among the remaining 200 members.

McCarthy said he hopes Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., will "not vigorously press" his commitment to the House Rules Committee to oppose registration and licensing.

But Celler later indicated he had not changed his position. So did Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, ranking Republican on Celler's House Judiciary Committee.

Both men told the Rules Committee last week they would oppose toughening up Johnson's original gun proposal with registration and licensing for fear it would jeopardize passage of any gun measure.

Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex., said he would propose an amendment Friday setting mandatory sentences for anyone using or carrying a firearm during commission of a felony.

"It's time for us to get mad. Help us to bring justice, law and order and public safety back to our land," Casey said in a speech.

Celler, however, said he also was opposed to that amendment for several reasons, including the raising of constitutional questions.

Celler and McCulloch would be on the three-man House team that would represent the House in conference committee with the Senate and thus are a force to be reckoned with in the future of any gun control measure.

On the eve of what could be the most crucial test yet in either chamber for gun controls, the Justice Department released a report saying states with strong firearms laws tend to have fewer murders with guns than states with weak firearms laws.

The compilation of statistics was made by the criminal division of the department, whose head, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, has urged strong gun control laws. It was sent to the House Judiciary Committee.

New Apartments In New Paltz

Another set of apartment units, 88 in all, are being constructed in the Village of New Paltz.

A bulldozer started clearing operations a week ago off Route 32 near the American Legion Hall.

The 88 units will be included within 10 buildings, each two stories high, according to developer Richard Shipton of Pittsfield, Mass.

"They will be regular apartments, not efficiencies," Shipton claimed, adding that "rents will be comparable to what is being charged in the area."

"They will be primarily for (New Paltz State University) college administrative people," he said.

Shipton further said that it had not been decided yet what heating system would be used, oil or electric.

WHAT IS A MODERN SLEEPING SURFACE?

All good sleeping surfaces consist of an innerspring mattress plus a foundation box spring of heavier coils to help the mattress produce the required conformability to the heavier parts of the body and take up the shock when people sit on the bed.

Of the three major parts of a modern mattress — the upholstery material, the mattress cover, and the innerspring unit — the innerspring unit is the key to comfort.

Local TAP Delegates Attend Rural Parley

A conference, co-sponsored by the New York State Technical Action Panel and Office of Economic Opportunity, the theme of which was Building Rural New York State was recently attended by Ulster County TAP members. Howard Cort, Harley Taylor, Stanley Leyden and Charles Locke.

Workshop topics considered were: Industrial Development, Physical Development, Expansion of Job Opportunities, Coordination of Federal, State and Local Agency Services in Rural Areas, Migrant Labor Problems and their Solutions, Health and Welfare of Senior Citizens and Education Opportunities in Rural Areas. A number of informative films were shown and exhibits viewed. Howard Bertsch, Administrator of the Farmers Home Administration, attended and spoke to the group.

The conference was well attended and participants had the opportunity to observe what has been accomplished, what is being done, as well as the plans and expectations for the future.

Hearing Held on River Widening

Plans for widening the existing channel in the Hudson River from New York to Albany and providing additional navigational aids in the river from Kingston to Albany were discussed at a public hearing held by the United States Corps of Engineers yesterday in Albany.

The hearing was attended by approximately 40 persons representing various interest groups in the area, including the Hudson River Valley Commission, the American Merchant Marines, and the U. S. Coast Guard.

Discussion at the hearing emphasized the need for a new study to be made by the Corps of Engineers regarding the river's navigational facilities. It channel is inadequate, especially the area between Kingston and Albany, because ships are getting larger and night navigation on the river has increased.

The Corps of Engineers will begin a survey of the river in order to determine whether the proposals are feasible. If they decide that the costs needed to undertake the project are economically justifiable, they will send their proposals to Congress for approval.

Plans include creating a channel 600 feet wide from New York to Kingston and a channel 400 feet wide from Kingston to Albany, as well as constructing turning basins and anchorage sites at various locations between Kingston and the barge canal at Waterford.

Heat is not needed to boil water at high altitudes. At 90,000 feet water boils by itself.

Last Nominating Convention in State 44 Years Ago

By FRANK H. RICE
ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—New York State has not played host to a presidential nominating convention in 44 years.

When the time comes to select a site for the big shows, Republicans and Democrats seem to have fallen into the habit of looking elsewhere.

Only twice since the days of Abraham Lincoln has a city in New York State had the honors. Both times it was by Democratic selection, and both times in "Fun City."

The first was in 1868 and the second 56 years later, which means, mathematically, that the United States has elected presidents 11 times since 1924 but has not held a nominating convention in this state.

When the Democrats roll out the carpet in Chicago next month, it will be the 22nd time the "Windy City" has had the honor being selected as a nominating convention site. Philadelphia, the "City of Brotherly Love," was chosen five times, as was St. Louis.

When the Republicans meet in Miami, Fla., also next month, it will be that city's first look at the man who could be the nation's next president. In the 1924 convention in New York City, there were a few records set that may stand the test of time.

The session began June 24 and lasted through July 10. Delegates went through 103 weary roll calls before nominating John W. Davis only to have him lose the general election to a Vermonter by the name of John Calvin Coolidge. He had been nominated by the GOP in Cleveland. Since Lincoln's time nine candidates for the nation's highest office won nomination by acclamation, including President Johnson four years ago. Twelve others, including Lincoln won the nomination unanimously.

Why cities in New York State have been shunned or bypassed has never been made quite clear.

The national committee of both parties makes the selection, and it can be assumed this is done after a survey of facilities available, including a convention hall, hotels, restaurants, plane and train service and other characteristics that go to make up a likely choice. In previous years, conventions have been held in Los Angeles, Atlantic City, San Francisco, Baltimore, Houston, Denver, Cincinnati, Kansas City and Minneapolis.

In the past 100 years the month of June rated as the best time of the year to hold conventions, but lately July and August seem to be the favorites. In 1860, Democrats held their convention as early as April in two cities, Charleston and Baltimore and nominated Stephen A. Douglas who lost to Lincoln. New York State came into greater prominence as a political barometer during the days of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt who served four times as the nation's chief executive. Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey continued the pace and now it's Governor Rockefeller.

Democrats may have another "first" this year. A telephone strike in Chicago could disrupt present plans, and National Chairman John Bailey may have to look to another city if the strike continues past July 28 or 29.

At present, Bailey said, he has no such plans in mind.

Designs Gadget to Take Daily Pills

By LOUDON KELLY
DENVER (AP) — A doctor prescribes daily medication for a patient who is going home after a stay in a hospital. It is up to the patient to take it.

But there's many a slip between the physician's writing out a prescription and the patient's actually remembering to take his medicine every day as he should.

Dr. Thomas Moulding of the staff of the National Jewish Hospital at Denver is well aware of this "general failing and he has done something about it. He has devised a gadget designed to remind a person to take his pills daily.

"Taking pills is a nuisance," Dr. Moulding said. "A person gets forgetful or just plain lazy, or he isn't motivated enough. I would estimate that anywhere from 20 to 30 per cent of tuberculosis patients, for example, who need daily medication, fail to take it regularly after leaving the hospital."

The pill dispenser that Dr. Moulding has invented involves a rectangular metal container about 18 inches long which stands on end and holds a five-week supply of medication.

Placed In Box

Pills to supply the patient for one day are placed in a small square cardboard box labeled with the name of a day of the week. These boxes are stacked in the metal container in proper sequence—Sunday on the bottom, Monday's box on top of Sunday's and so on.

Along the side of the container is placed a long strip of photographic film. The bit of uranium imprints a black dot on the film. If the patient takes his medication each day as he should, dots appear on the film in a vertical even row.

Uranium Source Drops

If he forgets for day or two the uranium burns into the film a dot larger and blacker than the others. If the patient tries to cover up his lapse by extracting several days' pillboxes at one time, the uranium source drops quickly without imprinting any dots at all. Thus the doctor or the nurse has a photographic record of how well the patient is remembering to take his pills.

Dr. Moulding said about 40 or 50 of the dispensers are in use in Colorado and he is encouraged. "I feel it is a step in the right direction, as a way of shortening hospital stays and keeping patients, especially tuberculosis patients, from having to return to the hospital," he said.

More Businessmen Score Tax Defeat

Central Businessmen Association today joined the Uptown Businessmen's group in its criticism of the County Legislature's negative vote last Thursday on a proposed county-wide sales tax.

Frank A. Reis, president of the Central Businessmen group said the members of his organization were amazed by the action of the Legislature in defeating a proposal to prepare a local law for the implementation of a 2 per cent sales tax for the county to start Jan. 1.

Reis said, "Majority Leader Douglas V. Dye, (R-2nd District) voted no, and stated he preferred economies in government instead of more taxes."

Ernest J. Gardner of the 11th District voted no on the grounds it was not the proper time as the 1969 budget is not completed. This statement was made in the evening session, and yet in the afternoon, they acted on the Community College budget approving an increase of $124,692 for just this one item.

Also, as to the statement of Mr. Dye, a sales tax would not be an increase in taxes, but rather a substantial reduction in the general tax due to the following reasons:

1967 figures show the rest area at Malden and Ulster on the Thruway for food and gasoline sales alone would have realized $50,719.37. Mind you many town taxes of 3 to 5 per cent does not include oil, tires, batteries, accessories or other station sales. The motels, hotels and resort areas representing thousands of rooms at a low figure of $20 per day amounts to hundreds of thousands of dollars. Then again, a few thousand autos are sold in the county, again realizing a huge amount of tax monies.

Agree on Economics

The Uptown Business Men's Association Tuesday issued a statement through its president, Stanley London pointing out generally the same facts. However they agreed with Majority Leader Dye's suggestion that economies are needed in the operation of county government.

The Uptown group's statement suggested that enough money could be collected by a sales tax to pay the entire county budget.

"No land or general tax would be a Utopia, but not impossible," Reis said. "As an example, the entire State of Florida has a $5,000 homestead exemption. A home that cost $12,000 to $15,000 and assessed less than $5,000 pays no general tax. There are revenues being derived from sales tax, Sunshine Parkway, Hialeah, Tropical Park and Gulf Stream Race Tracks, plus harness racing, jai alai and other sporting events. Also there is a big savings by not having duplication of agencies," he said.

"When one travels in Massachusetts to the Cape, visitors pay 5 per cent on all food for the state's old age pension and

Almost Impossible

"Contrary to the statement made at the Legislature meeting to wait until figures on next year's budget are available in order to justify a sales tax, they well know that red tape and time would make it almost impossible to enact a local law. It's like locking the barn door after the horse has been stolen," Reis concluded.

The County Legislature by a vote of 23 to 9 Thursday night defeated a proposal to prepare a local law for the enactment of a 2 per cent county-wide sales tax. Several legislators defended the proposal, most of them representing the City of Kingston.

Kingston has had a 2 per cent sales tax in effect since March 1 and the local merchants and businessmen who must collect the tax in the city have indicated they are operating at a disadvantage because stores and businesses outside the city limits are able to make sales without charging the sales tax.

County Has New Data Book

Ulster County's growth continues at about the same rate it has during the past ten years, according to the new data book, Ulster County 1968, just published for the County Legislature by the County Planning Board. Population in 1967 was about 140,000. By 1995 it is expected to reach 221,000, a 58 per cent increase.

This rapid growth has brought home to government officials the need for planning. There are now 24 municipal planning boards in the county, whereas in 1963 when the County Planning Board was established there were only 15. The Town of Hardenburgh and the village of Pine Hill are the only municipalities with no planning activity at the present time. There are now 13 municipalities with comprehensive plans as against four in 1963; subdivisions regulations in 12 municipalities against eight; and eight municipalities have zoning ordinances as against five on the earlier date.

In the five years, 1962-1967, motor vehicle registrations have risen from 56,340 to 69,625, an increase of 25 per cent. This puts an ever increasing strain on the 2,505 miles of highway in the county of which 1,313 miles are maintained by the municipalities, 418 by the county and 320 by the State, with some federal aid. School enrollment has increased from 22,316 in 1960 to 29,308 in 1967, but the rate of increase is not as great as in the previous two years.

Woodstock News WTTA Advocates More Pupils Per Classroom

The issue of desirable education versus adequate education was the subject under discussion at a recent meeting of the Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association at Deanes Restaurant.

According to Walter H. Schulman, president, WTTA passed a resolution to the effect that the boards of education throughout Ulster County should move vigorously to lessen the tax burden of the Ulster County homemaker by providing for more than 25 pupils per class. Also by refraining from hiring additional teachers each year to instruct expected new pupils on a basis of only 25 pupils per class. And, by reducing teaching staffs so as to effect the distribution of pupils in groups of more than 25 in a class in all instances where this maximum limitation is currently in force.

In the discussion prior to adoption of the resolution, it was noted that the statutory mandatory salaries and automatic annual salary increases of teachers, together with the funds for teachers retirement benefits, is a major item of the cost of operation of the public school system in Ulster County.

Pointing out that Ulster County homeowners are now doubly taxed by the direct real property tax on their homes for local public schools and by the state income tax to furnish the so-called "state aid" to these schools, Schulman stressed that the practice of limiting classes to a maximum of 25 pupils per class is not mandated or required by Education Law or by rule or regulation of the Commissioner of Education.

The state education authorities have merely recommended a maximum of 25 pupils per class as desirable, he said.

It was the consensus however, desirable a maximum of 25 pupils per class might be school children in general could receive adequate education in classes of more than 25 and even as large as 35 pupils, in the kind of community that Ulster County is.

Performing Arts Presents Original One-Act Plays

Pearl Blackman will play the mother of Charles, in "Charles, the Child Beautiful", by Danny Klein. Mrs. Blackman will be remembered in the dual roles of Mrs. Clevering and Miss Creeley, in PAW's production of "The White Angel", of Holly Beye.

Pearl Blackman studied theater and radio techniques at the Abbe School of Dramatic Arts in New York City, before moving to Canada to work with The Montreal Playhouse, and in Toronto in the production of radio and television commercials for one of Canada's largest advertising agencies.

Larry Shufelt will play the father of Charles. He was a member of the University Players, while attending The University of Vermont, and last season played the part of Margin, in PAW's "The Banana Thief", by Holly Beye.

Larry Shufelt is a resident of Sawkill, and is a supervisor at GMAC in Newburgh.

Charles, the child, is played by Ralph Santinelli. He appeared at the Woodstock Play-

SAUGERTIES NEWS League of Women Voters Has New Book on Market

Mrs. William Peetoom, president of the League of Women Voters of Saugerties, has announced that the League of Women Voters has come forth in this election year with a timely new book, "Choosing the President."

This handy reference to one of the most important happenings in American politics explains step by step just how the President of the United States is nominated and elected. Highly readable, yet carefully documented, it is of interest not only to the average citizen who "wants to know," but also to teachers, students, clubs, church and community groups, businessmen, and public officials.

"Choosing the President" has been given by the U.S. Mission to the UN to all delegations of member nations. It has been sent by the United States Information Agency to their libraries overseas, and is being distributed by the Book - of - the - Month Club as a "Pro Bono Publico" this July - a book chosen because of its unusual social and historical importance.

Part I of "Choosing the President" answers such questions as "How are delegates to the national conventions chosen?"; "How many electoral votes does my state have?"; "What happens if a presidential nominee dies before election day?"; and "If no presidential candidate receives a majority of the electoral college's votes, how is the President chosen?"

Part II gives facts and figures illustrating the choosing

Civil War Days, on and off the battlefield will be portrayed in costume and with authentic equipment and weapons Saturday and Sunday at the annual North - South Skirmish of the reactivated 120th Volunteers of New York at Sawyerkill County Club field, Washington Avenue Extension, Saugerties.

The event will feature individual matches, team competition and cannon firing contests all with authentic Civil War weapons.

Competitors, all reactivated Civil War units will attend and participate in the events and pageantry of the skirmish.

Four cannon teams have also accepted invitations to compete. The units attending will bring their families and will camp Friday and Saturday night on the field. Refreshments will be available. Admission is free and the public is invited.

Edward Van Gaasbeek, captain of the 120 Regiment is heading the committee of events.

Civil War Days Portrayed at Skirmish

Recreation Dept. Lists Schedule

The Saugerties Recreation Department completed registration for the summer program. Over 325 boys and girls ranging in ages 7-16 registered. Approximately 80 boys and girls, primarily 7, 8, and 9 year olds, were present for the opening ceremonies on Thursday, July 11. Recreation Directors Pete Kramer and John Smith raised the flag while the children joined in with the Pledge of Allegiance. Town Supervisor Mike Schovel was on hand to welcome the children to the new program.

The morning program, designed primarily for ages 7-9, was conducted with enthusiasm as the children participated in games, relays, arts and crafts, and a free play period. During the free play period the children have an opportunity to engage in any activity to suit their own particular interests such as jump rope, tumbling, ropes and rings, and individual games.

The afternoon program was also met with enthusiasm as 70 boys and girls ranging from 10-18 showed up for the program. The activities included team games, ping-pong, tumbling, free play and arts and crafts.

Some of the highlights for the first two days were arts and craft stick project, building of scooters for races to be held in the future, and the organization of softball teams.

On Monday and Tuesday of this week Mrs. Schovel and Mrs. Gordon Keeley taught and showed knitting, sewing, and making Barbie Doll clothes and scarfs.

On Friday morning the children will be taken on the "trip of the week" to the Snyder firehouse in Saugerties.

Summer Soldier

Cadet Carey A. Anderson is one of seven young high school graduates who have turned "summer soldier" for a six-week "tour" at Ft. Benning, Ga. near Atlanta.

Cadet Anderson, who will enroll as a freshman at Georgia Military College in the fall, reported for duty last month and expects to complete the Basic ROTC Summer Camp by July 26.

Along with other ROTC students from throughout the nation, he will receive instruction and practical exercises in care and cleaning of clothing and equipment, marksmanship, weapons, first aid, personal hygiene, tactics, and customs and courtesies of the U.S. Army. All of this is part of the modified ROTC program which now offers a two-year as well as a four-year program for high school graduates who plan to attend a junior military college. Under the revised plan, the students may attend a six-week basic camp in lieu of the first two years of the four-year program. When they enroll at GMC this fall, they will then enter the first year of Advanced ROTC, Military Science III. The following summer they will attend the Advanced ROTC Summer Camp at Fort Bragg, N. C. and then enroll in the MS IV course in Advanced ROTC. After this final phase of the program, Cadet Anderson will be eligible for a Second Lieutenant's commission in the Army. He may choose to accept it when he graduates from GMC or elect to wait until he earns his college degree. This opportunity to complete their formal education prior to fulfilling military obligations is one of the many major advantages this historic Middle Georgia junior military college offers young high school and college-age citizens. Anderson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Anderson of Broad Street, West Hurley.

Creative Cooking Contest at State Fair--August Deadline

What's cooking? Lots of things in the Creative Cooking Contest at the 1968 New York State Fair. Would you prefer to go to a swinging party, or maybe a trip to Austria?

Adventurous people with a white thumb for baking and other culinary arts can win some of the $1,921 in premiums offered by this department of the Art and Home Center if the deadline date of Friday, August 16 is met.

Each day the contest will feature Austrian cooking along with refreshments for a recreation party. For the opening of the Fair on Tuesday, August 27, a Touchdown Party is scheduled with entries exclusively from teenagers under 18 years of age. Wednesday is a swim party, Thursday, a skating party, Sunday, Christmas Giving and Monday, Labor Day, an Austrian Kaffeeklatsch.

The Kaffeeklatsch is the climax to a week of Austrian recipe judging. It features the flavor of Austrian coffee along with Austrian tortes and coffee cakes. Grand Prizes will be awarded on this day with lucky persons taking home an 11 cubic foot freezer and 17 other prizes.

Labor Day also highlights a new feature of the Creative Cooking Contest--The Bon Voyage Package. This package is of specified weight and size, and contains whatever the entrant wants to put in it. The winning entry will be given to a service-man of the contestant's choice, or the USO.

The Fair runs from Aug. 27 through Labor Day in Syracuse.

Craftsmen Wanted
There are substantial prizes for artist craftsmen. The description is as follows: A New York State resident, who is skilled in weaving, ceramics, rugs and tapestries, metalwork, woodcraft, or other crafts, who has the entry fee of 50 cents and can meet the deadline date of Friday, Aug. 2.

If you fit this description, then the Crafts Department of the Art and Home Center at the New York State Fair is looking for you.

Jurying by point system will be used in judging the crafts and decision of the judges will be final, but for entrants who win top honors there is a total of $1,330 in cash prizes waiting as reward.

For further investigation write for a premium book complete with entry blank to: Entry Department, New York State Fair, Syracuse, New York 13209.

But competition is only half of what the Crafts Department has to offer. The person who makes his way to the Crafts Corner of the Art and Home Center during Fair Week will find a contemporary exhibit of crafts chosen by Thomas Kyle of the Museum of Contemporary Crafts, a pottery demonstration and a weaving demonstration, both of which will continue all day, every day, to give the Fairgoer an opportunity not only to see the artists in action, but to ask questions about the process so he can try it himself.

The Crafts Department located on the main floor of the Art and Home Center is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily during the 1968 New York State Fair which runs from Aug. 27 through Labor Day in Syracuse.

Child Care Center
Do you want to come to the New York State Fair this year but your children are too small?

The Child Care Center is your answer.

Located on Massapequa Avenue directly behind the Horticulture Building, the Center is a recreational and rest center for children between the ages of three and seven. It provides free care from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. for children whose parents wish to leave them in the capable hands of Care Center attendants while they tour the Fair.

Lost children can also be found at the Center until 10 p.m. when they are turned over to State Troopers at the Fair.

Miss Judy Raymond of Kingston served as maid of honor. She wore a mint green chiffon gown over taffeta with a satin panel at the back. A star of pearls and crystals held her mint green veil. Miss Raymond carried a simplicity bouquet of white daisies.

Attendants were Mrs. Frank Purcell, aunt of the bride; Miss Rose Ann Matthews, Miss Peggy Miller, and Mrs. Kenneth Breitenstein, all of Kingston. Their aqua, apricot, orchid and yellow gowns and headpieces, respectively, were fashioned identically to that of the maid of honor. They carried simlicity bouquets of white daisies. Miss Cindy Bailey, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a pink satin gown with a chiffon panel gathered at the back with daisies. Her headpiece was styled the same as the maid of honor and she carried a fireside basket of white and pink daisies.

Gene Choquette of Shokan was best man. Ushers were Frank Purcell, uncle of the bride, of Kingston; Joseph Bailey, brother of the bride, of Kingston; Vincent Christoforo of Woodstock, and Dale Thibodeau of West Hurley, John Bush, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

After the wedding a reception for 135 guests was held at the Walnut Grove, Kings-on.

The bride selected a yellow and green print dress with matching yellow accessories for her wedding trip to the Poconos in Pennsylvania.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed as a secretary at International Business Machines. Her husband attended Ontario Central School and Ulster County Community College. He is employed by Grand Union Company.

The couple will reside at 56 Henry Street, Kingston.

In Pakistan, It's Family Planning vs. Famine

By HELEN HENNESSY
WASHINGTON, D.C. (NEA)—
Knowledge of family planning in underdeveloped countries can

mean the difference between hunger and a full stomach. Narrowing the gap between food and mouth in such countries as Pakistan is the major task of the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID). The gap is being narrowed by raising food production and lowering birth rates. In addition to massive agricultural assistance, AID is providing Pakistan with new weapons in the struggle against overpopulation. Among other things, it is training key personnel who administer more than 3,000 family-planning centers throughout the country. And the Pakistanis are taking giant steps toward meeting this help more than halfway. Doctors at a family-planning center in East Pakistan were surprised recently to find an old man waiting in line for a vasectomy. He had come, he said, to collect the 20 rupees paid as an incentive to those willing to undergo sterilization. The old man then introduced five sons who, he said, had made the same decision.

"You realize, of course," said the doctor in charge of surgery, "that you will not have any more grandsons?" The old man laughed. "Promises, promises. All we get are promises." This is a promise that the government of Pakistan intends to keep, according to AID. Through sterilization of men and use of the intra-uterine device (IUD) by women, Pakistan is making rapid progress toward a five year goal which would cut back the rate of births 20 percent by 1970. The family-planning program is closely tied to Pakistan's efforts to attain early self-sufficiency in food production. The birth rate increase exceeds 2.5 per cent annually. Without a successful family-planning program, Pakistan's population would double within 20 years and wipe out all the efforts being made to develop the country.

AID's health and family planning team in Pakistan includes a full-time demographer, public health adviser, physician, two nurse advisers and two health educators. About 40 Pakistanis are receiving specialized training in the United States and other countries in health education and administration, nursing, education and mass communication techniques. The U.S. agency also provides Pakistan with contraceptives, vehicles including jeeps and motors for boats to reach remote villages and local currency support for family-planning centers. In the fiscal year of 1968 the agency expects to obligate $750,000 for family-planning work as well as $5.3 million in Pakistani rupees generated through sale of U.S. food under the Food for Freedom program. In 1967 a loan for $168,000 in local currency helped a number of family-planning projects, including expansion of a factory for contraceptive pills. The manufacture and distribution of oral contraceptives, however, is largely confined to the private sector in Pakistan. The government's family-planning program has relied principally on IUD, sterilization operations and contraceptives other than pills. By the end of 1967, the intra-uterine devices used totaled almost 1.2 million or 40 per cent of the five-year goal set in 1965. Use of the device increased from 25,000 in the first year to 49,000 in the second and 59,000 in the first half of 1967. By 1970 the rate of usage is expected to average 67,000 a month. More than 300 lady health "visitors" have been trained to help the doctors. Their duties include reassuring women who often walk for miles to reach the rural or urban clinics only to have last-minute doubts about the rumored side-effects of the IUD. Even more dramatic than the IUD program is the unexpected success of the sterilization program in East Pakistan where, according to AID, more than 181,000 operations have been performed. In all, there are now 2.3 million couples practicing birth control in Pakistan — or more than half of the 5 million couples to be brought into the program by 1970. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Look Here Mrs. Homemaker

The chicken of today descends from the wild jungle fowl of Asia, says Louise M. Kakargo, Extension Home Economist. The jungle fowl which existed as early as 1400 B.C. produced little meat and few eggs. It lived wild for centuries until man domesticated it first for sport, then later for exhibiting purposes and for meat and eggs. While early settlers brought chicken to America and started small home flocks in Jamestown in 1607, they did little to develop the birds as a source of eggs and meat. They appreciated the eggs, but hens at that time produced only a few, as do wild birds of today. They used chickens mainly for feathery and cockfights, a sport now illegal in the United States. During the era of the poultry fancier, from 1870 to 1920, a large number of Americans raised chickens as a hobby to enter in competitive poultry shows. Chickens were developed of a uniform type and color patterns for contests and in the process contributed to improved breeds. Commercial poultry farms became large scale in the 1920's and have grown at a rapid pace ever since. Chicken has become increasingly important in the diets of Americans. When buying chicken for frying, roasting, braising or stewing, allow about 1 1/2 pound, ready to cook weight for each serving. Refrigerate fresh chicken as soon after purchase as possible. Remove any transparent film packaging from the chicken, cover it loosely, and store it in the coldest, non-freezing part of the refrigerator. Store frozen fresh chicken at 0 degrees F. or lower. Use the chicken within 6 to 7 months. To thaw chicken for cooking, place chicken in its original wrap in the refrigerator; allow 12 to 24 hours for broilers and longer for larger birds. When necessary to speed thawing, place the bird in its original wrapping in a pan under cold running water; allow 1/2 to 1 hour for broilers and longer for larger birds. Cook chicken promptly after thawing; best quality, do not refreeze it.

Fall Styles Feature Slender Silhouette

By NADEANE WALKER
AP Fashion Writer

ROME (AP) — A handsome waistline is the most valuable asset a girl can have if she wants to look like a million dollars in the new Italian fashion creations for fall and winter.

Baratta and newcomer Andre Laug today both showed the slender-line silhouette that has taken the Rome collections by storm. Nothing could be more flattering than the gently flared redingote that is everybody's darling this season.

Most Roman designers have heaped on the jeweled embroideries, laces and brocades with a steady diet it all becomes a bit too rich for the blood.

That's why Andre Laug's unassumingly handsome little collection comes like a breath of fresh air. His line is young and fresh, prim and proper.

Clean-lined, high-waisted redingotes sport huge saddlebag pockets set on the slant, or small, neat pocket flaps diagonally placed on the hip.

Curved seams exactly matched on coat and dress ensembles underline a small bust, or point up a slender waist. Sometimes these are used below the bust and at the hip for a corset midriff effect.

Models wear glazed serpent skin, open crown domes or helmets with matching belts. There are a few gold or silver long shirtwaisters, but even these have plain skirts and prim undorned collars and cuffs.

Laug is satisfied with two tiny rhinestone buttons to trim a slim sleeveless black cocktail fairly restrained, too. He uses dress. His one knockout number is a plain black tube, cut in two up the ends of long scarf collars diagonally at the midriff and laced together again with a same trim.

Doing the Right Thing

of the Emily Post Institute
SUMMER FUN IS ENHANCED BY THOUGHTFUL
PICNICKERS

Everyone loves a picnic. Almost everyone — that is. The manners of some picnickers are so atrocious that others prefer to stay in the seclusion of their homes. Why not try to add to the pleasure of those who love outdoor eating on beaches, in parks or on country roads by being thoughtful, neat, conscious of those who come later — in short, COURTEOUS — in your picnic manners?

If you can truthfully answer "yes" to all of the following questions, you are one of those who are welcome to picnic at any public or private area any place, any time.

1. Do you put out your beach fires with water before you leave? If you don't a breeze may blow sparks into dry beach grass, and if you cover it with sand, a barefoot bather may burn his feet terribly.

2. Do you keep your dog on a leash whether there are signs requiring it or not? Or, if not on a leash, close to you where he cannot molest or scare other picnickers?

3. Do you insist that your young children take their turns on swings or other playground equipment?

4. Do you pick up and take home all your unburnable refuse, or put it in a nearby litter basket?

5. Do you keep your toddlers from joining other groups—begging for food, spraying sand, plying relaxed sunbathers with questions, etc?

6. Do you forbid your small children to play in the surf unless you—not other swimmers—are there to watch them?

7. Do you insist that your teenagers refrain from playing frisbee, softball or touch football over, around, and through other groups of picnickers?

8. Do you remove your trash from public picnic tables, promptly leaving them clean and ready for the next group?

9. Do you see that your youngsters refrain from destroying flowers and plants in park areas?

10. Do you insist that your family throw candy wrappers, soft drink cans, etc. in trash barrels, or take them home to be disposed of?

Fashion Scene: Men Choose Nehru

Fashion is going back to school this fall, but students have learned a few lessons about that subject. The current trend to styled-up campus clothes is more evident at the high school level—but it is far from being unique in the halls of higher learning.

This year when you spot a man on a college campus wearing a tunic, it's a safe bet that he isn't an exchange student from Bombay. Rather than a locker key dangling from a cord around his neck, he is apt to be wearing either love beads or a pendant. The straight, baggy "meatball" suit and sport coat that was once the hall mark of the true collegian has given way to some definitely shaped models that are likely to have deep side vents or the deep center vent.

While there is nothing new about double-breasted blazers rating high in student wardrobes, the newer double-breasted models cut an updated figure. In addition to being decidedly "waisted," they are apt to have six- as well as four-buttons, and some will have a very deep inverted pleat at the back in place of the usual vent.

The younger teen men are also showing a great deal of enthusiasm for suits with panels, belts and interesting pocket treatments a part of the coats. Those casual suits have the added advantage of the coat being adaptable as a sport jacket.

Another high school winner is the double-breasted cardigan blazer, especially when it is teamed with the turtle-necks that are almost a must for wear with the blazers.

Obviously, not all of the campus crowd will go for the Guru look, and there will still be a strong showing of conservatively stylish suits and sport coats at most of the nation's colleges—but updated in color, pattern and silhouette.

Important among these will be the three-button vested suit in full-scale, harmoniously colored glen plaids, a very lively "country look" in colorful tweeds and chevrons and a host of dark blues, either plain or striped, an enduring part of the scene.

As far as the university sport coat is concerned, the plaids are still big and bold, but the colors are more apt to harmonize than to contrast as they did in recent years. None the less "sporting" in their newer concepts, the plaids, checks, windowpanes and tattersalls usually have at least one (sometimes two or three) bright accent shades in their pattern-work.

While the shetlands and tweeds with their lofty naps are still the style leaders in sport coats other than blazers, a new "smoother look" has been introduced this fall. Called "Saxony," this revived close-cropped cloth is a welcome addition to the casual coats.

As a matter of fact, some of the more restrained saxonies will be worn in glen plaids as part of the expanding "country look" trend. They lend themselves particularly well to the shaped, deeply vented models which combined with natural shoulders, will be the choice of students for fall 1968.

PERSIAN LAMB on the campus? It's definitely part of the booming popularity of furs for men.

EVEN GREEK-LETTER college men may find India more to their taste this fall, reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. For casual social events, the Nehru suit continues as the popular style. Every college man will want one in either single — or double-breasted styling, and he will complete the look with chains or apache scarves — or maybe both.

Tiny Tips

Burned Pie Crust
You've burned your pie crust and, worse yet, it's stuck. Try soaking it for a few minutes with a little liquid bleach in the water. The crust then comes off easily. Of course, the crust is wasted but you still have the pan, at least.

Stains in Plastic Cups
To remove coffee and tea stains in plastic cups, soak the cups in a solution of baking soda and water.

Stale Odors
Troubled by stale odors in a room? Leave a dish of household ammonia in the room overnight. Then if the stove needs to be cleaned, place the dish in the oven for a few hours—without heat, of course. The fumes will soften up the burned grease and make it much easier to clean.

To Wash Tennis Shoes
You can put white tennis shoes in the wash-rinse cycles of your washer. Not only will they come out fairly clean but polishing them while they're wet will give them a smooth finish without using too much polish.

Water Rusty
If the water supply in your area is rusty, do your laundry in two cycles. First do it the regular way; then rewash it using only detergent and no bleach.

Fashions Feature Jungle Beasts

By NADEANE WALKER
AP Fashion Writer

ROME (AP) — American Ken Scott caused a sensation Tuesday night with a dazzling fall and winter collection that turned models into sleek beasts of the jungle.

Always the showman, the American enfant terrible of Italian haute couture billed his presentation as the Ken Scott Circus. And a circus it was with real circus acts for openers and his own wares as the climax.

The "bravos" that greeted his line were among the loudest heard in the Italian fashion shows this week—and this includes those for Valentino, the Dior of Italy.

Prettiest in the Scott collection were his gypsy clothes. But the most breathtaking was the jungle group, for which the mannequins wore leopard and zebra dyed hair to match, and even elephant-ear hairdos which flapped past the shoulders.

The brilliant colors that have been largely absent from couture collections this season burst out in the Scott collection. Tiger prints in green, yellow and orange led off for beach and resort wear. Shirts covering bikinis were belted widely in bright leather. The gents' version was cut in old-fashioned one-piece style and printed with Gay Nineties wrestlers.

Plastic-coated prints made up raincoats gay enough to brighten the grayest day, with jungle animal, clown and mosaic prints repeated even in rain stockings. A group of all-beaded harlequin cat suits, ostrich ruffled, were billed for at home wear but looked much too attractive to be kept there.

Gypsy ladies in full-skirted, ruffle-hemmed colorful prints with plunging décolletage, were partnered by gypsy gentlemen in slim black trousers, brilliant metallic leather boleros, madly printed full-sleeved shirts, and flat black hats.

Pine Bush, Ulster, Hurley Advance

Town of Ulster All Stars nipped Rondout Valley All Stars, 2-1, in a brilliant pitching duel between Wally Houghtaling and Ernest Cesana in District 15 competition Wednesday.

In other games, Hurley All Stars advanced with a dramatic 4-2 victory over favored Highland; Kingston Jaycees toppled Kerhonkson, 8-4; and Pine Bush overpowered Esopus All Stars, 7 to 2.

Houghtaling of Ulster limited Rondout to only one hit, a second inning single by Corey Schoonmaker, struck out seven and walked one. He choked off a big Rondout threat by retiring the side after the losers had loaded the bases with no outs in the fifth.

Cesana, who hurled a 7-hit performance, struck out 11, was nipped for the winning run in the bottom of the fifth. On two occasions, he snuffed out Ulster threats by retiring the side with runners on second and third and no outs. Dave Decker collected a double and two singles and drove in an Ulster tally. Ed Jasinski knocked in the Rondout tally.

Gary Littlefield, the No. 5 batter for Hurley, powered a dramatic three-run homer in the top of the sixth for his team's victory margin. The winners trailed 2-1 going into the last inning when Littlefield connected off Danny of Esopus, including a home run and single by winning pitcher Vic Napolitano.

Jack Adams homered for Pine Bush. Don Sheeley stroked three singles. Neil and Mike Henry accounted for doubles.

Napolitano, who gave way to Rusty Bonney when Pine Bush built up a 6-0 lead, fanned seven. The two Esopus hits were singles by Tom Naccarato and Charles Barton.

Semi-final action in the District 15 tournament is scheduled Friday.

The scores:

Esopus All Stars (2)	Pine Bush (7)

Nixon Savors His Revenge

By FRANK DE GEORGES
UPI Sports Writer

Russ Nixon savored the fruits of revenge Wednesday night and he found the taste sweet and to his liking.

The veteran 33-year-old Nixon, who was released by the Minnesota Twins in spring training, came back to haunt the old club with a three-run double in the ninth inning to give the Boston Red Sox a 6-5 triumph.

"Being released wasn't that big a thing to me," said Nixon, who had been activated Wednesday from Boston's Pittsfield, Mass., farm team. "But it was nice to get that hit. When I got down to Orlando, Fla., this spring, it was no secret that I didn't have much of a chance to make the Twins, but I thought they'd at least offer me a job."

"I've spent 15 or 16 years in the game, mostly with the Indians and the Red Sox—and I thought I could help the Twins in some way. It's a good thing I have friends elsewhere," the catcher said, referring to Dick O'Connell, general manager of the Boston club.

Oakland Beat Tigers
Elsewhere in the AL, Oakland edged Detroit, 3-2. Chicago whitewashed Baltimore, 1-0. Washington trimmed New York, 2-1, and Cleveland beat California, 4-2.

The Red Sox set the stage for Nixon's game-winning hit when Rico Petrocelli doubled and Joe Foy and Dalton Jones walked. Nixon then delivered his game-winning blow on a 3-2 pitch by reliever Al Worthington.

Minnesota made it close with two runs in the ninth, but Lee Stange retired Jim Holt on a groundout with the tying run on third to end the game.

Jim "Catfish" Hunter picked up his first victory in nearly a month as he hurled the Athletics to victory. Hunter, who had gone the distance only twice since pitching a perfect game against Minnesota, May 8, held the league-leading Tigers to six hits in posting his seventh victory of the year. A go-ahead single by John Donaldson in the second and Rick Monday's two-run homer accounted for Oakland's runs.

Balk Scores Run
Tom McCraw scored the only run of the game on Tom Phoebus' fourth-inning balk as the Orioles' seven-game winning streak came to an end. McCraw singled, stole second, went to third when a Phoebus wild pitch bounced off catcher Andy Etchebarren and rolled nearly to third base, and forced the balk with his base-running. Winner Joe Horlen allowed the Orioles four hits before he was relieved by Wilbur Wood in the eight and Hoyt Wilhelm came on in the ninth.

Shortstop Larry Brown drove in three runs and collected three hits to pace the Indians. The triumph enabled the Indians to move into a virtual second-place tie with Baltimore. Steve Hargan went six innings for his sixth victory against 10 losses.

Nats Wilt Yanks, 2-1

New York (UPI)—Del Unser's single drove home Ed Brinkman with the winning run in the seventh inning Wednesday and Denis Higgins chocked off a late Yankee threat as the Washington Senators broke a nine game losing streak with a 2-1 triumph over New York.

With Washington leading 1-0 Brinkman beat out an infield hit and advanced to second on a sacrifice by starting pitcher Camilo Pascual. Unser then followed with his game winning hit.

The Senators opened the scoring in the fourth off loser Mel Stottlemyre on successive singles by Cap Peterson, Bill Bryan and Frank Howard.

New York knocked Pascual out in the seventh when Andy Kosco lead off with a single and after Jake Gibbs, walked Bobby Cox singled to drive home Kosco.

Higgins came on to walk Charlie Smith, loading the bases, but got Horace Clark and Roy White on infield grounders to end the threat.

Pascual picked up his third straight victory over New York this season despite pitching in 112-degree heat. It was his ninth win against six setbacks.

Stottlemyre took his sixth loss against 12 victories.

Met-Pirates Split

Bucs Rout Koosman But Lose to Koonce

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Reserve shortstop Jose Pagan booted Don Bosch's grounder in the sixth inning allowing Jerry Grote to score from second base with the lead run as the New York Mets defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-4, Wednesday night and snapped a six-game losing streak.

Gene Alley drove in two runs and Willie Stargell hit his 15th homer of the season leading the Pirates to an 8-2 victory behind Steve Blass' eight-hit pitching in the first game.

Ed Charles singled to open the three-run sixth and Grote singled him to second. Ron Swoboda batted for Art Shamsky and blooped a single to center, scoring Charles with Grote holding second. Pagan then booted Bosch's grounder, scoring Grote.

Koonce In Relief
Cal Koonce, who won his first game in relief, walked to load the bases and Swoboda scored on Bud Harrelson's ground-out. Harrelson walked in the third, took second on a ground-out and scored on Cleon Jones' double. Charles' single scored Jones.

The Pirates scored two in the fifth. Gary Kolb walked and Pagan was hit by starter Don Cardwell. Jerry May, attempting to sacrifice, forced Kolb at third. Manny Jimenez batted for starter Tom Sisk and singled to right, scoring Pagan. Al McBean ran for Jimenez and was forced at second. Alley singled to left scoring May.

Matty Alou bunted for a single in the first, took second on a wild pitch and scored on successive ground-outs.

The Pirates scored their final run in the eighth when Alou singled and was forced at second by Alley. Stargell singled to right and Alley came all the way around to score when Swoboda was slow in retrieving the ball.

Walker Is Victim
Luke Walker, second of four Pirate pitchers, lost his third straight against no victories.

Flood KO's Braves Game

If you can imagine a baseball team getting "flooded out" during this searing heat wave, well, it happened to the Kingston Braves last night at Dietz Stadium.

General Manager Fred Davi of the Kingston club was forced to cancel last night's scheduled contest with the Newburgh Atoms, because the running track which encircles the baseball diamond at Dietz was deep in water.

Rookie League is so backed up now that the league can be expected to start booking tripleheaders.

The Braves, leading the second round of the Rookie League, will give it another try Friday night against the Florida Comets, when it can be reasonably expected, the flood waters will have receded.

The drainage situation being what it is at Dietz, the obvious conclusion was that just too much water was dumped on the stadium track and at 6 p. m. last night the stadium was no fit place for baseball.

And who authorized the flooding of the Dietz track?

Well, nobody in an official capacity was available for comment this morning. Repeated efforts to reach Andrew Murphy III, the city Superintendent of Recreation, proved fruitless.

Davi took the cancellation in good humor. After all, in this year of record postponements because of rain, why fret about another one. The Hudson Valley

New Book Tells Story of the Kennedys

The Kennedys have had it all.

From hunger in Ireland to realization, three generations later, of the American Dream. Wealth. Position. Power.

And they have seen the dream become nightmare.

The violence done them by fate is cruel enough. But the violence done them by the dark side of the human mind has appalled the nation and the world.

The story of this American family, what has been given it and what has been taken from it, is as fantastic as it is frightening.

Once before the Associated Press has chronicled a shocking tragedy of this afflicted family in "The Torch Is Passed", one of the largest selling books of all time, and the classic account of the assassination of President Kennedy.

Now, in a time of national shock and sympathy, the AP is producing another book on this fated family.

It is called "Triumph and Tragedy: The Story of the Kennedys." Many of those who wrote "The Torch Is Passed" are at work on the new project. It will be a hard-bound book fully illustrated in color and black and white, a fitting memoir of one of the most shocking personal and public tragedies of American history.

To reserve your copy, send only $3 now to "Triumph and Tragedy: The Story of the Kennedys" in care of this newspaper. The book will be mailed you just as soon as it is available.

Heinz Mews to Defend Wiltwyck Invitational Title

LEON RANDALL

RONNIE MARKS

Heinz Mews, the 1-handicap player from Dogwood Knolls in Hopewell Junction, is defending champion in the 11th annual Wiltwyck Invitational Tournament which gets underway Friday at the uptown links.

But the man who has dominated the event through the years is club member Harvey Bostic, who goes into this year's competition with four wins and one runnerup slot in 10 years.

Leon Randall has won a pair of Invitational, with two runnersup spots. Solo winners besides Mews are Bill Kaufman, Bob Botsford of Dutchess; and Ronnie Marks, a former Wiltwyck player who now resides in Colorado but will be on hand for the tournament.

Bostic captured the inaugural Invitational in 1958 defeating his golf crony, Leon Randall, 3 and 2. Leon reversed the score a year later. Bostic then went on to win again in 1960 and back to back 1965-66, the only player to achieve that feat.

Randall and Bostic are the only scratch players in the field, but Tournament Director Richard Davenport says several other topnotchers are listed among the maximum field of 128 entries.

In addition to Smith, the 2-handicappers are Sal Molella, Boulder, Colorado, carries a 4-handicap. He is back in Kings Millbrook Country Club champion on vacation.

Qualifying round is scheduled Friday, with the low 16 shooters qualifying for the Championship Flight. Players in this flight play 36 holes a day on Saturday and Sunday.

A consolation round is scheduled Sunday.

The usual round of socials will be held in conjunction with the tournament. A cocktail hour is scheduled Friday night and dinner-dance on Saturday.

Prizes will be awarded at the conclusion of the competition on Sunday.

Cottons Hammer Schrade in ESL

The softball playing Cotton Brothers, Dick and Charlie, went wild last night in the Ellenville Softball League, driving in seven runs between them leading Hotel Shanley to a 12-0, upset win over defending champ, Schrade Walden. The game was halted after five on the 10-run rule.

The Cottons teed off on SW hurler, Kingstonian Bob (Nippy) Lasher, Dick belting a single, double and homer and Charlie clouting a triple and two home runs.

Dick led the game off, plunking Lasher's first delivery for a double. Charlie caught pitch number two for a triple and scored on a wild pitch. Dick Conklin then singled and Leon Julian homered to make it 4-0 after one.

In the second, winning pitcher Buck Farmer singled and Dick poled the first of his round trippers, sending this one way over the right-centerfield fence. Charlie followed with his circuit blast.

Dick led off the fourth with a bunt single and came all the way home as two wild throws ensued.

In the fifth, Art Jackson singled, scored on Bill Stone's double, then Joe Logan was hit by a pitch, and after two out, Charlie plowed his second of the game, sending the two home and himself to close out the scoring.

The victory tightens things up. SW is now 7-3. Wright's who battles the Hotel tonight, is 6-3. The Hotel is 6-4. Silver Grill is 5-5 and Eddie's is 0-9.

In Mid-Hudson Classic

Wiltwyck Juniors Beaten First Time

Wiltwyck Country Club's junior golf team lost its first match in three years of Mid-Hudson Junior Golf Classic competition this week. But there was a catch to it. It was the second team that dipped Wiltwyck's banner after 13 consecutive victories and two MHJG championships.

While the big guns—Ed Byman, Joe Bostic and Werner Kollin—were in Albany trying to qualify for the USGA National Juniors, the second line Wiltwyck squad bowed to Winding Brook of Valatie, 359 strokes to 343.

Woodstock Country Club and Catskill tied with 370 strokes. Columbia Country Club posted 425 and Red Hook was last with 437. For the second straight week, The Twaalfskill Club failed to field a team.

Fourteen-year-old Bobby Byman of Wiltwyck was the only player in the field to break 80 over the par 36-36-72 layout. Jim Pickler and Peter Bolton of Winding Brook had 82 and 86, respectively. Pickler fired 42-40 and Bolton, 43-43. Bill Fitzpatrick of Catskill had 44-45-83.

Low net honors went to Warren Shaw of Red Hook on 89-18-71. Other lows: Dave Rood, Winding Brook, 88-15-73; John Buoymaster, Woodstock, 90-16-74; Mike Lewis, Red Hook, 97-23-74.

Aggregate totals after two rounds of play are: Wiltwyck 637, Winding Brook 678, Woodstock 694, Catskill 712, Columbia 762, Red Hook 779.

Snead: "I Got Right Mental Attitude"

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Sam Snead, at his peak as a money-winner in the twilight of his career, today faced the task of beating the heat, old age, an antagonistic course and a field of 167 to win a coveted fourth PGA championship.

But Snead, at 56, is ready. "I got the right mental attitude about it," he said after a two-over-par 72 practice round Wednesday. "I'm not going at it like it's win this or else. If you've won it once, then the second, third and fourth times aren't so hard."

"It won't be as hard as, say for Arnold Palmer, who's been trying so hard to win this one."

Barbers Victor In Saugerties

Mouse Wolven, Michael's Barber Shop hurler, was able to come up with the big out when he needed it, seventh inning included, as he nipped a two-run Statewide rally in the final frame before things got dangerous and gave the Barber's a 4-2 Saugerties Softball League Yankee Division victory.

Wolven, who had stranded a dozen baserunners for Statewide Upholstery, almost frittered away a 4-0 lead going to that final stanza.

A double by Jim Farrell drove in Michael's first tally, coming in the second inning. A trio of runs came in the very next frame when Bill Hand-doubled, Bill Fisher's single resulted in a wild relay throw and Buster Buel's sacrifice fly sent Fischer in from third.

Statewide's two runs were in and none were out in the final inning, but Wolven set down the next three batters to close out the victory.

Wolven struck out 13, walked nine. Bob Campbell, Statewide pitcher, walked four, whiffed nine.

Abernathy Gives Bristol Hope

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

Manager Dave Bristol has an underhanded reason for insisting his Cincinnati Reds should still be regarded as serious National League pennant contenders.

The reason is Ted Abernathy.

Toledo Batter Finally Bests Wings Pitcher

By United Press International

All-Star pitcher Rick Delgado of Rochester faced All-Star infielder Dave Campbell of Toledo Wednesday night, and for a change, it was the hitter who came out on top.

Campbell, named to the International League All-Star team Tuesday, slammed a grand slam homer off Delgado, now 8-4, in the bottom of the fifth to lead a Mud Hen rally which turned a 5-1 deficit to an eventual 8-6 victory. The win increased Toledo's first place lead to 3 1/2 games over the second place Red Wings.

In other IL action, Columbus routed Richmond 15-3 and Louisville edged Jacksonville 4-3 in the only other games scheduled.

Elvio Jimenez hit his ninth and 10th homers of the season to lead Columbus and Jim Shellenbach, now 3-5, to its convincing victory. Frank Kreutzer was charged with his eighth loss in nine decisions for the Braves.

a 35-year old much-traveled submarine ball relief pitcher, who is compiling an eye-popping record during a season in which remarkable pitching performances have been commonplace.

The 6-foot, 4-inch right-hander from Stanley, N.C., who has pitched for five major league teams since 1960, has appeared in no fewer than 45 games, sports a 7.1 record and a glittering 0.79 earned run average. He has allowed seven earned runs in 80 innings and prevented a Cincinnati staff plagued by sore arms from falling apart completely.

O' Abby, as he is known by his teammates, pitched 1 2/3 innings of shutout relief to earn his seventh victory of the season Wednesday night when the Reds ended a seven-game losing streak with a 7-4 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers. The victory enabled the Reds to gain ground on all four teams currently ahead of them, including the first-place St. Louis Cardinals who were leading 6-0 behind Bob Gibson when their game with the San Francisco Giants was rained out after four complete innings.

The Chicago Cubs scored an 8-4 triumph and then lost to the Philadelphia Phillies 8-0, the Houston Astros defeated the Atlanta Braves 5-2 and the New York Mets beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 after losing 8-2 in other National League games.

Pinch-hitter Mack Jones snapped a 4-4 tie with a two-run double in the eighth inning and scored the third run of the game on Vada Pinson's sacrifice fly to give Abernathy and the Reds the win. The winning rally came against Jim Grant, whose record was squared at 4-4.

Ernie Banks drove in six runs with two homers and a single and Bill Hands went 7-2 in innings for his ninth victory for the Cubs in their opener. The Phillies gained a split in the doubleheader when Jeff James pitched his first shutout and drove in a run with his first major league hit in the nightcap. James was backed by homers by Don Lock, Johnny Callison and Cookie Rojas. Doug Grader and pitcher Danny Coombs drove in two runs each as the Astros rallied for four runs in the sixth inning. Jim Britton had a one-hitter with two out in the sixth when the Astros filled the bases on Norm Miller's single and two walks. Rader's single kayoed Britton and Coombs later completed the rally with a two-run single off Ken Johnson.

Paulak Rolls 556

It's Pitcher-Batter World But Fielders Have LL Day

Much emphasis — some say too much — is always placed on the batting and strikeout kings in Little League baseball. So it is refreshing to report about some fielders for a change. Specifically, Pat (Pee Wee) Howard, a 3-foot 10-inch giant of the American Little League, and other lads like Guy Miller, Martin Schleede, and 9-year-old Rich Naccarato and Shawn Schick, who turned in spectacular fielding plays to preserve Montgomery Ward's 8-6 win over Moose Lodge in the American League first round championship clincher.

First Half Finals

Montgomery Ward ..... 7
Rondout National Bank ..... 4
Fraser Meyer Maytag ..... 4
Moose Club ..... 3
Lions Club ..... 2

IN ADDITION to his fielding gems, Pat Howard came to the plate with the bases loaded. He had been struck out twice previously, but this time he cleared the bases with a slam

The American League was not without its other heroes. Ernie McGowan of Fraser lashed a triple, double and two singles in a 13-4 win over Lions. Bill Francis slugged three singles and four RBIs for Lions Club.

John Thomas had a three-single game for Moose and Louis Eccleston was "4 for 4," 2 doubles, 2 singles.

DOUG BELL of the Esopus Dodgers pitched 1-hitter. Hit 2 doubles in 2-1 win over Braves.

Dodgers scored 10 runs in 6th, knocked in three runs with three hits for the Tigers.

Cliff Lyons, Fire Department, tossed 1-hitter and fanned 10 Dodgers. Collected two singles. Charles Barton, Yankees, 1-hitter Callanan Mets 3-hitter. Bob Kelly whiffed 16 in 5-1 win over Cubs. Quincy Bowen lost 3-hitter.

Joe Primo, Giants, fanned 15, hit single-double in 12-3 romp over Cubs. Joe Pugliese hit a Giant homer. Later Primo fanned 13 but lost 3-2 to Tom Johnson (11Ks) and the Pirates. Bob Kelly whiffed 15 but lost 3-hitter to Rich Terpening's 1-double and two singles. Bob Van Kleeck homered for the Indians and Sean Cafferty had 4-hit, 3-0 shutout over Cubs, and 3-hit, 5-2 win over Dodgers. Fred Bell of the Braves slammed double, 2 singles.

Cubs, behind Vin Yonta, topped Giants, 9-2. Cubs got only two hits off Bill Dart and Tim Johnson's double, 2 singles. Lee Houghtaling, But 8 errors, gles, led Pirates to 17-4 victory ugh! Ed Duffy stroked 3 singles over Braves. Rick Polacco and as Pirates edged Braves, 13-12. Lou DeCicco combined on 2-Frank McCloskey (P) home run. hitter.

200 City Children To Paint In Friday

More than 200 city children are expected to participate in Paint In Friday at the Kingston Plaza.

The first annual event is being sponsored by the Kingston City Parks and Recreation Department. It is part of the overall recreation program stressing the needs of the non-athletic child as well as the sports-minded. All city children may take part whether or not they are affiliated with a park program.

Arrangements are under the direction of Andrew J. Murphy, Parks and Recreation superintendent and Ron Gabriele, director of activities.

A large area of the parking lot at the Plaza will be roped off for the children of the various playgrounds. Each child will be provided with various colors of water-based Tempera paint. They will then design pictures of their own choosing on the pavement. Awards will be presented on the basis of: most original drawing, prettiest drawing, funniest drawing and most unusual drawing.

The program starts at 11 a.m. and will conclude shortly after 2 p.m. After the judges have made their decisions, the paintings will be washed away by city fire trucks.

This is the first time that an endeavor of this nature has been tried in Kingston and in the interest of making the Paint-In successful, all youngsters in the City of Kingston may come to the Plaza on Friday and display their artistic skill.

Dear Abby

Should Have Taken Advice

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1968 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Remember me? I wrote to you 6 years ago, and her I am again. I should have taken your advice because things aren't any better. I am still living with the same woman I wrote you about. I think the world of her, but her kids keep me upset all the time.

I built this beautiful home for them, and it is always a mess. Her kids are now 17, 15, and 13 and they're all lazy as pet coons. They have no respect for their mother, and she won't let me handle them.

I would marry her tomorrow, but she is very independent and likes things the way they are. (The kids think we're married.) What is wrong with her, anyway? It's usually the woman who begs for marriage, but in this case, it's me. So what is your advice?

DEAR LIVING: Lots of things could be "wrong" with her but don't waste too much time trying to figure them out. You can't force a woman to marry you, and from your description of her and her brood you could be lucky. Ask a lawyer what your legal obligations are to this woman and her children. A man in your situation ought to know where he stands.

DEAR ABBY: I taught school and didn't marry until I was 33. Andrew was 37 and had never been married before, either. He lived with his mother, but said we would have a place of our own when we married. We did, but in less than a year his mother got "lonesome" and moved in with us. Our house is small, but it did have two bedrooms, so I fixed

Nonconformity Confuses South

By Oswald and James Jacoby

An expert defender frequently makes an unsound play from choice. He is sure that the expert declarer won't expect him to make that mistake.

West opened the deuce of spades against South's six-diamond contract. He led his sixth best on the theory that one just doesn't lead normally against slams.

East went right up with the ace and returned the three of clubs. This surely was an unsound play and gave declarer a chance to let the club ride around to his queen but East was sure that declarer would not. Obviously, declarer would have some way to play the heart suit to get rid of any losing clubs and obviously declarer would not jeopardize his contract at trick two.

East would have done just as well to return a spade or a trump but East did not see the jack of clubs in his partner's hand and wanted to make declarer commit himself in clubs right away.

Sure enough, declarer went up with the ace of clubs. Then he proceeded to draw trumps with two leads and to consider the heart suit. He needed four heart tricks to allow two club discards.

He could finesse directly against West but that play had one up for Mother B. with a new TV, which she rarely turns on. She comes to our bedroom and sits on our bed (even when we are in it) and watches whatever we're watching. After we turn out our light she sits on a chair in our bedroom and reads with a flashlight. And she doesn't leave until she thinks we are both asleep.

There is no lock on our bedroom door. Mother B. has four other children. They never ask her to their homes, but they run in to say "hi" to her on their way somewhere. Her health is good and she could afford to live alone.

I am at the breaking point, Abby. I have considered asking Andrew to make a choice between his mother and me, but I'm afraid he'd choose her. I can't take this much longer. What should I do?

DEAR DESPERATE: Have a long talk with Andrew. Explain your need for privacy, and ask him to convey it to his mother. Insist on a lock for your bedroom door. If Andrew refuses, then face it, he has already made his choice.

DEAR ABBY: I was amused to read that letter from the girl whose boy friend supposedly didn't know how to kiss. All I can say is — I should be so lucky.

More than once I've had to push my dates away in disgust because of their aggressive "bedroom" kisses. There is a time and place for everything, and a doorstep after a date is not the place for a kiss like that.

A "shy" kisser can become a bit more bold in time, but an aggressive kisser can never be toned down. I don't feel any sympathy for Jake's girl. I just wish I could meet Jake.

Some Quotes From Television Scene

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Quotable quotes from the television scene: —From the current issue of TV Guide Magazine, in an editorial about video violence: "The television industry's initial response to public outcry against violence in America was to be expected. In effect it was: 'It isn't our fault. We didn't do it, and furthermore we won't do it again.'"

"Network officials, who usually there is a world of difference between, say, Simon and Garfunkel, or Peter, Paul and Mary, and this riot of the soul, out that there is no conclusive evidence that television violence has any impact on the nation, grading."

—From Mae West, who has a planned television special in the works for Robert Wise Productions, in an interview with I've Kaufman of the Hollywood trade paper "Variety":

"College kids see my pictures on TV, and I'm getting lots of fan mail because of it. They have formed a fan club, and because they would rather feel now it's worldwide. In the last five years, I made two rock-and-roll albums, I was a blues singer, and there is a similarity between blues and rock. One of my albums sold 100,000 copies."

—From W.C. Fields, in a televised movie in which he hung over in a ship cabin one morning after considerable drinking the night before, and a friend enters:

Friend: "How do you feel?" Fields: "Like a June bride." Friend: "How does a June bride feel?" Fields: "I wonder...I wonder...I wonder..."

LBJ's Hawaiian Summit

No New Developments Are Expected

By MERRIMAN SMITH

UPI White House Reporter
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Despite persistent rumors that news of extraordinary importance on the Vietnam War might come from President Johnson's Hawaiian summit this weekend, U.S. officials today expected less than dramatic developments.

Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were to fly nonstop to Honolulu today shortly before noon CDT for talks Friday and Saturday with South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu and his advisers. U.S. officials expected the Johnson-Thieu private talks to consist primarily of a review of the military and political situation in Vietnam, an appraisal of future moves by North Vietnam and the Viet Cong, and possible countermeasures by the United States, its allies and South Vietnam.

U.S. officials believed the staffs of the two presidents would confer while Johnson and Thieu met privately. This did

Clifford, Wheeler Attend

The President and Rusk arrive after an eight-hour flight to join Defense Secretary Clark Clifford, Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, and Ellsworth D. Bunker, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, who were in Vietnam earlier this week.

In any case, Clifford, Wheeler and Assistant Secretary of State William P. Bundy will report to Johnson at some length tonight on their recent appraisal mission to Vietnam.

This dinner-table discussion was expected to have an important influence on how Johnson approaches his direct talks with Thieu.

Seek New Promises

American sources more or less expected Thieu to seek some form of renewed assurances from Johnson of continued U.S. support for the Saigon regime.

With his own party under mounting political pressure for more substantive signs of progress in the painful conflict, Johnson also might feel the time has come to seek some assurances from Thieu—assurances the South Vietnamese will continue to improve and expand their own participation in the war effort.

Despite the potential for major issues between the two presidents, U.S. officials said there were no particularly urgent political or military questions requiring a summit at this time; that the meeting was essentially an interim replacement for a state visit to Washington Thieu had hoped to make earlier this summer.

The three victims, trapped when their car was crushed by a dump truck (background), died screaming as an explosion and fire drove back would-be rescuers. The truck, loaded with five tons of zinc, bounced off another auto and came down on top of the victim's car. Five more cars then plowed into the wreckage, injuring four persons. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

B52s Hit Hard At North Viet

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. B52 Stratofortresses flew their fourth successive day of raids into North Vietnam today and bombed surface-to-air missile sites for the first time in the war, U.S. headquarters said.

Because they are highly vulnerable to the surface-to-air missiles (SAMs), the B52s until recently have ventured into North Vietnam only occasionally. Today they went after the weapons that threaten them the most there—the SAMs.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said 157 government soldiers were killed and 600 wounded in that seven-day span, the lowest toll of the year.

They hit SAM firing positions four and 11 miles above the Demilitarized Zone separating the two Vietnams, spokesmen said. No SAMs were reported fired. The United States has never lost a B52 in combat.

The U.S. command, meantime, disclosed the third lowest weekly American casualty toll of the year last week—188 servicemen killed and 1,337 wounded, continuing a four-week dropoff in fighting and American losses.

Communist deaths for the same week were set at 874, perhaps the lowest in 18 months, and brought guerrilla losses since Jan. 1, 1961, to 371,003, U.S. spokesmen said.

Stratofortresses also lashed deeper into North Vietnam, 12 and 15 miles above the DMZ, for strikes against truck unloading points, construction equipment and troop concentrations. The strikes today centered where U.S. Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said the Communists were regrouping and refitting for an offensive in South Vietnam's northern quarter.

To the south Viet Cong raiders abducted 20 Vietnamese teen-agers from a coastal hamlet Wednesday, killed two civilians on Saigon's doorstep and derailed a train carrying vegetables to Central Highland markets, military spokesmen said today.

The kidnapping of 20 youngsters from Lai Chan hamlet on the central coast Wednesday night provided further evidence that Communists were building up their supply of forced labor to carry supplies during the impending offensive, spokesmen said.

Another Communist group dashed into a farming village five miles east-southeast of Saigon on the same night and killed two civilians, spokesmen said.

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The arrival in Vientiane Friday night, or possibly a week later, of three more American fliers freed by the North Vietnamese may touch off a new dispute over the insistence of the U.S. government that released prisoners be interrogated before they leave Southeast Asia.

North Vietnamese delegate Xuan Thuy announced at the Paris peace talks on July 3 that the three American airmen would be released for "humanitarian reasons." At the Paris meeting Wednesday, their names were announced. They are:

Maj. James Frederick Loew, 43, of San Jose, Calif., a Korean war ace captured Dec. 16, 1967. His wife lives in Newton, N.C.

Maj. Fred Neale Thompson, 32, captured last March 20. His family lives at Taylors, N.C.

Capt. Joe Victor Carpenter, 37, captured last Feb. 15, from Victorville, Calif.

North Vietnam has openly sought to exploit the propaganda value of the releases, particularly by involving members of American antiwar movements.

"We want the Americans to know that we have no quarrel with the peace-loving American people, but only with aggressive military and government circles," a North Vietnamese Embassy official commented.

Last February, Dave Dellinger, "national mobilization coordinator" of the peace movement, was asked by telegram to send a group of peace campaigners to Hanoi to escort the first freed prisoners back to Vietnam.

On this occasion he has sent Stewart Meacham of Philadelphia, peace secretary of the American Friends Service Committee; Anne Scheer of Berkeley, Calif., wife of Ramparts magazine editor Robert Scheer, and Vernon Grizzard of Cambridge, Mass., an antidraft organizer.

Engines Rush to a False Alarm While Flames Kill 11 in Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Nine children and two adults died early today when fire flashed through a frame-and-stucco private home occupied by three families in St. Albans, Queens.

Another child jumped from a second floor window into a neighbor's arms and was saved. Police said five persons were treated at Mary Immaculate Hospital and released.

John T. O'Hagan, chief of the fire department, said that if it had not been for a false alarm sounded moments earlier "many if not all of these fatalities may have been avoided."

As it was the first alarm was sounded by a neighbor, Audrey Stewart, who lives in the adjacent building on Mexico Street near 180th Street.

"I heard some crackling in the back of the house next door and looked out the window," she said. "I could see the flames shooting up from the kitchen." She ran to a nearby fire box.

The time was 1:17 a.m. The local fire equipment was out responding to the false alarm at nearby Linden Boulevard and 180th Street.

A hook-and-ladder truck returning from that alarm saw the flames and called for more equipment. By 1:43 a.m. the blaze was declared under control and firemen went inside. Then they discovered the bodies.

Police identified the dead as: Mrs. Bessie Perry, 29, and her four children, Charlene, 2, Denise, 4, Reginald, 6, and Jamie, 8; Bobbie Janie Gibson, 10 months; and her sisters, Sheila, 4, and Bertha, 7; Darlene Black, 2, and her sister, Sheila, 9, and Charles Holst, 24.

The toll was the highest in the city since a blaze last Jan. 10 took the lives of nine children and four adults in a Brooklyn tenement.

Police picked up a 19-year-old medical corpsman attached to the St. Albans Naval Hospital for questioning in connection with the false alarm.

As firemen removed the bodies from the badly burned building, many residents of the area stood silently and watched.

Four of the children were found in the attic. The other seven victims were found on the second floor.

Charles Short, 21, a neighbor, was watching television when he heard the flames, he said.

Short and a friend ran to the burning house and kicked in the front door but were pushed back by the smoke and heat.

One fireman carried out the body of 10-month-old Bobbie Jeanie Gibson and placed it in a police emergency truck, then walked away and began to sob.

"If it hadn't been for the false alarm, they wouldn't be dead," he told other firemen who tried to console him.

Sickler Surrenders

By WALTER S. CLARK

Although branded as dangerous by authorities, 27-year-old Gary Sickler, a paroled rapist and accused slayer of a 20-year-old Wappingers Falls woman, who escaped from custody in front of the Dutchess County courthouse, was captured without resistance Wednesday night in a wooded area a few miles south of Poughkeepsie.

The unshaven, hungry and tired ex-convict was bitten on most of his body by insects that he encountered as he sneaked through heavy underbrush during his 35 hours of freedom in an attempt to make a getaway from the area that was surrounded by police.

Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan had received a tip from an employee of the Pennsylvania-Central Railroad earlier in the day that he had seen a man answering Sickler's description acting suspiciously in underbrush alongside the railroad tracks near the Hudson River just outside the Town of Wappinger hamlet of Chelsea.

Surrounded Waterfront

Deputy sheriffs and other police swarmed into the area and under the direction of Quinlan surrounded a large section of waterfront along the river.

The heavily armed searchers were aided by a helicopter pilot and bloodhounds as they groped their way through brush looking for the prisoner, who slipped out of handcuffs after 11 a.m. Tuesday as he and other inmates of the Dutchess County jail were being led to a van in front of the courthouse in Poughkeepsie.

Using powerful lights and taking every precaution against possible harm, the searchers got instructions from Quinlan after 10 p.m. to close in and flush out Sickler if he was in the wooded area. At 10:15 a.m. the posse moved in and Deputy Sheriff Donald Cassavant saw an object crouching on the ground. The object was Sickler who was collared without incident.

Sickler was wearing dark slacks and shoes. When he escaped from Deputy Sheriff George Metzger he wore a white shirt, but during his flight through the underbrush he discarded the shirt apparently to avoid detection.

The fugitive was immediately handcuffed and whisked away in custody of armed guards and returned to the county jail on North Hamilton Street, from which he had escaped last May 12 after lifting a loose steel plate on top of his cell and lowering himself to the ground by means of bed sheets that he fashioned into a rope.

Solitary Confinement

The accused slayer of Miss Kathleen Taylor of Wappingers Falls was placed in solitary confinement in the jail after being examined by a physician and treated for the insect bites and scratches.

Quinlan said Sickler could give no reason why he bolted from the deputy sheriffs Tuesday morning, nor could he say where he intended to go. At the time of his capture he was heading toward the City of Beacon where he was accused of raping a 9-year-old girl several years ago. He was convicted of that crime and served eight years of a sentence in Green Haven Prison before he was paroled more than a year ago.

The escape of Sickler earlier this week brought criticism from some sources. Dutchess County Democratic Chairman George Whalen yesterday called for creation of a special fact-finding committee by the Board of Supervisors to prove the circumstances surrounding Sickler's escape.

Whalen said he had reports of incidents at the jail such as "burnings," "brandings" and "assaults" by prisoners on other inmates. He did not elaborate.

Commenting on criticism of his department, Quinlan said, "I know people will be angry at my department. I don't blame them for being disturbed. All I can say is that I had no control over the situation at the time. I didn't supervise the handcuffing of Sickler to make sure he was secure."

Quinlan noted that Metzger, a veteran retired patrolman, said that he apparently had not tightened Sickler's handcuffs sufficiently before taking him from the courthouse after a pre-trial hearing.

Meanwhile, District Attorney John R. Heilman Jr., called the grand jury into special session to investigate the circumstances of the recent escape. Heilman said the escape again points up the need for better security and declared the problem should be given top priority.

Czechs Say They'll Fight Russian Force

By JAMES O. JACKSON

PRAGUE (UPI)—Czech Communist leaders today rejected Soviet demands they drop their drive for more democracy. They told the Kremlin that Czechs would battle a return to Stalinism.

This nation's new Communist reform leadership said in an open letter to Moscow that bringing back the old system would "imperial the party's leading role and would create a situation in which a power conflict would really arise."

The Czech defiance of Moscow came amid diplomatic reports from London and the Soviet capital that the Kremlin leaders might use force on Czechoslovakia.

Party sources here said President Tito of Yugoslavia has volunteered to fly to Prague to aid the Czech Communists in their struggle with Moscow. They said the Yugoslav Communist leader would fly here Friday or Saturday if his offer is accepted.

The Czech Communist reformers led by Alexander Dubcek gave no indication of backing down in one of the East bloc's greatest crisis since Russian troops smashed the Hungarian uprising in 1956.

In their letter to Moscow, published in special newspaper editions that sold out in 15 minutes to Prague crowds, Dubcek's regime said his countrymen would not stand for halting their push toward "democratizing" the country.

"Any indication of a return to these (Stalinist) methods would evoke the resistance of the overwhelming majority of party members, the resistance of the working class, the workers, cooperative farmers and the intelligentsia," the Czech message said.

At the same time, the Czechs pledged themselves loyal to Communism and to the Soviet-led bloc. But they denied the charges—contained in a Soviet-East German-Bulgarian-Hungarian-Polish joint letter Wednesday—that their program was the product of imperialism and counter-revolutionaries and threatened the security of the East bloc.

The Czechs put the blame for interbloc woe to some extent on the Russians. They cited the ominous lingering in this country of Soviet forces that came for bloc maneuvers last month and still have not left—18 days after the war games ended.

Alexander Dubcek, the Czech Communist leader under fire from the Russians for his program for more democracy in this country, is engaged in a long distance duel with Soviet party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, the sources said.

The sources said Brezhnev demanded Dubcek go to the Soviet Union for a face to face meeting. Dubcek refused and suggested Brezhnev come to the Czechoslovak city of Kosice for the meeting, the sources said.

According to the sources, Brezhnev rejected Kosice and proposed Dubcek meet him either in the Soviet cities of Kiev or in Lvov.

Once more Dubcek said no to the Kremlin and insisted Brezhnev come to Kosice, which is in Slovakia and near the Soviet border. The sources said no reply has been received from the Kremlin to the Czech's latest message.

The party said Dubcek was having trouble at home. They said the Czech Communist party presidium—its ruling body—is closely divided on the issue of whether this former satellite should have a showdown with its former master.

They said an automobile accident involving a presidium member and an American citizen could well decide the issue in favor of the Stalinists who oppose Dubcek.

Presidium member Josef Spacek suffered head injuries in a head-on collision Wednesday, the newspaper Svobodne Slovo said.

The newspaper said the American, not identified, also suffered injuries. The sources said Spacek was in a hospital and would be unable to reach Prague and the critical presidium sessions here for at least three days.

That, the sources said, could well make the difference in whether Dubcek's liberals win or lose the power struggle.

The division among the Czech Communists flared anew following a letter from the Soviets and their "hard line" East Bloc allies, East Germany, Poland, Hungary and Bulgaria. The letter accused "imperialism" of aiding the reform movement for democracy in Czechoslovakia.

"We shall never agree to imperialism making peacefully or non-peacefully, from the inside or outside, a breach in the socialist system and changing the balance of forces in Europe in its favor," the letter said, according to the Soviet news agency Tass.

Fortas Details Puerto Rican Role

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas testified today he was proud to have had a part in what he called the "practically complete elimination" of a violent revolutionary movement in Puerto Rico.

His testimony about this was in response to questions by Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., about his representation of Puerto Rico after he had served as undersecretary of the interior.

$12,000 a Year

Fortas testified that before he went on the bench he and other members of his law firm were initially retained as counsel by the Puerto Rican government at what he called a "nominal retainer of $12,000 a year."

He testified that this was not immediately following his service as undersecretary of the interior but took place after a period of time.

He did not give the exact date.

Puerto Rico was a U.S. territory while Fortas was an Interior Department official but was granted commonwealth status in 1952.

The propriety of contacts between presidents and Supreme Court members has emerged as a key question in the Fortas hearings and Fortas himself said "It could be a problem."

"I do not know what the right answer to it is," he told the committee Wednesday.

But, he added, "historically, there is a great deal of precedent."

Doubts on the matter also were raised by one of Fortas' staunchest backers on the committee, as well as by avowed opponents who hammered away at it.

Thornberry, now on the 5th Court of Appeals in New Orleans, was named by President Johnson to fill the vacancy that would be created by Fortas' elevation from associate justice to chief justice.

Responded to Call

Fortas, friend and adviser of President Johnson for a quarter of a century, acknowledged that since becoming a justice in 1965 he has responded to White House calls for help on critical problems.

He also admitted under questioning that while on the bench he had called a businessman friend to protest a speech placing Vietnam war costs far in excess of administration estimates. He declined to say if he made the call at Johnson's urging.

"I think it is my duty to observe certain limits, and one of those limits is any conversation, either affirmative or denial, that I may have had with the President of the United States," Fortas said.

Sen. Phillip A. Hart, D-Mich., leader of the committee's liberal bloc and supporter of the appointments, said "when you get this adviser to the President business in sort of historic perspective, I think most of us, as citizens, had the notion that contact between Presidents and justices of the court would be social only," Hart added.

Fortas, expressing his own concern, said "I think it has to be carefully looked at."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., opposed to Senate confirmation of Fortas, said "association between Supreme Court justices and presidents, giving advice even when solicited, gives me much pause."

Ervin said this is because in recent years "a large part of the cases which reach the Supreme Court are cases in effect which involve the policies of the administration."

To Analyze

Another committee member, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, later told reporters that Fortas' testimony was that he had attended White House conferences just to analyze the pros and cons of problems and "not to intrude his opinion."

"Do you believe that?" Dirksen was asked.

"Mr. Fortas is a man of honor," replied Dirksen, who is supporting Johnson's nomination in the face of strong opposition among GOP colleagues led by Michigan's Robert P. Griffin.

Dirksen said, as Fortas had testified, that other presidents have made much greater use of Supreme Court justices. He reeled off several, beginning with George Washington.

Proposal for New Plant Hits Snag in Rosendale

By LYNN MULVANEY

A plan to locate a ladies garment manufacturing plant in a residentially-designated area of Tillson ran into a snag Tuesday night.

Douglas Saar, member of the Rosendale Planning Board, voiced strong objections, terming the proposal "unethical."

The plan was brought to light by town councilman and real estate agent Harold Snyder at a joint meeting of the planning and zoning boards. He said he planned to negotiate the sale of the property on Bedford Street.

Snyder apparently had the sanction of the Planning Board Chairman Kenneth Clark who stated he wished to purchase the property himself, erect the factory building and lease it to Dominick Spada Jr., owner of the Rosendale Dress Company, Main Street, Rosendale.

It was reported that Clark left the meeting room while the proposal was revealed to the boards as an established fact, rather than a request for a change in land-use designation.

The six-lot property is located near Springtown Road.

Saar expressed surprise that the town supervisor and other members of the town council were aware of the Snyder-Clark plan.

He also pointed out that the town's professional planning firm of Brown and Anthony has already mapped the town into agricultural, residential business and industrial areas and that the property in question is designated as residential agricultural. He said other sites were available for industry.

Lively discussion and argument, which at times was described as "hot" ended with Clark reportedly saying he would not pursue the matter further, according to Saar.

Those favoring the locating of a factory in the town stated that the present facility operated by Spada on Rosendale's Main Street, has outgrown its requirements.

Proponents favored keeping Spada's company in the community in order that the about 50 women employed in the business would be able to retain their jobs.

Supervisor De Felicis, reached by phone this morning told The Freeman he didn't know very much about the plan because he did not attend all of the Tuesday night meeting.

Nixon, Rockefeller Both Talk Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says he would run well in the cities and "considerably stronger" than rival Nelson A. Rockefeller on the fringes of the South as the Republicans' presidential candidate.

New York Gov. Rockefeller, at a separate news conference Wednesday, claimed Nixon's delegate lead is suffering "slow leakage" and said he expects to get the GOP nomination on the fourth or fifth convention ballot. Nixon's assessment of his vote-drawing strength came at a news conference in Baltimore, Md. He had been asked about Rockefeller's claim to greater strength in the cities and the populous Northeast.

"I expect to do well in the cities," Nixon replied, "and naturally I will run considerably stronger on the perimeter of the South."

"So the question," he said, "is which game plan do you want to buy."

Expects Close Race

Nixon then said he expects a very close race against the Democratic candidate in November but that the Republican nominee, "whoever he is," can win the election.

"It will be a different fallout of votes if Gov. Rockefeller is the nominee than if I am," he said.

Rockefeller said in Chicago that Nixon had lost 42 delegate votes in the past 10 days—but would not say where—and that some had gone to him and some to California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

He maintained that Nixon would fall far short of the 667 delegate votes needed for the nomination, not only on the first ballot but the second as well.

Rockefeller has said before that he expects delegates to favor Nixon on the first ballot, but not by a winning margin, then shift to Reagan and himself and finally nominate him on a late ballot.

On the Democratic side, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy took his campaign for the presidential nomination into the South and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey canceled a Midwest swing on what his camp said were doctor's orders.

It was learned a third of McCarthy's youthful campaign workers—some 75—are about to get the ax and some of them feel one reason is to erase the image of a McCarthy "children's crusade."

One source said top advisers made the decision to "furlough" the campaigners to trim a camaign deficit and McCarthy acquiesced but "just wanted to be left out of this sort of thing."

Humphrey's aides said Dr. Edgar Berman ordered him to cancel the Midwest trip that was to begin today and put off campaigning until next week when appearances in New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco are planned.

Recovering From Flu

Humphrey is recovering from what is described as a case of flu. It was understood he had passed a battery of tests to determine the illness was nothing worse.

In other political developments:

—Third party candidate George Wallace's aides announced he will begin a swing today into seven states including Missouri, Iowa, Rhode Island, Florida, Montana, California and New Mexico.

—The telephone strike threatening communications for the Democratic National Convention in Chicago was reported deadlocked after striking electrical workers rejected a wage proposal from the Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

—Five Negro candidates for Congress said a sampling of 1,198 Negro voters in six cities showed they favored Rockefeller over either Democratic presidential contender but would vote heavily for either Democrat over Nixon.

—The Democratic National Committee said more than 250 Negro delegates and alternates would take part in the party's national convention this year, twice the 1964 number.

Ray Ready for Extradition

By PETER J. SHAW

LONDON (UPI)—Britain today dropped its charges against James Earl Ray, removing the last barriers to his extradition to stand trial for the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. His Alabama attorney accused the United States of turning the case into a Yankee Stadium-P. T. Barnum affair.

Ray was charged in Britain with illegal possession of a loaded weapon and possession of a fraudulent passport when he was arrested June 8 at London airport. London's Chief Metropolitan Magistrate Frank Milton took just 60 seconds today to dismiss those charges. Ray's attorney, Arthur J. Hanes, called a news conference two hours later to make his P. T. Barnum charges.

Asked when he expected Ray

to be shipped back to the United States he said, "Your guess is as good as mine." But it was considered likely Ray would leave in a day or two.

"The government people are being very polite—they just don't give you the time of day—they don't tell you anything," the dapper former mayor of Birmingham said. "But if they want to play hard ball we'll play hard ball... if they want to play soft ball we'll play soft ball."

Hanes said he still failed to understand the U.S. Justice Department's refusal of his request to accompany Ray on the flight home.

The U.S. government has thus far refused Hanes permission either to travel with his client or to speak to him once Ray is handed over to U.S. authorities.

A newsman asked Hanes why he was so anxious not to leave Ray alone for six or seven hours on the plane with U.S. agents.

"I don't want this man grilled, cross-examined, and interrogated in the plane when I'm not there," he said.

HIJACKING STOPS CUPID—A 3rd Class David Allison Jr. grins happily before kissing Miss Patricia Young after he arrived in Miami from Havana, Cuba. Allison and Miss Young were supposed to have picked up a marriage license so they could be married on Saturday but he was delayed after the National Airlines plane he was on was hijacked and taken to Cuba. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Hijacker's Hand Grenade! Bottle of After Shave Lotion

By CHARLES E. TAYLOR

MIAMI (UPI) — The big American jetliner taxied to a stop at the Havana Airport and Cuban soldiers quickly rushed aboard. A grin spread across the face of a dark-skinned youth clasping a package.

With a flourish, he unwrapped the package and held up its contents for the other 63 passengers and crew members to see. The "hand grenade" which the youth had used to hijack the Los Angeles-to-Miami flight was a bottle of after shave lotion.

Now smiling broadly, the youth in a polo-shirt and tight pants stuck a .38 caliber pistol into his pocket and walked off the plane in a show of comradeship with the soldiers. Thus was completed Wednesday the 13th hijacking this year of a plane to Cuba. Even the Cubans appeared to be wearying of the incidents.

"They told me they don't want the people of America sending just anybody down here," said the pilot of the National Airlines plane, Capt. Sidney L. Oliver. "They said they want to know who these people are before they come here."

The passengers, who returned aboard a Cuban refugee flight came back with only its crew, indicated they were not given the red-carpet treatment usually accorded hijacked flights.

One passenger recovering from a spinal surgery collapsed aboard the plane and was taken off at Havana in a stretcher. John Morgan, 42, of San Francisco, returned with the other passengers to Miami, walking with the aid of a cane. He said "My nerves just went to pieces for a minute."

Oliver said on his return that he had no answer to the problem of air piracy.

"I don't think there's anything that can be done, except searching everybody getting on a plane, and that's impossible," said Oliver, a veteran of 23 years with the airline.

The hijacker was a young Cuban who told Spanish-speaking stewardess Kathleen Dickinson he was 23, had a family in Cuba he was anxious to see again, and that "Fidel Castro ordered me back to Havana, dead or alive." He didn't explain that.

Ten minutes after the takeoff from Houston, Oliver said, the man showed Miss Dickinson the gun and waved the handkerchief-wrapped "hand grenade" in his left hand.

Using Miss Dickinson as an interpreter, the hijacker ordered the plane to Havana and then allowed a refueling stop at New Orleans. He made it clear he wouldn't be tricked.

"The hand grenade was in his left hand and a pistol in his right hand, and he was waving them both around," Oliver said. "He gave us 30 minutes to get the plane fueled. We were on the ground 28 minutes."

Ulster County Community College has received $68,697 from the Federal Government for its student financial aids program for the next six months, George B. Erbstein, president, said today.

Included was a grant of $47,637 for the college's work-study program and a grant of $21,060 for Educational Opportunity Grants. Of the latter grant, $5,100 will go for renewal awards for students who received EOG grants previously, and $15,960 will go for initial EOG grants.

The grant for the work-study program covers the period July 1 to Dec. 31, 1968, and EOG from July 1, 1968 to June 30, 1969.

The basic objective of the Educational Opportunity Grants is to enable students with the ability but without the financial means to attend college. The amounts of the grants vary from $200 to $800 per year and are automatically renewed for the second year of study at UCCC.

During the last academic year, 26 UCCC students received EOG grants, and it is estimated that 45 students will receive these grants for the academic year beginning in September.

UCCC participates in this program under Title IV, Part A of the Federal Higher Education Act of 1965.

To qualify for these grants an individual must be a full-time student, must show evidence of academic or creative promise, have the capability of maintaining good standing in his or her course of study, have an exceptional financial need, or be unable financially to attend.

Arrest Port Ewen Man

BCI Investigator Fred Grunewald of the Kingston State Police on Wednesday arrested Dennis Lee Alexander, 27, of Port Ewen on a charge of sexual abuse of an 11-year-old girl, according to authorities. Taken before Ulster Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly, Alexander was released in his own custody pending a hearing on July 24, according to Senior BCI Investigator Charles Teelon.

Grants for UCCC

college without the grant.

The Work - Study Grants are made available from the Office of Education in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

For the year ending June 30, 125 UCCC students participated in this program, 26 are employed for this summer, and when classes resume in September the program will again be in full operation. The students, under the program, work at the college and at public and non-profit agencies throughout Ulster County.

The college through the Work - Study Program seeks to make it possible for students who demonstrate some financial need to attend and stay in college. It also seeks to promote worthwhile work experience in parttime employment and to enable more qualified students to attend college without the need of going into debt and handicapping their future careers.

The 20 agencies participating in the program include: Ulster County Community College, Jewish Community Center, Kingston Boys' Club Inc., Kingston City Schools Consolidated, Kingston Engineering Department, Kingston City Library, Kingston Recreation Department, New Paltz Schools, Ulster County Planning Board, Young Men's Christian Association, Young Women's Christian Association, Catskill Boys' Club, Ulster County Community Action Committee, Ulster County Extension Service, 4-H Division, Town of Gardiner, The Urban Corps, City of New York, Ontario Central School, and the Ulster County Office of Civil Defense.

Esopus Purchases Some Amber Lenses

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

The purchase of a half dozen amber lenses for the flashing emergency lights on constable's cars solved the entire problem at Wednesday night's Esopus Town Board meeting held at Port Ewen.

Supervisor George H. Freer said the township would stay within the limits of the law and after a thorough discussion and study by the attorney for the town Charles Gaffney, it was decided that the amber lights would be used.

Also discussed was the use of sirens on the privately-owned constable's cars. The Town Board ruled that the constables use their sirens only in extreme emergencies.

Supervisor Freer said some of these rulings are antiquated and should be changed. A flashing light on a constable's car proceeding to an emergency call provides protection for both the public and the constable.

Since the July 10 Town Board meeting when the matter was revealed in a letter from Wilson S. LeFever, fire commissioner of Esopus Fire Department, the town has been seeking rulings governing the situation.

Gaffney received a prompt reply from the State Motor Vehicle Department which concurred that flashing red lights are illegal on privately-owned vehicles, even those used for police work.

After all the facts were presented the Town Board agreed that the town must stay within the limits of the law and the solution was the purchase of amber lenses to be placed on the constable's flashing lights.

Selecting Judges

Nearly two-thirds of those consulted in a recent Gallup poll favored selection of future members of the Supreme Court by the President from a list of candidates drawn by the American Bar Association. That proceeding would broaden the list of nominees considerably. This poll was taken before President Johnson nominated Justice Fortas to be Chief Justice and Federal Appellate Judge Homer Thornberry to succeed him.

Interesting, if not startling, figures would be gleaned from a similar poll on the method of selecting judgeships for New York State. The Legislature at its recent session created 125 new judgeships. These munificent political plums will be dished out to the party warhorse with no consideration given to qualifications or merit.

The Legislature could have required a screening committee to pass on qualifications of prospective judges in order to insure a competent judiciary of the highest caliber.

We need additional judges, but only candidates should be presented who are eminently qualified to represent the people. Some sort of screening process should be put in effect on either county or statewide basis to safeguard the choice of the judiciary and the execution of justice.

War Leads to Schooling

Education is by all odds the biggest undertaking in American life. By this fall, 61 million Americans, nearly one-third the population, will either be studying or teaching in the nation's schools and colleges. Education is becoming the most pervasive, if not the most powerful, influence in the country.

It seems fitting, therefore that a broad road is being built for veterans of the war in Vietnam to higher education at home. Veterans Administration Director William Driver, estimates that 800,000 men who served in the armed forces during the war in Vietnam will be going back to school this fall under the GI bill of rights.

Servicemen are turning to civilian life at the rate of 70,000 a month under the prevalent system of rotating after a year's service in the war zone. Half of the returnees are enrolling for educational training, the same ratio as veterans of the Korean war, but more than those of World War II, when only 30 per cent opted for more education.

To our way of thinking, the chance to attend college after serving in Vietnam is perhaps the biggest bonus offered the veterans. They come back with greater determination to make a career for themselves and they get the opportunity to do so.

Those veterans who do not choose schooling are helped to train for other pursuits or to find jobs. They have earned special treatment and they get it, including counseling at military bases in the actual war zones, besides counseling at hospitals and one-stop assistance centers in 21 major cities across the country.

Self-Help for Ghetto

Legislation will be sponsored by Reps. Charles E. Goodell of New York, Robert A. Taft Jr., of Ohio, Thomas B. Curtis of Missouri and William B. Wood-nall of New Jersey as a move away from government paternalism toward private local initiative. To the CORE militants, the proposal means a form of black power they desire.

Community development corporations would be chartered by people in urban and rural areas of low income and high unemployment. The poor could either buy shares or earn "sweet equity" stock. Community development banks would provide the capital which would come from operations, churches and the sale of debentures guaranteed by a U.S. Development Bank. There would also be special tax breaks and credits to help encourage private enterprise assistance.

Goodell estimated the Federal cost would be about $1 billion a year for fiscal years 1969 and 1970 but that the investment would be recovered over the years through increased taxes from the new economic development. The plan parallels the "black capitalism" program outlined by Presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon. It is a businesslike approach to self-help in the ghetto at a minimum of cost to the taxpayer.

While their employees are getting longer and longer vacations, executives often find their own vacations getting shorter or non-existent. The reason is that back-up replacements may be available for employees, but not for executives. They must be satisfied with long weekends.

The Miracle Hunters

David Lawrence Says

Fortas' Role as Adviser To LBJ Will Be Debated

WASHINGTON — A grave constitutional question has been raised before the Senate Judiciary Committee involving the propriety of a Supreme Court Justice serving as an unofficial adviser to the President. Up to now it has always been assumed that the doctrine of "Separation of Powers" meant that the executive and judicial branches of the government were to be kept independent of each other.

Associate Justice Abe Fortas, who has been nominated by President Johnson to be Chief Justice, acknowledged to the committee that he has participated in White House policy meetings while serving as a member of the Supreme Court. There have been a few occasions in the past where a justice of the Supreme Court has been useful in international negotiations, but there is no known precedent in which a justice has been asked to advise the President on matters of domestic policy.

In testifying before the Senate Committee, Justice Fortas said: "It is well known that the President and I have been associated, mostly as lawyer and client, for many years. The President has confidence in my ability to analyze the situation and state the pros and cons."

"The President of the United States, since I have been a justice, has done me the honor of indicating in a few instances that I could be of help and I have been asked to come to the White House to participate at times."

Justice Fortas admitted that he took part in the meetings held by the President during last summer's rioting in Detroit. Mr. Fortas said he did not write the President's statement ordering federal troops to the Michigan city but that he did see it in advance.

When Senator James Eastland, Democrat of Mississippi, specifically asked Justice Fortas whether he had approved the President's message beforehand, Mr. Fortas said that he wasn't asked for any approval. But the impression was given that he acquiesced in the contents of the message. He referred to the incident as occurring at a "time of national crisis."

It will be recalled, however, that Governor George Romney of Michigan tangled with the White House when the riots broke out. He tried to get federal troops sent promptly, but the President delayed his reply for several hours. There is still a controversy as to how much damage was done in Detroit during the period between the time Governor Romney telephoned the White House and the President's response later stipulating that the governor must put his request in writing.

Senator Sam J. Ervin Jr., Democrat of North Carolina, asked Justice Fortas if he might have to disqualify himself from consideration of certain legal cases which could develop in the future as a consequence of the President's decision to send troops to Detroit. Mr. Fortas declared it was "difficult" for him to imagine such a thing occurring, but that if the problem arose he would consider whether he should disqualify himself from acting in such a case.

Unquestionably there will be debate in the Senate as to the role that Justice Fortas has played as an informal or unofficial adviser to the President while sitting on the bench.

Disputes have occurred when justices have made public speeches commenting on governmental problems. Many of the justices have felt that they have a right to voice their views outside the court on public questions. Some justices have been intimate friends of presidents. The late Chief Justice Fred Vinson was a close friend of President Truman, and joined him on vacation trips.

A number of justices over the years have visited with and talked with presidents in an informal manner, but there has rarely been any revelation that their advice has been sought on questions of domestic policy.

Certainly the discussion in the Senate Judiciary Committee and the debate that will ensue in the Senate, the proper role of a Supreme Court Justice in his relations with a president of the United States is likely to be fully explored. Present and future justices of the Supreme Court may be warned that they cannot serve on the bench and act as personal advisers to a chief executive without running into difficulties with Congress over the principle of the "Separation of Powers" embodied in the Constitution.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

WANTED: Slick salesman who can sell religion. Must be well-dressed and patient. Need sincere tone. Help to find out where we lost God, or vice versa. No experience necessary.

He was 15 years old, tall and slender, the turtle-neck sweater and sports jacket well-draped on the frame. One hand was in a trouser pocket and he smiled apologetically. "My father says I must obey the law," he said. "Why? Give me one reason why I have to be good?"

I could have slapped the friendly face. It would have proved nothing, except that he had me boxed. "I mean," he said in that superior high school manner, "assuming that I can get away with it."

"How about church?" I said. "Doesn't your church teach you that good is preferable to evil? That evil will be punished?" The smile faded. He seemed sorry for me. "Mr. Bishop," he said, "I don't believe in Santa anymore. My people don't go to church. They belong, but they don't go."

He told me that, though he wasn't old enough to drive, he saw nothing wrong with stealing a car, provided a fellow "used his head." He would seduce any date, if she would listen to his eloquence. "If I could steal a million from a bank, and serve five or ten years for it, wouldn't I be a fool not to do it at my age?"

Anybody want to debate this kid? I got nowhere. There is a new philosophy abroad. It is purely materialistic: "Do unto him before he does it unto you." Felonies are up 83 per cent in the United States, and this boy, plus ten million more like him, are the one responsible for the huge wave of lawlessness. Look at the national statistics and you will find that junior is our major bandit.

The number of policemen per thousand population has jumped, but crime jumps higher. The youngster's argument seems to be that merely stating that something is wrong is not enough to turn him away from it.

We talked a little more. He had my wheels whizzing. When I was a boy there were several reasons why I resisted crime: One was that my personal pride couldn't stand the public disgrace and confinement. Another was that my father carried a careless fist. The third was that my church taught me that God sees all, and that I would always have to reckon with Him.

What is boyhood like now? I don't know. This youngster had a fear of being caught. His ambition is to outwit the law. He doesn't fear his Dad: "He wouldn't hit me, mister. My father would bail me out." The third reason—God and judgment—amuses him. "I don't believe in Santa," he said.

That night, I took the research books on religion from the shelves. In 1850, sixteen per cent of Americans belonged to a church or temple. In 1965, the figure was 64.3 per cent. God has become big business indeed. The only thing that my young friend would concede is that God is non-taxable.

Is it possible that we go to church or temple through habit? Is God getting a dial tone when He tries to speak to us? Something is wrong. There are 130,000,000 Americans who belong to a faith. This makes our country a leader in two categories: Religion and Crime. They were once incompatible.

Many of the older clerics fail us. They preach instead of teach. They quote the Bible without listening. Some have become computers of the collection. They enunciate the rights from the wrongs with the imperturbability of baseball umpires. A few could stand a test of faith.

I think that a young man like this one might be law-abiding if he had a moral crutch. Obviously, his conscience is dormant. He has one, but the kid doesn't know it.

Drew Pearson Says LBJ Embarks on World Peace Drive; Makes Overture to Castro

WASHINGTON — President Johnson, instead of sitting out his last six months in office, has embarked on one of the most comprehensive programs to patch up world problems ever undertaken by a President of the United States.

The program includes not only improving relations with Russia and pouring oil on some of the trouble spots in Latin America, both already known, but overtures in two hitherto unpublicized and very difficult areas. They are:

1. Resumption of diplomatic relations with Cuba.
2. Establishing peace between Israel and the Arab states.

Diplomatic feelers have already gone to Fidel Castro through third parties that the United States would be willing to resume normal relations provided Castro would cut military ties with Russia and stop trying to overthrow neighboring Latin governments.

The first condition is easy, since the Russians have already withdrawn all troops and have made it clear to the United States that they would like to get rid of their obligations to Cuba, now costing about $1 million a day.

The second condition is considered more important inasmuch as Castro has been following the Chinese brand of communism which calls for militant subversion of capitalist governments.

Fidel and USA

However, Fidel Castro has already made it clear that he would like to resume relations with the United States. Speaking in Moscow in May, 1965, his last visit, he stated publicly that Cuba and the United States had enjoyed relations for so long a time and were so close geographically that they would have to go back to their old relationship.

President DORTICOS of Cuba went further. He stated in Havana, about the same time, that Cuba would be willing to repay Americans for the property seized by the Castro regime if and when relations were resumed.

Castro has replied to President Johnson's first overture that he is interested. The discussions haven't gone beyond this point.

The question of settling the Near East crisis has been discussed by President Johnson and Premier Kosygin in their recent exchange of correspondence, so far unpublished.

President Johnson has felt that if there was to be peace between Israel and the Arab states it would have to come as a result of pressure from the two countries which have been shipping their arms — the USA and the USSR.

Premier Kosygin appears to take a similar view. In his letters to Johnson he has expressed interest in getting Israel to sign the non-proliferation pact. She abstained. Kosygin pointed out to Johnson that, in contrast, Egypt had signed. Kosygin wants nuclear weapons banned from the entire Middle East. So does the United States, and State Department officials are suspicious of the Israeli nuclear plant built in the Negev desert south of Beersheba which no Westerner has ever been permitted to enter.

Kosygin has offered to control the flow of arms to Egypt, Syria, and other Arab states, and also has tried to persuade Nasser to recognize Israel. It's reported that he has exacted a promise from Nasser to permit Israeli shipping to pass through the Suez Canal.

Reports from Moscow last week indicated that coolness had developed between Nasser and the Kremlin during Nasser's visit. Apparently the Russians pushed Nasser further than he wanted to go.

Kosygin now has asked President Johnson to pressure Israel into relinquishing the territory it seized from Egypt and Syria.

He has also asked ex-Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, now head of the World Bank, to call on Nasser while in Cairo; while McGeorge Bundy, former White House adviser, now head of the Ford Foundation, has also called on Nasser to sound him out about U.S. —

Egyptian relations. These have not been resumed since the June 1967 war. Both men reported Nasser in a more friendly mood.

Johnson is studying this problem. His advisers suggest that Israel would probably be glad to get out of the Suez Canal area, the Gaza strip and the west bank of Jordan, since they contain so many Arabs that in time they could make Israel a Moslem rather than a Jewish state.

Key City of Jerusalem

However, the White House contemplates great difficulty regarding the ancient city of Jerusalem, and the strategic uplands of Syria. The latter are considered essential by the Israeli military to prevent Syrian raids on the Sea of Galilee.

And the ancient city of Jerusalem has great religious meaning for the Jewish world. Israeli leaders state frankly they will never give it back. But it also has great significance to Moslems and Christians.

Jerusalem, therefore, will be one of the greatest stumbling blocks in the path of peace.

However, the essential fact is that the two great powers with the greatest influence for peace — the USA and USSR — have started talking to each other regarding peace. Ex-Premier Ben-Gurion, asked by this column, in 1966, when there would be peace between Israel and the Arab states, replied: "When the United States and Russia decide there shall be peace."

President Johnson has also gone further in Latin America than most people realize by probing, very delicately, the chief trouble spot in Latin America — rivalry among Bolivia, Chile, and Peru. He also helped improve relations between Honduras and Salvador after the troops of the two countries engaged in border clashes.

"There is so much to be done and so little time to do it," the President told his Cabinet after returning from Central America. However, he plans to devote the next six months to improving the peace of the world.

Henry J. Taylor Says

Soviet's Anti-Israel Pivot

President Johnson, attempting to show that the administration has achieved better relations with the Kremlin, prefers to keep the mounting Middle East crisis largely under wraps. But the question is: Will the Soviet let Mr. Johnson keep the lid on this until after the November elections?

The Joint Chiefs of Staff know that the Soviet makes its moves like the player in a chess game, seeing the Kremlin takes one pivotal position to dominate the next pivotal position.

Moreover, in manipulating the pressures against the free world, the Kremlin rule is: "Never let the steam out of one sequence without getting another one going."

Well established in Cuba, the Soviet shifted its aggressions from Cuba to far-distant Vietnam. And now the Kremlin has gone greatly beyond anything we are told in lining up its chess board in the Middle East.

President Johnson and former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara contrived until late 1966 to keep from general knowledge the fact that the Vietnam war costs had grown to about $20 billion a year. One reason, privately admitted by administration officials, was that they knew Congress would cut drastically Great Society outpourings if the full truth about the war cost were revealed.

Accordingly, playing this political game to the hilt, Mr. McNamara did not budget a single nickel for the Vietnam War until fiscal 1968!

His proclaimed cost-pairing was achieved chiefly in two ways: (1) by stretching out procurement programs and (2) by stripping equipment and inventories from our combat forces elsewhere to supply the needs in Vietnam, all of which the Kremlin well knows.

The result directly and enormously complicates the Middle East crisis. This column reported some unrevealed facts from the U.S. 6th Fleet headquarters in Naples. That great fleet has been cannibalized. There are dangerous shortages throughout the fleet while the Soviet builds up its chess-like counterforce.

Senior officers of our 6th Fleet privately confirmed to me that these shortages are in personnel, modern arms and equipment, aircraft, spare parts, reserve stock and an absolutely frightening list of bottleneck items.

They are profoundly concerned about the state of the U.S. 7th Army in Germany where we have 250,000 troops, the capabilities of their own Mediterranean fleet, the support possible by the cannibalized Atlantic Fleet and the present status of strategic reserves.

Naples-based Admiral C.D. Griffin, the Commander of Allied Forces for Southern Europe, was always convinced that the Soviet Mediterranean naval build-up that began after the Israel-Arab war would expand and expand to be permanent.

The Mediterranean is a lake separating Europe and Africa. It means "Middle of the World." of course, and the lake's southern rim is a land-bridge that makes the Middle East the true crossroads of the world. Through there passes all the air and sea routes between Europe and India, East Africa, the oil-rich Arabian peninsula, Southeast Asia, the Far East, New Zealand and Australia.

Except for Turkey, Israel, Tunisia and Morocco, the entire southern rim of the Mediterranean is hostile to the United States. Egyptian, Syrian and Algerian harbors are available to the expanding Soviet Mediterranean fleet.

To the southeast, if the Soviet can also attract on an anti-Israel basis the regimes in Jordan, Yemen and Saudi Arabia, Moscow can acquire air and naval lodgements that have been used by Britain and the United States that dominate the entire Indian Ocean area.

Africa flanks this region. And, below it, the Soviet lodgement on the island of Zanzibar opens all of East Africa to Soviet support by sea. Whatever type of defense the Africans employ (if any) it has been made clear to President Johnson that the nations of Africa, like those in the Middle East, cannot escape the Soviet strategic pressures that now flare behind the scenes.

This is a tremendous Soviet strategic accomplishment. For step by step, the Soviet has overextended American power around the globe until in this Middle East problem the United States finds itself like Superman trapped in a milk bottle.

Dissension in North Vietnam

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There are small but persistent signs of increasing dissension in North Vietnam, in Ho Chi Minh's southern invasion forces and in the Viet Cong.

In North Vietnam, "public security letter boxes" have been set up in Haiphong for those wishing to report sabotage, counterrevolutionary propaganda or defeatist or antigovernment talk to the public security men.

Hanoi is pushing a campaign of educating children in the concepts of "counter-revolutionary resistance and the protection of security for the fatherland."

Punishments have been stiffened for a range of counterrevolutionary activities, ranging from defeatist talk to banditry and sabotage.

There has been an increase in officer desertion among Ho's North Vietnamese invasion armies in the south.

Some village party secretaries in Viet Cong-ruled areas complain that many of the young men they recruit desert back to their hamlets.

Enough time has now passed since the Tet offensives for analysts to get a clearer picture of who among the enemy died in these suicide raids and in the series of clashes which followed.

It is now clear that the heavy sacrifices were mainly among the Viet Cong. That is, for the most part, the suicide raids cut into the lower leadership of the VC. Except at some important strategic objectives, as Hue, the North Vietnamese southern invasion army losses were comparatively light.

Men who know Ho's methods say this was no accident. In visits to Thailand and Laos some time after the Tet raids, this reporter talked at length with experienced Thai and Lao guerrilla officers, some of whom had been with Ho in the war against the French, and therefore know his methods well. These men insisted that one purpose of the Tet raids was to wipe out key men in the Viet Cong junior leadership who might stand out against the dominance of the North Vietnamese generals. This "thinning out" of the Viet Cong activist leadership, in theory, would put Ho and the other Hanoi leaders in stronger control of the southern underground.

But there are signs that this North-South cleavage is growing, not declining, despite the deaths at Tet.

THE LAST AMERICAN

by Don Oakley and John Lane

Black troops help crush the flower of the Confederacy.

"Slaves... shall be then, thenceforward and forever free..."

12 Blue, Gray—and Black

My paramount object in this struggle is to save the Union, and is not whether to save or destroy slavery. If I could save the Union without freeing any slave, I would do it; if I could save the Union by freeing some and leaving others alone, I would also do that.

—Abraham Lincoln

Lest Americans forget, if, indeed, the history books ever told them:

Before the guns fell silent in America's bloodiest war, some 200,000 Negro soldiers and sailors fought in the Union cause—100,000 from the North and border states, another 100,000 from the South. One in every four seamen in the Union Navy was a Negro. Others served as scouts and spies and laborers.

Nearly 40,000 blue-clad blacks died in some 450 battles in which they participated; 21 Negroes won the Medal of Honor, 12 in one battle alone.

Unlike their white comrades, Negro soldiers had to contend not only with death but with lower pay (until near the end of the war) and with no chance for officership. Neither, until near the end, did the South accord them the rights of prisoners of war.

Thousands were enslaved or re-enslaved or executed as rebels or simply murdered. In the worst such incident, the capture of Fort Pillow, Tenn., in April 1864, Confederate troops cut down the Negro garrison to the last man.

As in the Revolutionary War, the Negro had to fight for the right to fight. For more than a year after Fort Sumter, Abraham Lincoln, fearful of losing the slave-holding border states to the Confederacy, resisted appeals that Negroes be allowed to enlist. Later, he was to say that without them, the cause would have been lost.

Abolitionists also brought tremendous pressure on Lincoln to hit the South where it hurt most, by freeing the slaves. When it became clear that the war was not to end except with complete victory over the South, Lincoln moved. He signed the Emancipation Proclamation on Jan. 1, 1863.

Although it freed no slaves in the loyal states, so many of those were freeing themselves that this question was academic. And although only advancing armies could give the proclamation effect in the South, this too was only a matter of time.

Eventually, the 13th Amendment remedied the defect in the Constitution which had once moved abolitionist Wendell Phillips to curse the document and William Lloyd Garrison to burn it in public. After more than 300 years, Negro slavery in America was ended.

But had Negro freedom begun?

Hurley, N. Y.

A letter to the Kingston Uptown Businessmen's Association.

I'm not sure where or when a member of the Kingston Uptown Businessmen's Association became an authority on the county residents' feelings on a sales tax. I appreciate the fact that the Kingston men's business have 2% overhead more than the outlying businesses because of the City Tax, but why can't they spend more time questioning why Kingston needs the sales tax and less in getting county residents to subsidize Kingston services? Services, by the way, that I won't receive out in the county. An example that the county residents can still remember is when they were incorporated into the Kingston school system. Where is the other high school taxes they were promised before they were so high-handedly consolidated?

The Association is quoted on lower taxes in the same sentence as a sales tax. That's being ambidextrous with your tongue. Nowhere — repeat, nowhere — have I read or heard anyone suggest that any other taxes be lowered when the sales tax starts.

How would the sales tax revenue be distributed? Kingston is bemoaning low city income at 2%, yet Garrahan says that they will remove that tax if the county puts on a 2% sales tax. Sounds to me like taxing all the county residents to support Kingston programs. I feel I'm subsidizing Kingston enough under the State Aid Program to Cities.

I purposely bought outside Kingston. I detest the traffic. New streets and more money won't solve the problem of trucks and cars double — and triple — parking on the busiest streets at all hours, and the police ignoring it. Taxes won't keep people from parking on Albany Avenue at the offices by the bypass, right under the "No Parking/No Standing" signs. Only enforcement of traffic laws can improve Kingston's biggest bottleneck. I'm supporting a Sheriff's Department and a State Police. Shall I be taxed for a City Police Department that doesn't do its job? When I find a parking space, there's a 50-50 chance the meter isn't in proper working order.

Maybe the loss of business because of higher prices, as a result of high taxes, is the reason, but courtesy is hard to find in Kingston's stores. The buildings are old, thus uneconomical to air condition. Maintenance costs are high. The store business hours don't match the working hours of most county residents. Where can you show me that you have actually tried to woo the county purchasers? Don't tell me about the parking lot behind the jail. The Court-house people keep it pretty full. The bridge over the Esopus had to collapse before access was improved.

How long has it been since the businessmen looked at Kingston and its operations as a business? The last several mayors have taken great pains to destroy existing buildings, removing them from the tax rolls. Now they are building (at a loss to the taxpayers) fewer buildings. The "renewal" program has cut up the city (try to drive to Miron the old short way). Where are the people in these areas going to shop? Get an aerial photo and take a good look at the access. The new arterial highway to go east of town seems to be another high cost error. Why not go from 209 to 9W south of Kingston and utilize some existing roads?

Is there a city 1, 5, 10, or 20 year plan? If there is why isn't it publicized? Are you going to let Kingston grow like Topsy into the same old trap?

I, and many like me (names furnished on request), believe that the County Legislature's vote against a sales tax truly represented the will of the people. My congratulations to a sensitive and sensible group of legislators.

Public Is Being Duped

Saugerties, N. Y.
July 16, 1968
Editor, The Freeman:
Among the myths that die

hard in this country is that newspaper columnists are possessed of a detached and objective view. They dish out as much slanted news as the newspapers that hire them. When David Lawrence tries to conjure up Pres. Johnson as a great architect of peace in Vietnam the exercise is most laughable. Perhaps the well documented book, "The U.S. in Vietnam," would help clarify for him who was the architect-in-chief of the war and who blanketed this country with false propaganda to blindfold the American people into giving up war time powers to the power hungry men in Washington who felt the clarion call to arrange circumstances so as to unleash the pent up forces in the Pentagon. The Pentagon, you know, is the place where many five star generals and up first serve an apprenticeship before taking $100,000 per year jobs with the munition makers as liaison workers in, you guessed it, the Pentagon.

Last night's news releases over the air contained a little item from the Pentagon—an advance notice to the public — not to expect any cut in spending even if the war ended! Perhaps we have now reached the point where the majority is involved in this 86 billion dollar slush fund, more likely, the public is being duped by the propaganda such a fund can generate.

You hear the question what has happened to old time American patriotism? The professional politicians have tried to use it as a commodity in the open market for corporate and personal gain. Old time American patriotism still breathes in this country. All it needs is some fresh air outside of those smoke-filled rooms.

Yours truly,
GEORGE S. WILDER

Significance Speculated Over Rocket Attack Lull

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

PARIS (AP) — U.S. officials are interested but not convinced by a hint from North Vietnam's chief representative at the Paris talks that suspension of the shelling of Saigon constitutes a Communist move to scale down the war.

Hanoi's Ambassador Xuan Thuy said in an interview made public Wednesday: "Although there have been no rocket attacks on Saigon for several weeks, the Americans maintain their offensives and send out their bombers on ever more devastating missions in the Saigon area."

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman had been speculating recently that there might be significance in the lull in rocket attacks on the South Vietnamese capital. He had protested against such attacks in mid-June, saying they threatened the negotiations.

U.S. officials had been trying to find out whether the North heeded the protest, whether allied military operations foiled further attacks, or whether the Communist leadership suspended the attacks for a political purpose.

No Word Received
So far as could be learned, they had no word from the North Vietnamese to help their assessment until TV newsman David Schoenbrun made his report of his interview with Thuy available.

The Americans were more than ordinarily interested because they consider that North Vietnam will not yield on the issue of "reciprocity" and make a deal to scale down the war in exchange for an end to all U.S. bombing of the North. President Johnson limited the bombing on March 31.

The Americans were skeptical of the implication in Thuy's statement because it leaves North Vietnam in a position either to claim later that it had de-escalated—or to resume attacks on Saigon and blame the United States for not responding to cessation of the rocket attacks.

Thuy not only accused the United States of making "ever more devastating missions in the Saigon region" but also charged it with having "greatly increased" the tonnage and number of bombing raids over the southern part of North Vietnam.

"One can therefore say that not only have we not made progress at the Paris talks but that the situation has worsened in the light of these and other recent developments," he declared.

U.S. officials believe the enemy forces are planning a new offensive against Saigon, and allied troops have been attacking their concentrations. The officials here, however, have been impressed with the low level of enemy military activity in recent weeks.

Thuy also said in the interview that North Vietnam "will never negotiate with" the Saigon government headed by President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky because "they are puppets only."

He also said, "There can be no solutions" for the future of South Vietnam without the participation of the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong.

"They must be at any talks on the South," said Thuy.

He added that if the United States ended all bombing of the North unconditionally, North Vietnam would be willing to explore the problems of all Southeast Asia, including those relating to Laos and Cambodia. He said, however, if Laos was discussed, "the Laotian people must participate."

Harriman said Wednesday, before disclosure of the interview with Thuy, that the rocket attacks on Saigon started after President Johnson curtailed the bombing of North Vietnam, and their suspension could not be considered reciprocity.

BIDDING THEIR TIME — Military policemen wait for conclusion of communion service at St. Andrew Presbyterian Church in Martin City, Calif., before arresting nine GI's who "resigned" from the service and began a 48-hour "service of liberation" in protest against the war in Vietnam. The servicemen, all reportedly AWOL from their commands, were chained to clemency during the vigil. Drinking from a bottle is Marine John Robinson, 18, Westport, Conn. The servicemen began the protest in San Francisco, but moved to the church in Martin City, claiming to have received a threat that the San Francisco church would be bombed. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Ike Ready To Announce Nixon Support

WASHINGTON (UPI) —

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower called a news conference today, apparently to announce his support of Richard M. Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination.

Eisenhower arranged to meet with a selected number of reporters at his suite in Walter Reed Army Hospital late this afternoon. A spokesman said the general, recuperating from his fifth heart attack, was "planning a personal statement on the current political situation."

The spokesman, Brig. Gen. Robert Schulz, declined to elaborate but there has been widespread speculation for some time that Eisenhower, 77, would shortly endorse his former vice president.

Eisenhower's only son, John, recently accepted the chairmanship of the Pennsylvania Nixon-for-President Committee.

The general's 19-year-old grandson, Dwight David Eisenhower II has been campaigning extensively for Nixon.

David is engaged to marry Nixon's daughter, Julie.

Woman Faces Charge

Nabbed on Sex Charge

Dennis Alexander, 27, of Box 187, Port Ewen, was arrested Wednesday night by Kingston police on a charge of sexual abuse. Alexander, a woodworker, was taken into custody on a warrant.

See Separate Society

WASHINGTON (AP) — America will become increasingly segregated by race over the next 17 years, says a study released recently by President Johnson's National Commission on Urban Problems.

The study finds that between 1960 and 1985, nonwhites will become more concentrated in cities and whites will continue moving into suburban areas.

The projections vividly portray the geographic fulfillment of the fears expressed by the President's Commission on Civil Disorders—that the American society is becoming an apartheid society," said the study's authors.

Nonwhite population within cities of 50,000 or more are projected to increase from 50 to 58 per cent; white population will decline from 30 to 21 per cent.

Former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, chairman of the commission, said in a forward to the report that the findings are projections—not predictions. But he said they underscore the "alarming prospect" that "our people may be increasingly segregated. This should be read not as prophecy but as warning."

The report says the shifting of population undoubtedly will mean more cities will have nonwhite majorities by 1985. Of the largest cities the only ones with nonwhite majorities now are Washington, D.C., and Newark, N.J.

Authors of the report are Patricia Leavay Hodge, research associate at the University of Chicago's Population Research Center and Philip M. Houser, director of the center.

Senate Studies Bill To License A-Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill in operation in the New England states of Maine, Vermont and Massachusetts.

Aiken explained that presently all nuclear plants are licensed under a "medical therapy and research" section of the atomic energy law.

He said this is done because the AEC never has found nuclear power plants to be commercially feasible, "even though nuclear plants are held by the Securities and Exchange Commission to be commercially feasible, profit-making enterprises and are licensed by the SEC to sell stock."

The bill would require the AEC to issue commercial licenses for nuclear plants unless it is proved that the main purpose of the plant is the "performance of substantial research and development activities," Aiken said.

He said the bill also would require the AEC, after receiving a nuclear plant construction application, to submit the application to the attorney general for anti-trust review.

The attorney general then has 180 days in which to review the application and if he finds that it violates antitrust laws he must advise the AEC of the fact, Aiken said.

Report Bloody Fighting In South Part of China

By FORREST EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China's army is reported finally trying to stop the bloody fighting in South China after six weeks of standing aside from the clashes between supporters and opponents of Mao Tse-tung and between rival Maoist factions.

Travelers arriving from Canton, South China's largest city and the capital of Kwangtung province, told of troops patrolling the main streets and manning barricades at highway intersections and railway yards.

The official Canton newspaper Nan Fang said Peking had ordered troop commanders in Kwangtung to crush the wave of violence, but the report broadcast by Canton Radio gave no details.

A number of travelers from Kwangtung province, west of Kwangtung, said army units at Luichow took sides once, in a major factional fight that broke out July 10 and raged for 36 hours. They said rockets used by the soldiers set off fires which devastated 17 city blocks. But their reports said that within the last three days the army had taken major steps to control the situation in the city, which is on the main rail route for Chinese war supplies to North Vietnam.

One traveler from Kwangsi said supply trains were under heavy guard after backers and foes of Mao Tse-tung had raided the trains to steal weapons consigned to the North Vietnamese.

There is no way to confirm the travelers' reports, but their multiplicity and the way they dovetail indicates they may be true.

Professional Western analysts believe the army, after first trying to stop the battles, was ordered six weeks ago, to stand aside, but there was no indication whether the orders came from Peking or provincial military leaders.

Some China watchers think there is "a good possibility and perhaps a probability" that army leaders in South China deliberately allowed the factional war to reach crisis proportions before moving in under the banner of restoring order and saving the nation.

More than 2,000 persons have been reported killed in virtual civil war since May around Wuchow, an industrial town and transportation center in Kwangsi. Many reports say half the city has been laid waste by fire. Hundreds have been reported killed in battles around Canton, and fighting also has been reported around Nanning, capital of Kwangsi.

There is a belief in Hong Kong that the army leadership has split, with the two factions backing rival Red Guard groups. This could explain reports that both Red Guard groups had army weapons—grenades, rifles, automatic rifles and machine guns. Premier Chou En-lai was quoted as saying in May that chaos in Kwangsi had paralyzed the shipment of arms to Hanoi.

The Hong Kong Star said today Mao had sent Foreign Minister Chen Yi to Nanking to try to prevent a threatened revolt by troop commanders in the eastern seaboard region.

READY FOR ACTION — A federal government soldier, wearing camouflaged helmet and with ammunition belt draped around his torso, stands with other soldiers at a base in Agwu, Nigeria. The base is the point through which Nigerian authorities say they will open a "mercy corridor" to permit the entry of food and medicine to the stricken rebel state. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Many Blind Citizens Still Seeking Jobs

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — While job programs are devised almost daily to correct economic inequities, a poor but eager group that seeks only an opportunity sometimes must feel out of tune with the times.

These are the nation's 425,000 legally blind citizens, only 11,000 of whom have regular jobs, many of them paying close to the minimum wage. Although many blind people cannot work, thousands can work but can't find jobs.

Those that are employed often work in factories especially designed for the blind. And though blind workers have proved their skills in exacting factory jobs, their livelihood often is based in dustcloths and brooms and such.

The NIB, a nonprofit affiliation of 78 factories for the blind in 75 cities, attempts to upgrade the nature of blue collar work for the blind, research new products the blind might make, and coordinate buying and marketing of products.

If Goodpasture sounds a bit annoyed it might be because of the size of the job. "We need work," he said. "We have 5,000 jobs but we need 16,000 in five years." Eventually, he adds, "at least 25,000 should have blue collar employment."

Unfortunately, in most instances it must be the blind

themselves who will provide the jobs, mainly through organization and expansion of their own factories, or through use of their professional skills or ownership of newsstands.

As a result, almost all blind blue collar workers are employed in NIB factories, even though their skills are equal in many ways to sighted workers and their job safety records far exceed that of most other groups.

Output of these factories will perhaps surprise most people. In 1967 sales totaled $54 million, and the 5,000 workers earned $8,775,000 on an expenditure of six million manhours of labor. Seldom, however, do blind blue collar workers graduate from their own special industries.

tries into jobs where they compete with sighted workers. An obvious disadvantage is that many of them are multiple handicapped, maybe deaf or emotionally disturbed, and so cannot compete.

However, a good many could obtain competitive jobs if given the chance. "It's not that our workers are not good enough; it is industry's lack of acceptance," Goodpasture claims. This may or may not be industry's fault.

For many years the NIB did not try to educate industry in the values of employing blind workers, leaving that instead to state directors of vocational rehabilitation, or DVRs, as they sometimes are acronymed.

"Historically, our shops have not trained people with placeable skills," Goodpasture conceded. "We accept some of the responsibility for this, and now we are training them in occupations that are usable in other industries."

Nab Army Deserter, Sleeping in Car

A 22-year-old burglary suspect, arrested on June 28 in the New Paltz State University College parking lot for possession of stolen goods, has been turned over to U.S. Air Policemen after it was learned the suspect was wanted for desertion from the Army.

Originally stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., the man, E.J. Halub, alias E.J. Hall, had been on the FBI wanted lists for several years.

In the car was found three radios, allegedly stolen from the Western Auto outlet store on Main Street, on June 25.

Halub was then taken before Town of New Paltz Peace Justice Rexford Schneider and remanded to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $350 bail on two counts, one of being in possession of stolen goods, and the other, criminal trespassing, both in the third degree.

Halub, who had given his name as Hall, was vague as to his residence, claiming that he originally came from South Carolina.

Fingerprints were taken by State Police Sgt. Stanley Kowalik and BCI investigator Roger Gardiner and sent to the FBI in Washington D.C. for further investigation to determine if the man was using an alias and if he had any previous record.

The FBI wired back that Halub was Halub and that he was a U.S. Army deserter.

Brought back from the Ulster County Jail, Halub pleaded guilty to criminal trespassing before Justice Schneider who then sentenced the alleged deserter to 14 days in the county's jail.

On Friday, July 12, Halub was again brought before Justice Schneider and, upon the advice of assistant District Attorney Philip W. Schunk, the charge of possession of stolen goods was dismissed so that Halub could be turned over to Air Policemen from Stewart Air Force Base.

Saugerties Man Hurt in Crash

William Barris, 27, of Saugerties, was injured at 2 a.m. today when his car went out of control and hit a utility pole on Blue Mountain Road near Route 212 in the Town of Saugerties.

Kingston State Police said Barris was driving south when his car failed to negotiate a right curve. The vehicle left the pavement and hit a utility pole. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by the Saugerties Ambulance Service and treated for scalp lacerations and a fractured leg.

Troopers Thomas Crowley and David Wachtel cited Barris for driving without a license and operating a motor vehicle at a speed not reasonable and prudent. The summonses are returnable before Saugerties Town Justice Calvin H. Cody.

BERRY'S WORLD

© 1968 by NEA, Inc.
"Something in a diamond necklace—it's for ME!"Panthers Picket;
Leave Guns Home

By HAROLD V. STREETER

Associated Press Writer

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) —

The leggy girls swivel mini-skirts across their hips as they chant in rhythm:

"Time to get your gun."

"And USE it."

Inside the Alameda County courthouse, on trial on a charge of murdering a white policeman is Huey Newton, the handsome 26-year-old who organized the Black Panther party in 1966.

Around the heavily guarded block-long courthouse past doors locked on all but one side, their supporters march. And as they pass helmeted officers they calmly hiss in words clear enough to reach police ears, "Pigs go home."

Black leather jackets and black cloth berets distinguish the elite guard. They move in a precise military column only when squad leaders quietly pass the word. Some speak into walkie-talkies to where, none will say.

On each "Free Huey" button worn is a back-arched black panther.

"The panther doesn't attack anyone," Newton has explained the symbol choice, "but when he's forced into a corner he will strike out and he will not stop until the aggressor is wiped out."

Charging police brutality and disrespect for blacks, Newton's panthers began cruising the ghetto areas with guns in cars on watch for police patrol cars. They said their aim was, when arrests were attempted, to step up and advise the black suspects of their rights.

Panther leaders contended and Oakland authorities denied that this activity prompted police to "get" Newton. In October 1967, they got him—on a charge of shooting and killing a policeman who stopped his car.

Last April in a West Oakland gun battle, Black Panther Bobby Hutton, 18, was killed and two policemen wounded in another incident.

How many Black Panthers are there?

Always the answer from Black Panther sources is the same:

"Those who know don't say; those who say don't know."

Police intelligence puts the number at around 200. They come largely from the West Oakland ghetto where 40,000 Negroes are crowded together. There are more than 121,000 Negroes in all Oakland.

It has grown rapidly in recent years but now appears to be stabilizing.

Rioters Ravish
Downtown Akron

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Roving gangs of Negroes smashed windows, looted and stoned automobiles late Wednesday night and early today in a predominantly Negro section near the downtown area of this northeast Ohio industrial city.

Police used tear gas to disperse the gangs. Police said one looter was shot and wounded and another person was dragged from his car and beaten. One firebombing was reported. Police blocked off a five-block area of Wooster Avenue in the district.

Gov. James A. Rhodes immediately ordered about 700 National Guardsmen on standby alert at the High Street Armory near here. They were not deployed from the armory.

Police, some wearing steel helmets and armed with three-foot long riot sticks, said they believed the situation was under control at sunrise. Seventeen adults and about 20 juveniles were arrested on a variety of charges. A 16-year-old Negro boy was shot and wounded by police while looting, a police spokesman said. The unidentified youth was taken to Akron General Hospital where his condition was no immediately known.

Another Negro, an adult, was dragged from his car by a gang and beaten. He was treated for minor injuries at Akron Hospital and then released.

The disturbance first broke out late Wednesday night but order was quickly restored by police. Shortly after 2 a.m. EDT, it erupted again and Mayor John Ballard requested Rhodes to activate the guard.

The cause of the disturbance was not known. Police said 80-degree temperatures and high humidity forced large crowds into the streets.

State Approves Benedictine Building Plan

Mid-Hudson area hospital and nursing home construction projects have been approved by the New York State Health Department, according to announcement made by Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, state health commissioner.

Among those approved is a five-bed intensive care unit and four-bed coronary care unit for Benedictine Hospital.

Construction of a 120 bed, non profit nursing home in Hyde Park, sponsored by the Northeastern Conference Corporation of the Seventh Day Adventists gained state health department approval subject to social welfare board approval. The sponsors have requested a $1,440,000 mortgage loan under the state's Nursing Home Companies Law. The nursing home will operate under the name of the Northeastern Conference Nursing Home Co., Inc.

Cool 12 Months Economists' Goal

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — You don't hear much today about the New Economics, for in baseball, politics or economics you don't praise the coaches when they aren't winning. And there have been no real big winning streaks this year.

Still, some of the same spirit and confidence and sense of balance that made the New Economics appear to be such winners during the balanced boom of a few years ago will be needed during the next 12 months.

Sensitive Thermostats

During this time our economic leaders will be trying to cool things, but not to the degree of provoking a freeze. Their thermostats, so to speak, must be very sensitive, as were those of the New Economics.

The New Economists in their heyday advocated "fine tuning" to keep the economy constantly at a near maximum pitch, through use of short-term restraints such as temporary taxes, and spurs, such as lower taxes or more spending.

In a way, they viewed the economy as a pretty balloon to be kept firm and fat. If the balloon looked a bit tired they blew in enough air to make the wrinkles disappear. If needed, they could leak a little air from time to time.

For a while the New Economists seemed to keep the balloon firm, neither too taut nor too slack. And to this day you will not find a dyed-in-the-wool New Economist who will admit that failure was in their methods. They are more inclined to blame the politicians.

These politicians, it seems, became fascinated with the big bright balloon, saw in it a symbol of perfection and sought to make it more nearly perfect. They pumped in so much air that it appeared swollen and quite vulnerable to a pin.

So now, just as it was important to inflate to the proper pressure, it is necessary to let the air out at the correct speed and for the right length of time. It is a delicate job.

In most ways the present assignment is more ticklish than was that of the New Economists. The dollar must be protected for the sake of international monetary stability. Joblessness must not be permitted to rise so high as to ignite domestic unrest; mortgage money must not be permitted to dry up.

Above all, the economic coaches must be able to detect well in advance when recession threatens. This will be difficult, for this huge economy of ours reacts to the coaches' signals only months later. It yaws.

These signals that can be fed to the economy generally are of two types: Fiscal and monetary. Fiscal matters relate to government spending and taxing; monetary matters to the availability and cost of credit and money.

No Change for a Year

Most of the fiscal signals have now been given and cannot be changed for another year. That is, Congress has approved the rate of taxation and the amount of government spending for the present fiscal year.

The main responsibility, therefore, rests with the monetary manager, which is the Federal Reserve Board, made up of seven men appointed by the president and confirmed by the Senate for 14-year terms.

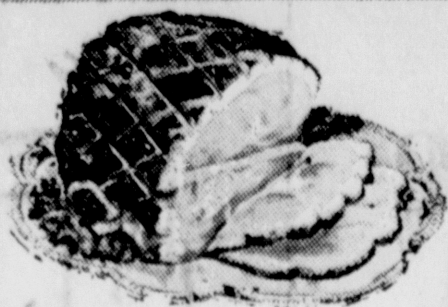

The board governs the Federal Reserve System, which consists of 12 regional banks and 24 branches whose purpose is not to make money in the manner of commercial banks but to supply enough credit and money for orderly economic growth.

There are many advisers to the board, all of whom are supposed to have their ears open to noise from the business community and be able to inform and offer ideas to the board.

The New Economists were balloon blowers. The present monetary managers must be tightrope walkers.

Candid Comment

WARSAW (UPI)—Kazimierz Dejmeke has been fired as director of the National Theater, government sources said Wednesday. His production of the Polish classic "Dziady" was criticized for anti-Russian lines such as: "The Russians have been sending here (to Poland) for 100 years fools, spies and jackasses."

Ahmed Hassan El Bakr, who has held both the vice presidency and premiership of Iraq in the past, was named president of Iraq by the "revolution command council" which seized power in a pre-dawn coup. ## 2 Men Have Key To Gun Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters of a gun control bill featuring registration and licensing of firearms claim strong backing on the House floor. But two congressmen with near life-and-death power over the measure say they still oppose such provisions.

President Johnson's proposal to ban mail-order sales of rifles, shotguns and ammunition survived its initial test in the House Wednesday when members agreed by voice vote to consider the bill.

A bipartisan group announced it would offer an amendment to the bill to include registration and licensing when it comes up for a vote Friday and a spokesman said he thought chances for passage were good.

Rep. Richard McCarthy, D-N.Y., said his group had contacted 200 colleagues and obtained a promising response.

"We are now in the process of contacting the other 200 uncommitted members to get them on our side," he told a news conference.

McCarthy expressed confidence a majority would be picked up favoring registration and licensing among the remaining 200 members.

McCarthy said he hopes Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., will "not vigorously press" his commitment to the House Rules Committee to oppose registration and licensing.

But Celler later indicated he had not changed his position. So did Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, ranking Republican on Celler's House Judiciary Committee.

Both men told the Rules Committee last week they would oppose toughening up Johnson's original gun proposal with registration and licensing for fear it would jeopardize passage of any gun measure.

Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex., said he would propose an amendment Friday setting mandatory sentences for anyone using or carrying a firearm during commission of a felony.

"It's time for us to get mad. Help us to bring justice, law and order and public safety back to our land," Casey said in a speech.

Local TAP Delegates Attend Rural Parley

A conference, co-sponsored by the New York State Technical Action Panel and Office of Economic Opportunity, the theme of which was Building Rural New York State was recently attended by Ulster County TAP members, Howard Cort, Harley Taylor, Stanley Leyden and Charles Locke.

Workshop topics considered were: Industrial Development, Physical Development, Expansion of Job Opportunities, Coordination of Federal, State and Local Agency Services in Rural Areas, Migrant Labor Problems and their Solutions, Health and Welfare of Senior Citizens and Education Opportunities in Rural Areas. A number of informative films were shown and exhibits viewed. Howard Bertsch, Administrator of the Farmers Home Administration, attended and spoke to the group.

The conference was well attended and participants had the opportunity to observe what has been accomplished, what is being done, as well as the plans and expectations for the future.

Hearing Held on River Widening

Plans for widening the existing channel in the Hudson River from New York to Albany and providing additional navigational aids in the river from Kingston to Albany were discussed at a public hearing held by the United States Corps of Engineers yesterday in Albany.

The hearing was attended by approximately 40 persons representing various interest groups in the area, including the Hudson River Valley Commission, the American Merchant Marines, and the U. S. Coast Guard.

Discussion at the hearing emphasized the need for a new study to be made by the Corps of Engineers regarding the river's navigational facilities. It channel is inadequate, especially the area between Kingston and Albany, because ships are getting larger and night navigation on the river has increased.

The Corps of Engineers will begin a survey of the river in order to determine whether the proposals are feasible. If they decide that the costs needed to undertake the project are economically justifiable, they will send their proposals to Congress for approval.

Plans include creating a channel 600 feet wide from New York to Kingston and a channel 400 feet wide from Kingston to Albany, as well as constructing turning basins and anchorage sites at various locations between Kingston and the barge canal at Waterford.

Heat is not needed to boil water at high altitudes. At 90,000 feet water boils by itself.

New Apartments In New Paltz

Another set of apartment units, 88 in all, are being constructed in the Village of New Paltz.

A bulldozer started clearing operations a week ago off Route 32 near the American Legion Hall.

The 88 units will be included within 10 buildings, each two stories high, according to developer Richard Shipton of Pittsfield, Mass.

"They will be regular apartments, not efficiencies," Shipton claimed, adding that "rents will be comparable to what is being charged in the area."

"They will be primarily for (New Paltz State University) college administrative people," he said.

Shipton further said that it had not been decided yet what heating system would be used, oil or electric.

All good sleeping surfaces consist of an innerspring mattress plus a foundation box spring of heavier coils to help the mattress produce the required conformity to the heavier parts of the body and take up the shock when people sit on the bed.

Of the three major parts of a modern mattress — the upholstery material, the mattress cover, and the innerspring unit — the innerspring unit is the key to comfort.

Last Nominating Convention in State 44 Years Ago

By FRANK H. RICE
ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—New York State has not played host to a presidential nominating convention in 44 years.

When the time comes to select a site for the big shows, Republicans and Democrats seem to have fallen into the habit of looking elsewhere.

Only twice since the days of Abraham Lincoln has a city in New York State had the honors. Both times it was by Democratic selection, and both times in "Fun City."

The first was in 1863 and the second 56 years later, which means, mathematically, that the United States has elected presidents 11 times since 1924 but has not held a nominating convention in this state.

When the Democrats roll out the carpet in Chicago next month, it will be the 22nd time the "Windy City" has had the honor being selected as a nominating convention site. Philadelphia, the "City of Brotherly Love," was chosen five times, as was St. Louis.

When the Republicans meet in Miami, Fla., also next month, it will be that city's first look at the man who could be the nation's next president.

In the 1924 convention in New York City, there were a few records set that may stand the test of time.

The session began June 24 and lasted through July 10. Delegates went through 103 weary roll calls before nominating John W. Davis only to have him lose the general election to a Vermont by the name of John Calvin Coolidge. He had been nominated by the GOP in Cleveland.

Designs Gadget to Take Daily Pills

By LOUDON KELLY

DENVER (AP) — A doctor prescribes daily medication for a patient who is going home after a stay in a hospital.

It is up to the patient to take it.

But there's many a slip between the physician's writing out a prescription and the patient's actually remembering to take his medicine every day as he should.

Dr. Thomas Moulding of the staff of the National Jewish Hospital at Denver is well aware of this "general failing and he has done something about it. He has devised a gadget designed to remind a person to take his pills daily.

"Taking pills is a nuisance," Dr. Moulding said. "A person gets forgetful or just plain lazy, or he isn't motivated enough. I would estimate that anywhere from 20 to 30 per cent of tuberculosis patients, for example, who need daily medication, fail to take it regularly after leaving the hospital."

The pill dispenser that Dr. Moulding has invented involves a rectangular metal container about 18 inches long which stands on end and holds a five-week supply of medication.

Placed In Box

Pills to supply the patient for one day are placed in a small square cardboard box labeled with the name of a day of the week. These boxes are stacked in the metal container in proper sequence—Sunday on the bottom, Monday's box on top of Sunday's and so on.

One opening at the bottom of the container allows the patient to read the name of the day on the pillbox and another opening permits him to draw the box easily from the metal holder.

Along the side of the container is placed a long strip of photographic film. The bit of uranium imprints a black dot on the film. If the patient takes his medication each day as he should, dots appear on the film in a vertical even row.

Uranium Source Drops

If he forgets for day or two the uranium burns into the film to the hospital," he said.

More Businessmen Score Tax Defeat

Central Businessmen Association today joined the Uptown Businessmen's group in its criticism of the County Legislature's negative vote last Thursday on a proposed county-wide sales tax.

Frank A. Reis, president of the Central Businessmen group said the members of his organization were amazed by the action of the Legislature in defeating a proposal to prepare a local law for the implementation of a 2 per cent sales tax for the county to start Jan. 1.

He said "We are also dumbfounded at the reasons given for not approving the authorization to proceed with the tax law proposal."

Reis said, "Majority Leader Douglas V. Dye, (R-2nd District) voted no, and stated he preferred economies in government instead of more taxes."

Ernest J. Gardner of the 11th District voted no on the grounds it was not the proper time as the 1969 budget is not completed. This statement was made in the evening session, and yet in the afternoon, they acted on the Community College budget approving an increase of $124,692 for just this one item.

"Also, as to the statement of Mr. Dye, a sales tax would not be an increase in taxes, but rather a substantial reduction in the general tax due to the following reasons:

"1967 figures show the rest area at Malden and Ulster on the Thruway for food and gasoline sales alone would have realized $50,719.37. Mind you many town taxes of 3 to 5 per cent," Reis noted.

"The general feeling of the association is that land taxes have to be reduced in the county if we want people to settle in the area and encourage new industry to locate in the county."

Almost Impossible
"Contrary to the statement made at the Legislature meeting to wait until figures on next year's budget are available in order to justify a sales tax, they well know that red tape and time would make it almost impossible to enact a local law. It's like locking the barn door after the horse has been stolen," Reis concluded.

The County Legislature by a vote of 23 to 9 Thursday night defeated a proposal to prepare a local law for the enactment of a 2 per cent county-wide sales tax. Several legislators defended the proposal, most of them representing the City of Kingston.

Kingston has had a 2 per cent sales tax in effect since March 1 and the local merchants and businessmen who must collect the tax in the city have indicated they are operating at a disadvantage because stores and businesses outside the city limits are able to make sales without charging the sales tax.

County Has New Data Book

Ulster County's growth continues at about the same rate it has during the past ten years, according to the new data book, Ulster County 1968, just published by the County Legislature by the County Planning Board. Population in 1967 was about 140,000. By 1995 it is expected to reach 221,000, a 58 per cent increase.

This rapid growth has brought home to government officials the need for planning. There are now 24 municipal planning boards in the county, whereas in 1963 when the County Planning Board was established there were only 15. The Town of Hardenburgh and the village of Pine Hill are the only municipalities with no planning activity at the present time.

There are now 13 municipalities with comprehensive plans as against four in 1963; subdivisions regulations in 12 municipalities against eight; and eight municipalities have zoning ordinances as against five on the earlier date.

In the five years, 1962-1967, motor vehicle registrations have risen from 56,340 to 69,625, an increase of 25 per cent. This puts an ever increasing strain on the 2,505 miles of highway in the county of which 1,313 miles are maintained by the municipalities, 418 by the county and 320 by the State, with some federal aid.

School enrollment has increased from 22,316 in 1960 to 29,308 in 1967, but the rate of increase is not as great as in the previous two years. These are just a few highlights from Ulster County 1968, the fact packed 76 page book. Other subjects covered in detail are population, the economy and sources of income, utilities, education and cultural facilities.

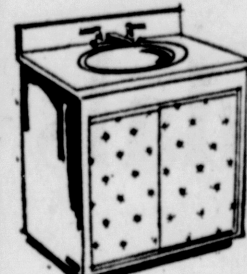

Copies of the data book may be obtained from the Ulster County Planning Board in the County Office Building or by mail.

Woodstock News WTTA Advocates More Pupils Per Classroom

The issue of desirable education versus adequate education was the subject under discussion at a recent meeting of the Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association at Deanies Restaurant.

According to Walter H. Schulman, president, WTTA passed a resolution to the effect that the boards of education throughout Ulster County should move vigorously to lessen the tax burden of the Ulster County homeowner by providing for more than 25 pupils per class. Also by refraining from hiring additional teachers each year to instruct expected new pupils on a basis of only 25 pupils per class. And, by reducing teaching staffs so as to effect the distribution of pupils in groups of more than 25 in a class in all instances where this maximum limitation is currently in force.

In the discussion prior to adoption of the resolution, it was noted that the statutory mandatory salaries and automatic annual salary increases of teachers, together with the funds for teachers retirement benefits, is a major item of the cost of operation of the public school system in Ulster County.

Pointing out that Ulster County homeowners are now doubly taxed by the direct real property tax on their homes for local public schools and by the state income tax to furnish the so-called "state aid" to these schools, Schulman stressed that the practice of limiting classes to a maximum of 25 pupils per class is not mandated or required by Education Law or by rule or regulation of the Commissioner of Education.

The state education authorities have merely recommended a maximum of 25 pupils per class as desirable, he said.

It was the consensus however, desirable a maximum of 25 pupils per class might be school children in general could receive adequate education in classes of more than 25 and even as large as 35 pupils, in the kind of community that Ulster County is.

Performing Arts Presents Original One-Act Plays

Two original one act plays, directed by Bob Burgos, will open at the Little Theater Performing Arts, Woodstock, Friday, and play Saturday and Sunday. The two following weeks, performances will be given on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays, July 25, 26, 27 and August 3, 4, 5.

Pearl Blackman will play the mother of Charles, in "Charles, the Child Beautiful", by Danny Klein. Mrs. Blackman will be remembered in the dual roles of Mrs. Clevinger and Miss Creeley, in PAW's production of "The White Angel", of Holly Beyne.

Pearl Blackman studied theater and radio techniques at the Abbe School of Dramatic Arts in New York City, before moving to Canada to work with The Montreal Playhouse, and in Toronto in the production of radio and television commercials for one of Canada's largest advertising agencies.

Larry Shufelt will play the father of Charles. He was a member of the University Players, while attending The University of Vermont, and last season played the part of Margin, in PAW's "The Banana Thief", by Holly Beyne. Larry Shufelt is a resident of Sawkill, and is a supervisor at GMAC in Newburgh.

house last summer in "The Madwoman of Chailiot", "West Side Story", and two children's plays, "The Emperor's New Clothes", and "Winnie the Pooh". This past winter he has been studying with Allen Miller, and with Kristan Linklater of the London Academy, at New York University School of Arts Theater Program. Ralph was semi-finalist in the International Clown Contest at Madison Square Garden, in 1966, and as banjoist and balladeer, has appeared recently at the Cafe Espresso.

"The Beholder", by Christopher Jones, will be played by Isabelle Liikala and Dean Schambach. Isabelle Liikala worked for her BFA in Painting at the Memphis Academy of Arts, and was given the Outstanding Young Woman of America Award in 1966. Mrs. Liikala has taught Fine Arts in Tennessee, and in Ohio, and has an extensive background in film making. Bob and Isabelle Liikala are the founders of Group 212.

Dean Schambach is a graduate of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. After five years of stock and off-Broadway engagements, he left the theater "to participate in real life", as a ski jumping champion, a photographer, and a banker. Dean Schambach is at present building houses, and light machinery, in Woodstock.

League of Women Voters Has New Book on Market

Mrs. William Peetoom, president of the League of Women Voters of Saugerties, has announced that the League of Women Voters has come forth in this election year with a timely new book, "Choosing the President."

This handy reference to one of the most important happenings in American politics explains step by step just how the President of the United States is nominated and elected. Highly readable, yet carefully documented, it is of interest not only to the average citizen who "wants to know," but also to teachers, students, clubs, church and community groups, businessmen, and public officials.

"Choosing the President" has been given by the U.S. Mission to the UN to all delegations of member nations. It has been sent by the United States Information Agency to their libraries overseas, and is being distributed by the Book - of - the - Month Club as a "Pro Bono Publico" this July — a book chosen because of its unusual social and historical importance.

Part I of "Choosing the President" answers such questions as "How are delegates to the national conventions chosen?" "How many electoral votes does my state have?" "What happens if a presidential nominee dies before election day?" and "If no presidential candidate receives a majority of the electoral college's votes, how is the President chosen?"

Approximately 80 boys and girls, primarily 7, 8, and 9 year olds, were present for the opening ceremonies on Thursday, July 11. Recreation Directors Pete Kramer and John Smith raised the flag while the children joined in with the Pledge of Allegiance. Town Supervisor Mike Schovel was on hand to welcome the children to the new program.

The morning program, designed primarily for ages 7-9, was conducted with enthusiasm as the children participated in games, relays, arts and crafts, and a free play period. During the free play period the children have an opportunity to engage in any activity to suit their own particular interests such as jump rope, tumbling, ropes and rings, and individual games.

The afternoon program was also met with enthusiasm as 70 boys and girls ranging from 10-18 showed up for the program. The activities included team games, ping-pong, tumbling, free play and arts and crafts.

Some of the highlights for the first two days were arts and craft stick project, building of scooters for races to be held in the future, and the organization of softball teams.

Cadet Carey A. Anderson is one of seven young high school graduates who have turned "summer soldier" for a six-week "tour" at Ft. Benning, Ga. near Atlanta.

Cadet Anderson, who will enroll as a freshman at Georgia Military College in the fall, reported for duty last month and expects to complete the Basic ROTC Summer Camp by July 26.

Along with other ROTC students from throughout the nation, he will receive instruction and practical exercises in care and cleaning of clothing and equipment, marksmanship, weapons, first aid, personal hygiene, tactics, and customs and courtesies of the U.S. Army. All of this is part of the modified ROTC program which now offers a two-year as well as a four-year program for high school graduates who plan to attend a junior military college. Under the revised plan, the students may attend a six-week basic camp in lieu of the first two years of the four-year program. When they enroll at GMC this fall, they will then enter the first year of Advanced ROTC, Military Science III. The following summer they will attend the Advanced ROTC Summer Camp at Fort Bragg, N.C. and then enroll in the MS IV course in Advanced ROTC. After this final phase of the program, Cadet Anderson will be eligible for a Second Lieutenant's commission in the Army. He may choose to accept it when he graduates from GMC or elect to wait until he earns his college degree. This opportunity to complete their formal education prior to fulfilling military obligations is one of the many major advantages this historic Middle Georgia junior military college offers young high school and college-age citizens.

Anderson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Anderson of Broad Street, West Hurley.

LAWRENCE BROWN — son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown of Stone Ridge, graduated last month from eight weeks of Marine Corps basic training at Parris Island, S.C. Private Brown is now stationed at Camp LeJeune, N.C., for advanced infantry training.

Walgreen Seminar

Deans and professors from 13 pharmacy colleges attended Walgreen's 1968 Seminar in Pharmacy Administration at the firm's headquarters in Chicago recently during which they received a first-hand study of the company's latest business techniques.

The educators will incorporate their findings into classroom curriculum to further help prepare students for successful pharmacy management careers.

The seminar was a refresher session designed as a review of recent years' retail drug field developments for educators who attended previous Walgreen seminars. They covered subjects ranging from choosing store locations and personnel training to merchandising, advertising and accounting procedures.

Firms Consolidate

Martin Marietta Corporation announced today it is consolidating the management of certain of its rock product operations that serve the metropolitan New York and New Jersey markets.

Raymond J. O'Laughlin, president of the Rock Products Division, said that, effective July 1, the Rock Industries Company facilities at Haverstraw and Tomkins Cove, on the Hudson River above New York City, became operating elements of Martin Marietta's Appalachian Stone Division.

Appalachian Stone, which has headquarters at Harrisburg, Pa., presently operates twelve plants producing crushed stone, pulverized limestone, limestone sand, agricultural fertilizers and chemical grade stone for markets in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland.

O'Laughlin noted that, in today's action, Appalachian Stone gathers market strength from a larger operating base, and he announced further that Martin Marietta has just completed a $2.5 million completely modernized production unit at Haverstraw.

J. J. Searle, who has been serving as Appalachian's president, will continue in that role for the consolidated new Appalachian Stone, O'Laughlin said.

Victory Markets Reports On Expansions Plan, Sales

Charles A. Smith Jr., president of Victory Markets Inc., reports that during the first 26 weeks of operation in 1968, the company attained record sales and record profits. Sales for the period were $37,459,379, which represents an increase of $3,684,632, or a 7.4 per cent increase over the same period in 1967.

Profits from operations amounted to $1,295,592, an increase of $491,953 over 1967, an increase of 61.2 per cent. Net profits amounted to $539,128, an increase of $198,981 over 1967, an increase of 58.5 per cent. Net earnings per share for the first 26 weeks of 1968 equalled 41 cents as compared with 26 cents in the same period of 1967. The increases in income and franchise taxes on 1968 income amount to $55,258 due to changes in the tax law of 1968. Smith indicated the 1968 profit increase would have been $254,239 or 74.7 per cent over the same period in 1967 without these increases in income and franchise taxes.

Smith reported that the expansion program is proceeding in line with projections. Currently under construction is a 62,000 foot addition to warehouse facilities at Borden Avenue, and a 2,500 square foot computer room addition to our headquarters facilities. This addition will be humidity-controlled and air-conditioned to accommodate the new 9300 Univac Computer, which is scheduled for delivery on Sept. 1 of this year.

The company currently have under construction new supermarkets in Oswego, New Paltz and Elmira. Major remodeling has been accomplished in Norwich, and are currently undergoing a major remodeling in Ellenville. Two new supermarkets have been opened in Jordan and Walton. Five former Oneida markets at Ft. Plain, Cherry Valley, Grand Gorge, Fonda and Cairo were acquired in April of this year, and are now operating as beneficial assets under the Victory name.

The company currently has 80 markets in operation. Later this month, the company will open its first self-service discount gas station in Walton. Several other sites for this type business are currently being surveyed.

Smith attributed the improvement in operations to be a result of total company effort on the part of all personnel. The slight increase in gross income margins and a reduction in administrative and selling expenses percentage-wise are the reflection of total company efforts. He anticipates the enthusiasm and the momentum which have made these significant changes possible will continue and that the management anticipates a favorable second half of a most successful year.

The Detroit River is known as the "Dardanelles of the New World."

Winnie-the-Pooh In Woodstock Saturday at 11

The wonderful world of Winnie-the-Pooh comes to life on the stage of The Woodstock Playhouse on Saturday, July 20 at 11 a.m.

Taken from A. A. Milne's "The House at Pooh Corner" the show will have Christopher Robin surrounded by his whimsical animal friends, Piglet, Owl, Kanga and Roo, as well as Eeyore the donkey, and Tigger.

Pooh, the lovable teddy bear to generations of children, will preside at a Mergency Meeting, with one paw resting on his favorite jar of honey. Christopher Robin is set to leave for the world of education and Eeyore wants a house. What these predicaments mean to the animals of Pooh Corner provide the whimsy and fun.

Barbara Kendall will direct and design this show with costumes by both Barbara Kendall and Cornelia Hartmann. The apprentices of The Woodstock Playhouse will take the roles of the various animals and Christopher Robin.

Tickets for the one performance of "Winnie the Pooh" may be obtained at the box office.

Creative Cooking Contest at State Fair--August Deadline

What's cooking? Lots of things in the Creative Cooking Contest at the 1968 New York State Fair. Would you prefer to go to a swinging party, or maybe a trip to Austria?

Adventurous people with a white thumb for baking and other culinary arts can win some of the $1,921 in premiums offered by this department of the Art and Home Center if the deadline date of Friday, August 16 is met.

Each day the contest will feature Austrian cooking along with refreshments for a recreation party. For the opening of the Fair on Tuesday, August 27, a Touchdown Party is scheduled with entries exclusively from teen-agers under 18 years of age. Wednesday is a swim party, Thursday, a skating party, Sunday, Christmas Giving and Monday, Labor Day, an Austrian Kaffeeklatsch.

The Kaffeeklatsch is the climax to a week of Austrian recipe judging. It features the flavor of Austrian coffee along with Austrian tortes and coffee cakes. Grand Prizes will be awarded on this day with lucky persons taking home an 11 cubic foot freezer and 17 other prizes.

Labor Day also highlights a new feature of the Creative Cooking Contest--The Bon Voyage Package. This package is of specified weight and size, and contains whatever the entrant wants to put in it. The winning entry will be given to a serviceman of the contestant's choice, or the USO.

The Fair runs from Aug. 27 through Labor Day in Syracuse.

Craftsmen Wanted

There are substantial prizes for artist craftsmen. The description is as follows: A New York State resident, who is skilled in weaving, ceramics, rugs and tapestries, metalwork, woodcraft, or other crafts, who has the entry fee of 50 cents and can meet the deadline date of Friday, Aug. 2.

If you fit this description, then the Crafts Department of the Art and Home Center at the New York State Fair is looking for you.

Jurying by point system will be used in judging the crafts and decision of the judges will be final, but for entrants who win top honors there is a total of $1,330 in cash prizes waiting as reward.

For further investigation write for a premium book complete with entry blank to: Entry Department, New York State Fair, Syracuse, New York 13209.

But competition is only half of what the Crafts Department has to offer. The person who makes his way to the Crafts Corner of the Art and Home Center during Fair Week will find a contemporary exhibit of crafts chosen by Thomas Kyle of the Museum of Contemporary Crafts, a pottery demonstration and a weaving demonstration, both of which will continue all day, every day, to give the Fairgoer an opportunity not only to see the artists in action, but to ask questions about the process so he can try it himself.

The Crafts Department located on the main floor of the Art and Home Center is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily during the 1968 New York State Fair which runs from Aug. 27 through Labor Day in Syracuse.

In Pakistan, It's Family Planning vs. Famine

By HELEN HENNESSY
WASHINGTON, D.C. (NEA)—
Knowledge of family planning
in underdeveloped countries can

The "loop" or IUD.

mean the difference between hunger and a full stomach.
Narrowing the gap between food and mouth in such countries as Pakistan is the major task of the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID).
The gap is being narrowed by raising food production and lowering birth rates.

In addition to massive agricultural assistance, AID is providing Pakistan with new weapons in the struggle against overpopulation. Among other things, it is training key personnel who administer more than 3,000 family-planning centers throughout the country.
And the Pakistanis are taking great steps toward meeting this help more than halfway.

Doctors at a family-planning center in East Pakistan were surprised recently to find an old man waiting in line for a vasectomy. He had come, he said, to collect the 20 rupees paid as an incentive to those willing to undergo sterilization. The old man then introduced five sons who,
he said, had made the same decision.

"You realize, of course," said the doctor in charge of surgery,
"that you will not have any more grandsons?" The old man laughed. "Promises, promises.
All we get are promises."

This is a promise that the government of Pakistan intends to keep, according to AID.
Through sterilization of men and use of the intra-uterine device (IUD) by women, Pakistan is making rapid progress toward a five year goal which would cut back the rate of births 20 percent by 1970.

The family-planning program is closely tied to Pakistan's efforts to attain early self-sufficiency in food production. The birth rate increase exceeds 2.5 per cent annually. Without a successful family-planning program, Pakistan's population would double within 20 years and wipe out all the efforts being made to develop the country.

AID's health and family planning team in Pakistan includes a full-time demographer, public health adviser, physician, two nurse advisers and two health educators. About 40 Pakistanis are receiving specialized training in the United States and other countries in health education and administration, nursing education and mass communication techniques.

The U.S. agency also provides Pakistan with contraceptives, vehicles including jeeps and motors for boats to reach remote villages and local currency support for family-planning centers. In the fiscal year of 1968 the agency expects to obligate $750,000 for family-planning work as well as $5.3 million in Pakistani rupees generated through sale of U.S. food under the Food for Freedom program. In 1967 a loan for $168,000 in local currency helped a number of family-planning projects, including expansion of a factory for contraceptive pills.

The manufacture and distribution of oral contraceptives, however, is largely confined to the private sector in Pakistan.
The government's family-planning program has relied primarily on IUD, sterilization operations and contraceptives other than pills.

By the end of 1967, the intrauterine devices used totaled almost 1.2 million or 40 per cent of the five-year goal set in 1965.
Use of the device increased from 25,000 in the first year to 49,000 in the second and 59,000 in the first half of 1967. By 1970 the rate of usage is expected to average 67,000 a month.

More than 300 lady health "visitors" have been trained to help the doctors. Their duties include reassuring women who often walk for miles to reach the rural or urban clinics only to have last-minute doubts about the rumored side-effects of the IUD.

Even more dramatic than the IUD program is the unexpected success of the sterilization program in East Pakistan where, according to AID, more than 181,000 operations have been performed.

In all, there are now 2.3 million couples practicing birth control in Pakistan — or more than half of the 5 million couples to be brought into the program by 1970.

Look Here Mrs. Homemaker

The chicken of today descends from the wild jungle fowl of Asia, says Louise M.
Kakargo, Extension Home
Economist. The jungle fowl which existed as early as 1400
B.C. produced little meat and few eggs. It lived wild for centuries until man domesticated it first for sport, then later for exhibiting purposes and for meat and eggs.

While early settlers brought chicken to America and started small home flocks in Jamestown in 1607, they did little to develop the birds as a source of eggs and meat. They appreciated the eggs, but hens at that time produced only a few, as do wild birds of today. They used chickens mainly for feathers and cockfights, a sport now illegal in the United States.

During the era of the poultry fancier, from 1870 to 1920, a large number of Americans raised chickens as a hobby to enter in competitive poultry shows. Chickens were developed of a uniform type and color patterns for contests and in the process contributed to improved breeds. Commercial poultry farms became large scale in the 1920's and have grown at a rapid pace ever since. Chicken has become increasingly important in the diets of Americans. When buying chicken for frying, roasting, brais-ing or stewing, allow about 1/2 pound, ready to cook weight for each serving.

Refrigerate fresh chicken as soon after purchase as possible. Remove any transparent film packaging from the chicken, cover it loosely, and store it in the coldest, non-freezing part of the refrigerator. Store frozen fresh chicken at 0 degrees F. or lower. Use the chicken within 6 to 7 months.
To thaw chicken for cooking, place chicken in its original wrap in the refrigerator; allow 12 to 24 hours for broilers and longer for larger birds. When necessary to speed thawing, place the bird in its original wrapping in a pan under cold running water; allow 1/2 to 1 hour for broilers and longer for larger birds. Cook chicken promptly after thawing; for best quality, do not refreeze it.

ROME (AP) — A handsome waistline is the most valuable asset a girl can have if she wants to look like a million dollars in the new Italian fashion creations for fall and winter.

Baratta and newcomer Andre Laug today both showed the slender-line silhouette that has taken the Rome collections by storm. Nothing could be more flattering than the gently flared redingote that is everybody's darling this season.

Most Roman designers have heaped on the jeweled embroideries, laces and brocades with such a prodigious hand that as a steady diet it all becomes a bit too rich for the blood.

That's why Andre Laug's unassumingly handsome little collection comes like a breath of fresh air. His line is young and fresh, prim and proper.

Clean-lined, high-waisted re-dingtons sport huge saddlebag pockets set on the slant, or small, neat pocket flaps diagonally placed on the hip.

Curved seams exactly matched on coat and dress ensembles underline a small bust, or point up a slender waist.

Sometimes these are used below the bust and at the hip for a corset midriff effect.

Models wear glazed serpent skin, open crown domes or helmets with matching belts. There are a few gold or silver long shirtwaisters, but even these have plain skirts and prim unadorned collars and cuffs.

Laug is satisfied with two tiny rhinestone buttons to trim a fairly restrained, too. He uses slim sleeveless black cocktail dress. His one knockout number is a plain black tube, cut in two up the ends of long scarf collars diagonally at the midriff and laced together again with a same trim.

SUMMER FUN IS ENHANCED
PICNICERS

Everyone loves a picnic. Almost everyone—that is, the manners of some picnickers are so atrocious that others prefer to stay in the seclusion of their homes. Why not try to add to the pleasure of those who love outdoor eating on beaches, in parks or on country roads by being thoughtful, neat, conscious of those who come later —in short, COURTEOUS—in your picnic manners?

If you can truthfully answer
"yes" to all of the following questions, you are one of those who are welcome to picnic at any public or private area any-place, any time.

1. Do you put out your beach fires with water before you leave? If you don't a breeze may blow sparks into dry beach grass, and if you cover it with sand, a barefoot bather may burn his feet terribly.

2. Do you keep your dog on a leash whether there are signs requiring it or not? Or, if not on a leash, close to you where he cannot molest or scare other picnickers?

3. Do you insist that your young children take their turns on swings or other playground equipment?

4. Do you pick up and take home all your unburnable refuse, or put it in a nearby litter basket?

5. Do you keep your toddlers from joining other groups—begging for food, spraying sand, plying relaxed sunbathers with questions, etc?

6. Do you forbid your small children to play in the surf unless you—not other swimmers—are there to watch them?

7. Do you insist that your teenagers refrain from playing frisbee, softball or touch football over, around, and through other groups of picnickers?

8. Do you remove your trash from public picnic tables, promptly leaving them clean and ready for the next group?

9. Do you see that your youngsters refrain from destroying flowers and plants in park areas?

10. Do you insist that your family throw candy wrappers, soft drink cans, etc. in trash barrels, or take them home to be disposed of?

Fashion Scene: Men Choose Nehru

Fashion is going back to school this fall, but students have learned a few lessons about that subject. The current trend to styled-up campus clothes is more evident at the high school level—but it is far from being unique in the halls of higher learning.

This year when you spot a man on a college campus wearing a tunic, it's a safe bet that he isn't an exchange student from Bombay. Rather than a locker key dangling from a cord around his neck, he is apt to be wearing either love beads or a pendant. The straight, baggy "meatball" suit and sport coat that was once the hall mark of the true collegian has given way to some definitely shaped models that are likely to have deep side vents or the deep center vent.

While there is nothing new about double-breasted blazers rating high in student wardrobes, the newer double-breasted models cut an updated figure. In addition to being decidedly "waisted," they are apt to have six- as well as four-buttons, and some will have a very deep inverted pleat at the back in place of the usual vent.

The younger teen men are also showing a great deal of enthusiasm for suits with panels, belts and interesting pocket treatments a part of the coats. Those casual suits have the added advantage of the coat being adaptable as a sport jacket.

Another high school winner is the double-breasted cardigan blazer, especially when it is teamed with the turtlenecks that are almost a must for wear with the blazers.

Obviously, not all of the campus crowd will go for the Guru look, and there will still be a strong showing of conservatively stylish suits and sport coats at most of the nation's colleges—but updated in color, pattern and silhouette.

Important among these will be the three-button vested suit in full-scale, harmoniously colored glen plaids, a very lively "country look" in colorful tweeds and chevrons and a host of dark blues, either plain or striped, an enduring part of the scene.

As far as the university sport coat is concerned, the plaids are still big and bold, but the colors are more apt to harmonize than to contrast as they did in recent years. None the less "sporting" in their newer concepts, the plaids, checks, windowpanes and tattersalls usually have at least one (sometimes two or three) bright accent shades in their pattern-work.

While the shetlands and tweeds with their lofty naps are still the style leaders in sport coats other than blazers, a new "smoother look" has been introduced this fall. Called "Saxony," this revived close-cropped cloth is a welcome addition to the casual coats.

As a matter of fact, some of the more restrained saxonies will be worn in glen plaids as part of the expanding "country look" trend. They lend themselves particularly well to the shaped, deeply vented models which, combined with natural shoulders, will be the choice of students for fall 1968.

PERSIAN LAMB on the campus? It's definitely part of the booming popularity of furs for men.

EVEN GREEK-LETTER college men may find India more to their taste this fall, reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. For casual social events, the Nehru suit continues as the popular style. Every college man will want one in either single — or double-breasted styling, and he will complete the look with chains or apache scarves — or maybe both.

Tiny Tips

Burned Pie Crust

You've burned your pie crust and, worse yet, it's stuck. Try soaking it for a few minutes with a little liquid bleach in the water. The crust then comes off easily. Of course, the crust is wasted but you still have the pan, at least.

Stains in Plastic Cups

To remove coffee and tea stains in plastic cups, soak the cups in a solution of baking soda and water.

Stale Odors

Troubled by stale odors in a room? Leave a dish of household ammonia in the room overnight. Then if the stove needs to be cleaned, place the dish in the oven for a few hours—without heat, of course. The fumes will soften up the burned grease and make it much easier to clean.

To Wash Tennis Shoes

You can put white tennis shoes in the wash-rinse cycles of your washer. Not only will they come out fairly clean but polishing them while they're wet will give them a smooth finish without using too much polish.

Water Rusty

If the water supply in your area is rusty, do your laundry in two cycles. First do it the regular way; then rewash it using only detergent and no bleach.

Fashions Feature Jungle Beasts

By NADEANE WALKER
AP Fashion Writer

ROME (AP) — American Ken Scott caused a sensation Tuesday night with a dazzling fall and winter collection that turned models into sleek beasts of the jungle.

Always the showman, the American enfant terrible of Italian haute couture billed his presentation as the Ken Scott Circus. And a circus it was with real circus acts for openers and his own wares as the climax.

The "bravos" that greeted his line were among the loudest heard in the Italian fashion shows this week—and this includes those for Valentino, the Dior of Italy.

Prettiest in the Scott collection were his gypsy clothes. But the most breathtaking was the jungle group, for which the mannequins wore leopard and zebra dyed hair to match, and even elephant-ear hairdos which flapped past the shoulders.

The brilliant colors that have been largely absent from couture collections this season burst out in the Scott collection. Tiger prints in green, yellow and orange led off for beach and resort wear. Shirts covering bikinis were belted widely in bright leather. The gents' version was cut in old-fashioned one-piece style and printed with Gay Nineties wrestlers.

Plastic-coated prints made up raincoats gay enough to brighten the grayest day, with jungle animal, clown and mosaic

Receives Degree

Martin R. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Thomas of Elmwood Street, Forest Glen Park, received the Doctor of Medicine Degree in recent commencement ceremonies at the University of Rochester School of Medicine and Dentistry. Thomas was one of 64 medical graduates at this year's commencement, in which the University awarded 1,626 degrees.

Heinz Mews to Defend Wiltwyck Invitational Title

LEON RANDALL

RONNIE MARKS

Heinz Mews, the 1-handicap player from Dogwood Knolls in Hopewell Junction, is defending champion in the 11th annual Wiltwyck Invitational Tournament which gets underway Friday at the uptown links.

But the man who has dominated the event through the years is club member Harvey Bostic, who goes into this year's competition with four wins and one runnerup slot in 10 years. Leon Randall has won a pair of Invitionals, with two runnersup spots. Solo winners besides Mews are Bill Kaufman, Bob Botsford of Dutchess; and Ronnie Marks, a former Wiltwyck player who now resides in Colorado but will be on hand for the tournament.

Beat Smith

Mews defeated Joe Smith Jr., the crack Powelton Golf Club 2-handicapper, 2 and 1 in the 1967 finals.

Bostic captured the inaugural Invitational in 1958 defeating his golf crony, Leon Randall, 3 and 2. Leon reversed the score a year later. Bostic then went on to win again in 1960 and back to back 1965-66, the only player to achieve that feat.

Randall and Bostic are the only scratch players in the field, but Tournament Director Richard Davenport says several other topnotchers are listed among the maximum field of 128 entries.

In addition to Smith, the 2-handicapper, Sal Molella, handicapper, is back in Kings- Millbrook Country Club champion; Botsford and Dan Gaffney of the host club.

Hughes, Van Aken Play

Pegged at 3-handicap are Gary Lewis of Stamford; Bill Van Aken and George Hughes, perennial champions at Woodstock and Twaalfskill, respectively; Bill McCullen and Harold Van Aken of Wiltwyck and Bill Odeneal, the fine untached shotmaker from the Granit Club at Accord.

Marks, employed by IBM at Boulder, Colorado, carries a 4-handicapper, he is back in Kings-

Qualifying round is scheduled Friday, with the low 16 shooters qualifying for the Championship Flight. Players in this flight play 36 holes a day on Saturday and Sunday.

A consolation round is scheduled Sunday.

The usual round of socials will be held in conjunction with the tournament. A cocktail hour is scheduled Friday night and dinner-dance on Saturday. Prizes will be awarded at the conclusion of the competition on Sunday.

Ted's Outlast Boo's In Met Thriller, 5-2

The first and second place teams in the Met Division of the Saugerties Softball League met head on last night and produced a league classic.

League leading Ted's Essos defeated runnerup Boo's Tavern, 5-2, in an 11-inning contest for their 11th win in 13 decisions. Ted's pushed three runs across in the top of the 11th to break up a brilliant pitching duel between their own Maurice Hinchey (11-2) and Barney Hoyt (8-3) of Boo's.

Singles by Ross Melville and Dan O'Connor triggered the winning rally. Both moved up on a wild pitch and both tallied on an error by shortstop Jack Bartells. John Hinchey then doubled in the third run of the inning.

After the third inning, Hinchey yielded only two singles and both were erased on double plays.

Both teams scored twice in the first inning and then it was gooseseeds until the 11th. In Ted's half of the first, Al Whitaker doubled and scored on wild throw to first. Dan O'Connor's single drove in the second run.

A bunt single by Barney Hoyt with the bases loaded resulted in two runs for Boo's in the bottom half of the first.

O'Connor clugged four singles in five trips for Ted's and Maurice Hinchey added a pair. Rich Greco hit two singles for Boo's.

No games are scheduled tonight, as the diamond will be the site of a donkey ball game at 8 p. m. with Snyder Hose Co. and Keeley's Killers participating.

Alternate Spot For Ed Byman

Ed Byman of Wiltwyck Country Club survived a playoff to win the second alternate's spot for the United States Golf Association Junior Boys championship at Brookline, Mass., July 30-Aug. 3.

Byman posted 39-36-75 in the qualifying round at Schuylard Meadows in Albany to tie with Ed Cardish Jr. of Troy, then beat him in the playoff.

Jackie Callahan, a 17-year-old graduate of Bishop Gibbons High School in Albany, shared the lead with Cardish's Neil Spitalny with 1-over-par 73's. Both carded 36-37.

Spitalny's brother, Pete, earned the first alternate spot with a 36-38-74, one stroke ahead of Byman and Cardish.

Bays' Late Goal Nets 1-0 Victory

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Rookie Mike Maliszewski made a dramatic debut for the Baltimore Bays Wednesday night, scoring the first goal of his pro soccer career with 10 minutes left in a 1-0 victory over the New York Generals before a crowd of 4,540.

The triumph kept Baltimore's hopes alive in the Atlantic Division of the North American Soccer League as the fourth place Bays evened their record at 10-10-2. Third place New York stands 7-5-9.

Overfield Hits Monday Loop 604

Wiltwyck Juniors Beaten First Time

Wiltwyck Country Club's junior golf team lost its first match in three years of Mid-Hudson Junior Golf Classic competition this week. But there was a catch to it. It was the second team that dipped Wiltwyck's banner after 13 consecutive victories and two MHJG championships.

While the big guns—Ed Byman, Joe Bostic and Werner Kollin—were in Albany trying to qualify for the USGA National Juniors, the second line Wiltwyck squad bowed to Winding Brook of Valatie, 359 strokes to 343.

Woodstock Country Club and Catskill tied with 370 strokes. Columbia Country Club posted 425 and Red Hook was last with 437. For the second straight week, The Twaalfskill Club failed to field a team.

Fourteen-year-old Bobby Byman of Wiltwyck was the only player in the field to break 80 over the par 36-36-72 layout. Jim Pickler and Peter Bolton of Winding Brook had 82 and 86, respectively. Pickler fired 42-40 and Bolton, 43-43. Bill Fitzpatrick of Catskill had 44-45-89.

Low net honors went to Warren Shaw of Red Hook on 89-18-71. Other lows: Dave Rood, Winding Brook, 88-15-73; John Buoymaster, Woodstock, 90-16-74; Mike Lewis, Red Hook, 97-23-74.

Aggregate totals after two rounds of play are: Wiltwyck 637, Winding Brook 678, Woodstock 694, Catskill 712, Columbia 762, Red Hook 779.

The next round is scheduled Tuesday at Twaalfskill.

Twaalfskill Victory For Mrs. Hallenbeck

Mrs. Gertrude Hallenbeck, the gallant Catskill Golf Club campaigner who has a closet full of trophies to attest to her prowess over the years, fired a 41-40-81 to lead the 55-player field in the annual Twaalfskill Club Women's Invitational.

Mrs. Hallenbeck, a former New York state regular and seniors champion, carved out a one stroke victory over Mrs. William D. Harris, former Twaalfskill and county champion, in the searing 95-degree heat. Mrs. Harris carded nines of 42-40 for 82. Third place went to another club champion, Mrs. Richard (Betty) Davenport of Wiltwyck with 87.

Mrs. Harris' 82-12-70 led the Class A net.

Class B low gross honors went to Mrs. Werner Kollin of Wiltwyck with an 89. Mrs. Kollin also led the B net division with her 89-21-68. Runnerup was Mrs. Robert Russell of Twaalfskill with 93-24-69.

Second low gross in Class B went to Mrs. Sam Greenspan, Wiltwyck with 92. Mrs. Russell, Mrs. N. Levan Haver of Twaalfskill also matched par and Carol Levine of Wiltwyck

Mrs. Feeney and Mrs. Bostic shared low net honors in Class C with 72's. Mrs. Feeney played to a 31 handicap and Mrs. Bostic, wife of the crack Wiltwyck golfer, had 32 handicap strokes.

Mrs. Arlene Spiesman of Wiltwyck, the reigning Ulster county women's champion, was the other player to break "90" in the Class A field, with her 88. A 14 to tie with Mrs. William Brinnier (92 - 18) of Rip Van Winkle Country Club at Palenville.

Snead: "I Got Right Mental Attitude"

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Sam Snead, at his peak as a money-winner in the twilight of his career, today faced the task of beating the heat, old age, an antagonistic course and a field of 167 to win a coveted fourth PGA championship.

But Snead, at 56, is ready. "I got the right mental attitude about it," he said after a two-over-par 72 practice round Wednesday. "I'm not going at it like it's win this or else. If you've won it once, then the second, third and fourth times aren't so hard."

"It won't be as hard as, say for Arnold Palmer, who's been trying so hard to win this one."

Snead, who has won more than 100 tournaments since he turned pro in 1934, knows what he's talking about. He's had the same kind of pressure in the U. S. Open, the only major tournament he has never won.

Snead won the PGA in 1942, 1949 and 1951 when it was match play. He received $3,500 for his 1951 victory. This year the first-place money is $25,000, more than Snead has ever won in one tour event.

His biggest paycheck was $24,000 last week for a second-place finish in the $200,000 Milwaukee Open. Before that it was $10,000 at Tam O'Shanter. The $37,682 he has won so far this is the most of his life, surpassing the $35,759 of 1950 when he was the leading money-winner. He ranks 29th this year.

A fourth PGA crown would please Snead immensely. It would break a tie with Gene Sarazen, who also has won three, and put him behind only the immortal Walter Hagen 5 in PGA championships.

"There's nobody won a major tournament at 56 years old either," said the man who also has won three senior PGA titles. "I think I'm in better shape than many of the younger players."

Barbers Victor In Saugerties

Mouse Wolven, Michael's Barber Shop hurler, was able to come up with the big out when he needed it, seventh inning included, as he nipped a two-run Statewide rally in the final frame before things got dangerous and gave the Barber's a 4-2 Saugerties Softball League Yankee Division victory.

Wolven, who had stranded a dozen baserunners for Statewide Upholstery, almost frittered away a 4-0 lead going to that final stanza.

A double by Jim Farrell drove in Michael's first tally, coming in the second inning. A trio of runs came in the very next frame when Bill Hanna singled, Mickey Iannone doubled, Bill Fish's single resulted in a wild relay throw and Buster Buel's sacrifice fly sent Fischer from third.

Statewide's two runs were in and none were out in the final inning, but Wolven set down the next three batters to close out the victory.

Wolven struck out 13, walked nine. Bob Campbell, Statewide pitcher, walked four, pitched nine.

Abernathy Gives Bristol Hope

The reason is Ted Abernathy.

Toledo Batter Finally Bests Wings Pitcher

By United Press International

All-Star pitcher Rick Delgado of Rochester faced All-Star infielder Dave Campbell of Toledo Wednesday night, and for a change, it was the hitter who came out on top.

Campbell, named to the International League All-Star team Tuesday, slammed a grand slam homer off Delgado, now 8-4, in the bottom of the fifth to lead a Mud Hen rally which turned a 5-1 deficit to an eventual 8-6 victory. The win increased Toledo's first place lead to 3 1-2 games over the second place Red Winos.

In other IL action, Columbus routed Richmond 15-3 and Louisville edged Jacksonville 4-3 in the only other games scheduled.

Elvio Jimenez hit his ninth and 10th homers of the season to lead Columbus and Jim Shellenbach, now 3-5, to a convincing victory. Frank Kreutzer was charged with his eighth loss in nine decisions for the Braves.

a 35-year old much-traveled submarine ball relief pitcher, who is compiling an eye-popping record during a season in which remarkable pitching performances have been commonplace.

The 6-foot, 4-inch right-hander from Stanley, N.C., who has pitched for five major league teams since 1960, has appeared in no fewer than 45 games, sports a 7-1 record and a glittering 0.79 earned run average. He has allowed seven earned runs in 80 innings and prevented a Cincinnati staff plagued by sore arms from falling apart completely.

Of Abby, as he is known by his teammates, pitched 1 2-3 innings of shutout relief to earn his seventh victory of the season Wednesday night when the Reds ended a seven-game losing streak with a 7-4 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers. The victory enabled the Reds to gain ground on all four teams currently ahead of them, including the first-place St. Louis Cardinals who were leading 6-0 behind Bob Gibson when their game with the San Francisco Giants was rained out after four complete innings.

The Chicago Cubs scored an 8-4 triumph and then lost to the Philadelphia Phillies 8-0, the Houston Astros defeated the Atlanta Braves 5-2 and the New York Mets beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 after losing 8-2 in other National League games.

Pinch-hitter Mack Jones snapped a 4-4 tie with a two-run double in the eighth inning and scored the third run of the game on Vada Pinson's sacrifice fly to give Abernathy and the Reds the win. The winning rally came against Jim Grant, whose record was squared at 4-4.

Ernie Banks drove in six runs with two homers and a single, and Bill Hands went 7-2 in innings for his ninth victory for the Cubs in their opener. The Phillies gained a split in the doubleheader when Jeff James pitched his first shutout and drove in a run with his first major league hit in the nightcap. James was backed by homers by Don Lock, Johnny Callison and Cookie Rojas.

Doug Grader and pitcher Danny Coombs drove in two runs each as the Astros rallied for four runs in the sixth inning. Jim Britton had a one-hitter with two out in the sixth when the Astros filled the bases on Norm Miller's single and two Norm Rader's single kayped Britton and Coombs later completed the rally with a two-run single off Ken Johnson.

Paulak Rolls 556

Volvos last an average of 11 years in Sweden. They average about a day and a half in our showroom.

Exactly how long a Volvo will last in America, we don't guarantee. But we do know that over 95% of all the Volvos registered here in the last 11 years are still on the road. We also know that whenever we get Volvos in stock, they don't stay there very long. Which brings up an interesting paradox about Volvos. Our customers like to buy them because they last. We like to sell them because they don't.

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — The U.S. Davis Cup doubles team of Bob Lutz and Stan Smith and the nation's top junior girl player, Kristy Pigeon, are among the latest entrants in the 88th U.S. National Tennis Championships Aug. 16-25 at Longwood.

Goldsmith Maid Trot to Brocade

MONTICELLO — Rill (Bones) Vaughan, a strapping 6-foot-3, 204-pounder, and first trainer to famous driver Bill Houghton, last night at Monticello Raceway reined Brocade all the way on top, scoring a gate-to-wire victory from the rail in the $16,649.20 Goldsmith Maid Trot for two-year-old fillies.

Brocade went the mile in 2:11 flat, copping the Mighty M's second excelsior Stakes of 1963, this one number eight, by two lengths over Clarissa Hanover (3).

A brown filly by Hickory Pride out of Harlan Yda by Harlan and owned by the Harwood Stable of Freeport, Brocade led right from the start, winning easily over 10 previous third race with others. It was her third win in Mizelle's Mickey, another two earnings to $18,536, which also perfectly, proving the crowd's includes a pair of seconds and judgment correct as the patrons made Brocade and her two show finishes.

Vaughan, who won the other stablemates, Fran Arden and Manero's Pride, the 6-5 was nowhere near catching Brocade.

As the starting gate pulled away from the field of 11, Vaughan pushed Brocade right to the top and opened a length and a half lead over Jounce (5). Clint Hodgins in the seat.

They went to the quarter in :32.1, and as they rounded the paddock turn the first time around, had more than three lengths over thirdplace Clarissa Hanover and Tarport Farr (8), fourth.

At the half, the field tightened up, but Brocade was on top in 1:05.4. The same for the T-fourths, Brocade hitting the pole in 1:39.4 and coming home, Jim Arthur, driver of Clarissa, got her up for second, a length ahead of the fading Jounce, but was nowhere near catching Brocade.

It's Pitcher-Batter World But Fielders Have LL Day

Much emphasis — some say too much — is always placed on the batting and strikeout kings in Little League baseball. So it is refreshing to report about some fielders for a change. Specifically, Pat (Pee Wee) Howard, a 3-foot 10-inch giant of the American Little League. And other lads like Guy Miller, Martin Schiede, and 9-year-old Rich Naccarato and Shawn Schick, who turned in spectacular fielding plays to preserve Montgomery Ward's 8-6 win over Moose Lodge in the American League first round championship clincher.

A crowd of 115 (mighty big these days!) watched Paul Strubel hit the first home run of the AL season in Ward's 6-5 victory over Fraser-Meyer Maytag in the first round championship game.

First Half Finals

Montgomery Ward	7	1
Rondout National Bank	4	4
Fraser-Meyer Maytag	4	4
Moose Club	3	5
Lions Club	2	6

IN ADDITION to his fielding gems, Pat Howard came to the plate with the bases loaded. He had been struck out twice previously, but this time he cleared the bases with a slam to right center to trigger a 13-run inning and eventual 18-10 victory over Fraser-Meyer Maytag.

The American League was not without its other heroes. Ernie McGowan of Fraser-Meyer lashed a triple, double and two singles in a 13-4 win over Lions. Bill Francis slugged three singles and four RBIs for Lions Club.

John Thomas had a three-single game for Moose and Louis Eccleston was "4 for 4," 2 doubles, 2 singles.

DOUG BELL of the Esopus Dodgers pitched 1-hitter, hit 2 doubles in 24-1 win over Braves.

Dodgers scored 10 runs in 6th, knocked in three runs with three hits.

Cliff Lyons, Fire Department, fanned 10 Dodgers. Collected two singles. Charles Barton, 1-hitter, whiffed 16 in 5-1 win over Cubs. Quincy Bowen lost 3-hitter.

Joe Primo, Giants, fanned 15, hit single-double in 12-3 romp over Cubs. Joe Pugliese hit a Giant homer. Later Primo

AT RONDOUT VALLEY, Corey Schoonmaker of the Tigers had a pair of 3-hit games. Each time he slashed a double and two singles. Bob Kleeck homered for the Indians and Sean Cafferty had 4 hit, 3.0 shutout over Cubs, and 3-hit, 5-2 win over Dodgers. Fred Bell of the Braves slammed double, 2 singles.

Cubs, behind Vin Yonta, topped Giants, 9-2. Cubs got only two hits off Bill Dart and Tim Johnson's double, 2 singles, led Pirates to 17-4 victory.

Ed Duffy stroked 3 singles over Braves. Rick Polacco and as Pirates edged Braves, 13-12. Lou DeCicco combined on 2-Frank McCloskey (P) home run, 1-hitter.

STRIKEOUTS GALORE in the National League. Billy Costello of the Dodgers fired 1-hitter, whiffed 16 in 5-1 win over Cubs. Quincy Bowen lost 3-hitter.

200 City Children To Paint In Friday

More than 200 city children are expected to participate in Paint In Friday at the Kingston Plaza.

The first annual event is being sponsored by the Kingston City Parks and Recreation Department. It is part of the overall recreation program stressing the needs of the non-athletic child as well as the sports-minded. All city children may take part whether or not they are affiliated with a park program.

Arrangements are under the direction of Andrew J. Murphy, Parks and Recreation superintendent and Ron Gabriele, director of activities.

A large area of the parking lot at the Plaza will be roped off for the children of the various playgrounds. Each child will be provided with various colors of water-based Tempera paint. They will then design pictures of their own choosing on the pavement. Awards will be presented on the basis of: most original drawing, prettiest drawing, funniest drawing and most unusual drawing.

The program starts at 11 a.m. and will conclude shortly after 2 p.m. After the judges have made their decisions, the paintings will be washed away by city fire trucks.

This is the first time that an endeavor of this nature has been tried in Kingston and in the interest of making the Paint-In successful, all youngsters in the City of Kingston may come to the Plaza on Friday and display their artistic skill.

Caroline Travels

NIMES, France (UPI)—Caroline Kennedy, toured a cattle-raising area of southwestern France Wednesday and was expected to visit the town of Pont-St-Esprit, the ancestral home of the Bouvier family where many of her mother's cousins still live.

Emotional Plea

LONDON (UPI)—President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia broke down and wept in the House of Commons Wednesday while telling parliament that if it got to the point that Britain demanded an all-white population, there would be repercussions in Africa.

Some Quotes From Television Scene

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Quotable quotes from the television scene: —From the current issue of TV Guide Magazine, in an editorial about video violence:

"The television industry's initial response to public outcry against violence in America was to be expected. In effect it was: 'It isn't our fault. We didn't do it, and furthermore we won't do it again.'"

"Network officials, who usually are busy describing the tremendous impact of television upon the nation, quickly pointed out that there is no conclusive evidence that television violence has any impact upon the nation. Still, just in case, they rushed emissaries to Hollywood to urge writers and producers to reduce violence in future programs."

—From critic-commentator Marya Mannes, discussing ABC-TV evening news: "It is the new illiteracy, and the young love it. They love it because they would rather feel now it's worldwide. In the last ten years, I made two rock-albums for those who cater and roll albums. I was a blues singer. For, to blast the singer, and there is a similarity between the mind—you don't need training. You don't need knowledge. You don't even need talent. All you need is a boundless ego, a manic temper, hung over in a ship cabin one night, and the loudest amplifier-drinking the night before, and a friend enters."

—From Mae West, who has a planned television special in the works for Robert Wise Productions, in an interview with Dave Kaufman of the Hollywood trade paper "Variety": "College kids see my pictures on TV, and I'm getting lots of fan mail because of it. They have formed a fan club, and because they would rather feel now it's worldwide. In the last ten years, I made two rock-albums for those who cater and roll albums. I was a blues singer. For, to blast the singer, and there is a similarity between the mind—you don't need training. You don't need knowledge. You don't even need talent. All you need is a boundless ego, a manic temper, hung over in a ship cabin one night, and the loudest amplifier-drinking the night before, and a friend enters."

Fields: "How do you feel?" Fields: "Like a June bride." Fields: "How does a June bride feel?" Fields: "I wonder...I won't in the contemporary arts. But der..."

The three victims, trapped when their car was crushed by a dump truck (background), died screaming as an explosion and fire drove back would-be rescuers. ## B52s Hit Hard At North Viet

By JACK WALSH
SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. B52 Stratofortresses flew their fourth successive day of raids into North Vietnam today and bombed surface-to-air missile sites for the first time in the war, U.S. headquarters said.

Because they are highly vulnerable to the surface-to-air missiles (SAMs), the B52s until recently have ventured into North Vietnam only occasionally. Today they went after the weapons that threaten them the most there—the SAMs.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said 157 government soldiers were killed and 600 wounded in that seven-day span, the lowest toll of the year.

They hit SAM firing positions four and 11 miles above the Demilitarized Zone separating the two Vietnams, spokesmen said. No SAMs were reported fired. The United States has never lost a B52 in combat.

Communist deaths for the same week were set at 874, perhaps the lowest in 18 months, and brought guerrilla losses since Jan. 1, 1961, to 371,003, U.S. spokesmen said.

Stratofortresses also lashed deeper into North Vietnam, 12 and 15 miles above the DMZ, for strikes against truck unloading points, construction equipment and troop concentrations.

The strikes today centered where U.S. Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford said the Communists were regrouping and refitting for an offensive in South Vietnam's northern quarter.

To the south Viet Cong raiders abducted 20 Vietnamese teenagers from a coastal hamlet Wednesday, killed two civilians on Saigon's doorstep and derailed a train carrying vegetables to Central Highland markets, military spokesmen said today.

The kidnapping of 20 youngsters from Lai Chanh hamlet on the central coast Wednesday night provided further evidence that Communists were building up their supply of forced labor to carry supplies during the impending offensive, spokesmen said.

LBJ's Hawaiian Summit

No New Developments Are Expected

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Despite persistent rumors that news of extraordinary importance on the Vietnam War might come from President Johnson's Hawaiian summit this weekend, U.S. officials today expected less than dramatic developments.

Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk were to fly nonstop to Honolulu today shortly before noon CDT for talks Friday and Saturday with South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu and his advisers. U.S. officials expected the Johnson-Thieu private talks to consist primarily of a review of the military and political situation in Vietnam, an appraisal of future moves by North Vietnam and the Viet Cong, and possible countermeasures by the United States, its allies and South Vietnam. U.S. officials believed the staffs of the two presidents would confer while Johnson and Thieu met privately. This did not smack of high-powered plenary sessions usually associated with major international decisions. Thieu "urgently" requested the meeting with Johnson.

Clifford, Wheeler Attend
The President and Rusk arrive after an eight-hour flight to join Defense Secretary Clark Clifford, Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, and Ellsworth D. Bunker, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, who were in Vietnam earlier this week.

In any case, Clifford, Wheeler and Assistant Secretary of State William P. Bundy will report to Johnson at some length tonight on their recent appraisal mission to Vietnam.

This dinner-table discussion was expected to have an important influence on how Johnson approaches his direct talks with Thieu.

Both presidents undoubtedly want to discuss the current Paris negotiations at some length. The President, before leaving Washington, received a detailed report on Paris from Cyrus Vance, one of the two chief U.S. negotiators in talks with North Vietnam representatives.

Seek New Promises
American sources more or less expected Thieu to seek some form of renewed assurances from Johnson of continued U.S. support for the Saigon regime.

With his own party under mounting political pressure for more substantive signs of progress in the painful conflict, Johnson also might feel the time has come to seek some assurances from Thieu—assurances the South Vietnamese will continue to improve and expand their own participation in the war effort.

Despite the potential for major issues between the two presidents, U.S. officials said there were no particularly urgent political or military questions requiring a summit at this time; that the meeting was essentially an interim replacement for a state visit to Washington Thieu had hoped to make earlier this summer.

Release of U.S. Fliers May Start Another Dispute

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The arrival in Vientiane Friday night, or possibly a week later, of three more American fliers freed by the North Vietnamese may touch off a new dispute over the insistence of the U.S. government that released prisoners be interrogated before they leave Southeast Asia.

North Vietnamese delegate Xuan Thuy announced at the Paris peace talks on July 3 that the three American airmen would be released for "humanitarian reasons." At the Paris meeting Wednesday, their names were announced. They are: Maj. James Frederick Lo, 43, of Sansalito, Calif., a Korean war ace captured Dec. 16, 1967. His wife lives in Newton, N.C. Maj. Fred Neale Thompson, 32, captured last March 20. His family lives at Taylors, N.C. Capt. Joe Victor Carpenter, 37, captured last Feb. 15, from Victorville, Calif.

Second Group
They are the second group of Americans to be released by Hanoi, which freed three other airmen on April 16.

North Vietnam has openly sought to exploit the propaganda value of the releases, particularly by involving members of American antiwar movements.

"We want the Americans to know that we have no quarrel with the peace-loving American people, but only with aggressive military and government circles," a North Vietnamese Embassy official commented.

Last February, Dave Dellinger, "national mobilization coordinator" of the peace movement, was asked by telegram to send a group of peace campaigners to Hanoi to escort the first freed prisoners back to Vientiane.

On this occasion he has sent Stewart Meacham of Philadelphia, peace secretary of the American Friends Service Committee; Anne Scheer of Berkeley, Calif., wife of Ramparts magazine editor Robert Scheer, and Vernon Grizzard of Cambridge, Mass., an antidraft organizer.

Hanoi on Friday
They reached Hanoi last Friday on the weekly flight of the plane belonging to the three-nation International Control Commission. The French-piloted plane does the run to Hanoi every Friday afternoon and returns to Vientiane the same evening. It is Hanoi's only air link with the outside world that does not pass through Red China.
